Nazi Editor Fails, Say Many; Dr. Apthdecker Due May 19th

CHARLES M. McCARTHY
Freeman Staff Writer

The president of the Social Science Club at State University College in New Paltz, announced that the six-part lecture series sponsored by the club in an effort to explore "Modern Political Ideologies," will continue.

This was in spite of the opening lecture by an official of the American Nazi Party, in the campus main auditorium, which apparently failed to convince some 1,200 persons who jammed the auditorium of the tenets behind his ideology.

In fact, college officials confirmed to The Freeman today that Dr. Herbert Apthdecker was scheduled for the second lecture May 19 at the college.

Suggested by Rockwell

"Capt." John Patler, aide to "Commander" George Rockwell, head of the American Nazi Party with headquarters in Arlington, Va., and editor of the ANP magazine, "Storm Trooper," was the substitute speaker for Rockwell when the Nazi chief told college officials he would be unable to appear because of another commitment. He had previously agreed to appear. The Social Science Club accepted Patler as substitute speaker, at Rockwell's suggestion.

If nothing else, the lecture precipitated a number of developments that stirred considerable interest throughout both Ulster and Dutchess counties with reactions both inside and off-campus up to, during and after the lecture.

Included in these were:

Announcement prior to the lecture by Dr. John Von Der Heide of the SUC faculty, that he was resigning his post as club advisor in protest to the campus appearance "of any Nazi."

Spirited Protest

A peaceful but spirited protest march by more than 100 sign-carrying pickets and sympathizers from both the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People" and CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) from Ulster and Dutchess County.

Condemnation of the college appearance of the ANP speaker by American Legion posts and at least one official of the Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A.

Jews and Negroes were but two of a number of targets singled out by Patler, a 27-year-old man who said he was educated in public schools in Harlem and served in the U.S. Marine Corps. He predicted a "world-wide race war in five or six years" in which the only uniforms will be the "color of the skin;" called communism "human suicide," and said that the Conservative Party failed while "Goldfink—an obvious reference to former Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican standard-bearer swamped in the November election by President Johnson "has led the Republicans down the drain."

Patler—who insisted before the packed audience that "You are being denied the truth; you are being denied facts and information"—was met consistently by laughter at several intervals of his talk. The lecture also provoked applause from the audience when the speaker named persons, political parties, races or organizations he attacked.

Report on Reactions

Reactions varied little from both the student body and faculty or administrative staff.

A check of the latter this morning could be summed up in the words of an unidentified professor who said, "It (Patler's lecture) renewed my faith in the student body."

A young college student remarked immediately after the lecture, "If he had something to say, he didn't say it very well; if he believes in what he says, he didn't seem to convince anyone, and if he was looking for converts, he apparently stood alone." Others termed the speech "Insulting," "childish" and stupid.

Dozens of students left their seats during the hour-long lecture, but their seats were quickly claimed by others who were standing in the rear aisles and lobby.

In one instance during a question-and-answer session following the lecture, Patler said he couldn't hear a question because "There's too much noise outside." He was referring to loud chants by the pickets outside the building who could be heard inside all during the lecture.

In the aforementioned developments, Dr. Von Der Heide told The Freeman that as adviser to the Social Science Club, he was against the appearance of Rockwell or "any other Nazi" from

Group Has Plan for Election

Withall, Johnson Choice for Schools

The Committee for the Election of Withall and Johnson to the Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) Board of Education met last evening to initiate an election information program for the forthcoming school board election May 4.

According to committee spokesmen, the committee has been established in the belief that the Non-partisan Nominating Committee no longer represents a cross-section of the people in the Kingston Consolidated School District. Spokesmen stated that increasing sentiment and support has led to the organization of this new Committee in an attempt to regain the balance of representation necessary to find the best qualified candidates for the positions on the Board of Education.

High Quality Is Aim

The committee is not espousing any policy itself. Its only interest is insuring that the high quality of education given to the children of the Kingston City Schools (Consolidated) is maintained.

The candidates, Arthur Withall of Rifton and Ellsworth Johnson of Kingston, were selected by the new Committee as best qualified and most representative of the citizens of the district from a wide number of persons interviewed.

All areas of the school district are represented on the new committee, according to Committee spokesmen, and a public information program is being initiated to promote greater interest in the forthcoming school board election May 4. One of the major facets of this program will be to gain greater voter registration.

To Meet Voters

It is hoped, committee spokesmen stated, that the committee will also be able to re-establish a truly representative selection of candidates as once contemplated by the American Association of University Women Study Group.

All candidates, including Withall and Johnson, are scheduled to have their first public appearance as candidates at the forthcoming "Meet the Candidates" nights sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association Council of the Kingston City Schools (Consolidated).

To Answer Questions

These meetings are given so that all citizens may have an opportunity to learn of the candidates and their opinions and qualifications. Question and answer periods follow.

Meetings are to be held April 26 at the Tillson School, April 27 at Brigham School, April 29 at the Hurley School, and May 3 at the Port Ewen School. All programs are scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

Persons interested in working with the Committee for Withall and Johnson may contact Reupen Gullian.

DOWNS STREET FIRE CHECKED—A double family house at 106-108 Downs Street, owned by Eugene Freer and occupied by him on the one side and by William Roosa on the other was damaged by fire Wednesday. It started in the first-floor living room of the Roosa apartment, damaged first-floor areas and contents, timbers and flooring of a second-floor bedroom. Firemen said a telephone call at 6:02 p. m. came from a woman, who reported smoke coming from the house. It was followed by an alarm from Box 5211, Smith Avenue and O'Neil Street. No one was at home at the time. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltywyck volunteers responded with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Julius E. Move In By Copter For Action

Planes Slam Reds In Nine Sorties

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines skirmished with Viet Cong guerrillas today in the Leathernecks' first extended ground action of the war while American and Vietnamese planes ranged over North Viet Nam on at least nine separate raids.

Blast Red Boats

Eighteen Navy jets from the carriers Midway and Hancock capped the day by blasting at six Communist boats in a river estuary just east of Vinh, midway between the border and Hanoi, with cannon fire and rockets.

Pilots said the strike was highly successful.

Planes also strafed and bombed Communist targets in South Viet Nam.

One Yank Wounded

During an eight-hour patrol into a valley, outside the Da Nang Air Base, the Marines tangled twice with the Communist guerrillas. One American was wounded slightly and two others collapsed with heat prostration.

The operation included the first helicopter assault landing of U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam.

Three squadrons of Vietnamese propeller-driven fighter-bombers — the largest Vietnamese air unit flown so far — attacked a base in North Viet Nam and reported they destroyed it.

The target was identified as a base near the My Duc bridge, 30 miles north of the 17th Parallel. The bridge itself had been attacked and destroyed in earlier raids.

One of the Vietnamese planes was downed but was believed lost as the result of bad weather rather than enemy fire, a Vietnamese spokesman said.

U.S. Navy fighter-bombers made five raids during the night on road traffic in North Viet Nam. No planes were lost and groundfire was reported minimal.

Destroy Nine Trucks

Pilots reported destroying nine trucks and damaging eight in strafing attacks on three separate convoys. The attacks centered around Vinh, midway between the border and Hanoi.

Navy fliers said the North Vietnamese turned off their headlights as the planes approached, but that flares were dropped and strafing went ahead.

On the ground, the Marine patrol from Da Nang exchanged machine-gun fire and hurled grenades across a rice field as the Communist guerrillas retreated.

It was the Marines' first extended clash with the enemy since they landed in Viet Nam six weeks ago. Previous contact had been limited to Communist sniping and grenades directed at Marine positions around Da Nang Air Base.

More Ready

A reserve company of Marines was moved in by helicopter. More reinforcements were standing by at Da Nang, ready for airlift if the fighting broadened.

The Marines had the Communist guerrillas in retreat across the flat terrain. Moving fast and aggressively, throwing grenades into potential enemy positions as they advanced, the Marines

Force Aimed at Illinois

Dubuque, La Crosse In for Higher Water

BY THE ASOCIATED PRESS

Rising Missisippi floodwaters carved a half-mile swath in Dubuque, Iowa, stayed at a record crest in La Crosse, Wis., and aimed their force at Illinois today.

La Crosse dug in for two more days of record flooding that prompted Gov. Warren P. Knowles to comment, "That's enough to make you cry."

The 17.7-foot crest was 7.7 feet above flood stage and 2.4 feet higher than the record of 1952.

Dubuque, a city of 57,000 at the Iowa-Illinois-Wisconsin junction, fought to stave of waters that were expected to crest at 26 feet Friday or Saturday.

Covers Busines Area

The water covered a seven- or eight-block area of factories, small businesses and somehomes. It covered parking meters and forced residents to flee their homes by boat.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa said he was asking legal advice on whether police could evict some 1,000 South Davenport residents who refused to leave their homes despite warnings of rising water.

Hughes estimated flood damage at $15 million and said the waters have forced from their homes some 3,000 persons.

At Hudson, Wis., just above the St. Croix River's junction with the Mississippi, ice chunks severely damaged a $600,000 marina. The floes swept 100 docks as far as five miles downstream. Tugboats hauled away docks that jammed against the Interstate 94 bridge. Damage came to $200,000, a spokesman said.

President Johnson declared as disaster areas the tier of Wisconsin counties that took the Mississippi's worst beating. The state's toll comes to two dead, one missing, some 14,000 persons affected and damage totaling $18.7 milion.

3,000 Leave Homes

Civil Defense authorities estimated that some 3,000 Illinois residents had left their homes from the northwest tip to the middle of the state's western border. The great danger area, they said, was just north of the Quad Cities—Rock Island, Moline, East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

No flood deaths have occured in Illinois. Damage estimates would be impossible, Civil Defense authorities said.

A two-mile earthen levee in the Quad-Cities is developing boils — blisters from which floodwaters ooze — at a rapid rate, a Civil Defense spokesman said.

Could Spread 10 Miles

If the dike ruptures, he said, "it could reach as far as the town of Erie (10 miles inland)."

Burglaries Are Under Probe by Police Downtown

Downtown burglaries and the rifling of cars were under police probe today.

Reported entered and ransacked were: Buck's junk yard, East Strand and the warehouse of the West End Brewing Co., (Utica Club) 12 Chambers Street. Nothing was reported missing from either place.

Social Scientist Offers Answer for Family Slayings

NEW YORK (AP) — A prominent social scientist offered a possible explanation today for the outbreak of recent family slayings: Something snaps inside frustrated people in the spring.

"Spring always is a bad time for these things," Dr. Alfred McClung Lee said in an interview.

"All life is reawakening in the spring, the roads are open and these people can't use them," he said. "Life is frustrating. It is a time of inadequacy for them.

"They have to lash out at someone and often they do it against those to whom they are most devoted."

Lee, 58, a professor of sociology and anthropology at Brooklyn College and author of many sociology textbooks, quoted a line from Thoreau on the subject: "Most men lead lives of quiet desperation."

But the sociologist stressed that his theory is only a general one and not meant to provide any answer for the slayings of entire families in recent days.

"Of course, it is difficult to understand the tensions that build up in some people in spring," Lee said. We do know that something snaps inside. It often is resolved by either violence, desertion or divorce."

These slayings without apparent motive have occurred:

— In New London, N.H., John Sargent, 32, a Korean War Marine veteran who now is unemployed, has been charged with first-degree murder for the slaying of his wife, Janet, 30. The couple's four children, ranging in age from 3 to 9, also

GothamFirm To Plan for UR Housing

Planning for housing in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project is due to start soon, Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, reported today.

Approved at a Wednesday night meeting of the agency to prepare plans was the firm of Pomerance & Breines, of 630 Third Avenue, New York, which has done planning for the Kingston Housing Authority.

Planning for housing to be built on a nine-acre tract in the downtown UR area, is due to start, Hemphill said, soon after a contract between the agency and the New York firm is officially executed.

The agency, he said, hopes to have all required details completed so that it may turn over the housing project site to the housing authority next fall. Acquisition of property in the area involved is in progress.

Separate Job

Planning for housing in the Broadway East area will be separate from that done by the local firm of Brinnier & Larios in advancing downtown urban renewal.

Wednesday night's meeting agenda, after four and a half hours, remained unfinished, and a special meeting is to be held Monday.

Involvement with other business, it was noted, did not permit time for recent inquiries made by Alderman John J. Naccarato, (R) Third Ward, chairman of the Common Council's urban renewal committee, but it is expected that the agency will forward a reply after its next meeting.

Naccarato, in a letter to George E. Yerry Jr., acting chairman of the UR Agency, dated April 13, in effect claimed the council committee had not been informed as to detail of a federal report when conditional approval was given the uptown project.

Answers to Be Official

Hemphill said the agency had not been asked for full details of the report and Yerry felt that the lack of action cited by Naccarato was undoubtedly unintentional. Yerry indicated today that the agency is expected to give a full, official reply at the Monday meeting.

Hemphill, in response to the Jury Criticizes LBJ, News Media

Nothing Is Definite About Liuzzo Slaying

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A grand jury which investigated the ambush slaying of a white civil rights worker returned indictments today, but whether any of the charges dealt with the killing was not immediately made known.

The Lowndes County grand jury, composed of 18 white men, also investigated other cases since it convened Monday. Under Alabama law the names of defendants cannot be made public until they are in custody.

The report to Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard did not say whether any of the indictments grew out of the night-rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit. She was a civil rights worker shot to death near Lowndesboro, Ala., March 25.

In its brief report, the grand jury mentioned that it had investigated the Liuzzo slaying—without identifying it by name.

Criticize President

In reference to the civil rights campaign, the jury deplored "the actions and statements of the President and others in high government places in connection with this event."

"We feel," the jury said, "that these actions and statements have been unjust and unfair and have created undue and unusual problems in this matter."

It was President Johnson who announced the arrest of four white men several hours after the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo. He described them as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The jury also criticized the news media and expressed feel-

U.S. Navy Kept Busy in Pacific By Viet, Soviet

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam and expanding Soviet sea power are keeping much of the U.S. Navy on Pacific Ocean Duty.

Today, there are more than 220 combat ships in the Pacific Fleet—three 76,000-ton carriers 3 Polaris submarines, 8 cruisers, about 150 destroyer-type ships and approximately 150 attack-antisubmarine submarines.

The Navy this week added a carrier — at least temporarily — by retaining one scheduled to go to the Atlantic Fleet and sending out another.

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, outlined in a speech Monday some of the Soviet navy's strength without mentioning its Pacific force specifically. He reported the Russians have 19 cruisers and more than 40 submarines, with some of the cruisers armed with missiles.

However, at least two and

Reveal New Intra-GOP Power Struggle In Saugerties; Meeting Set Tonight

The intra-party struggle for control of the Saugerties Republican Party will come out in the open 8 o'clock tonight at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street, at a special meeting "called by a group of town committeemen."

The release from the group announced that the "regular Republican Party Organization of the Town of Saugerties will hold a meeting open to all Republicans.

"The meeting is being called by town committeemen for the purpose of discussing problems, plans and program for the Republican Party of Saugerties."

The statement which did not name the committeemen involved continued:

"Some months ago the 22 committeemen from the Town of Saugerties met in the Town Building in an effort to elect a party chairman for the town. The vote ended in a 11 to 11 tie between Peter Williams and Austin Simmons. As a result the regular Republican Party has been without an official chairman though it is inferred that the supervisor is titular head of the party.

"With an apparent result that little has been done to strengthen the party, several committeemen have been approached to cal lthis meeting open to all Republicans for the expressed purpose of giving direction to the Party. It is especially hoped that all who are members of the recently formed Republican Club will attend to join with the Regular Republican Party Organization in making the Republican Party the leader in the interest of the people in the Town of Saugerties."

In a release from the Town of Saugerties Republican Club, George A. Turner, vice president, said the club "is aware of the existence of a group of dissident Republicans who have been holding private meetings in the former Simmons Dairy Building, Partition Street, Saugerties."

In contrast, Turner said that all of the regular Republican Club meetings have been open to enrolled Republicans, members of the club or otherwise, but that the club membership has never been invited to attend the private meetings on Partition Street.

He said that, "the fizzled attempt to oust Peter Williams as chairman of the Republican Town Committee and replace him with local developer Austin T. Simmons, was a direct result of the meetings held at the for-

Top Klansmen Want FBI To Check More on Reds

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Top Ku Klux Klansmen say they are not surprised by FBI claims the hooded orders have been infiltrated but they say government agents should spend more time seeking Communists.

Calvin Craig, Georgia grand dragon of the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said the case of Garry Thomas Rowe Jr. of Birmingham was nothing new.

'He's one of the men who have been playing a duel role all along,' said Craig, 36, Wednesday night.

"I was talking to Shelton about that over the weekend," he said. "Shelton told me he has known it for several years."

Craig referred to Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of the United Klans of America and, as such, over-all head of several state groups. Shelton could not be reached for comment.

Rowe was reported to be the tipster who provided the FBI with information which resulted in prompt arrests in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo, the Detroit mother of five killed March 25 after the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

Both federal and Alabama authorities have declined comment on the Rowe report.

"Actually," said Craig "we feel that some of the crimes charged to the KKK have been done by FBI informers to create a state of hatred against the organization when true klansmen were not involved."

He suggested the House Un-American Activities Committee investigate what he called the Communistic element involved in the Selma-to-Montgomery march rather than starting a probe of the KKK.

President Johnson declared as disaster areas the tier of Wisconsin counties that took the Mississippi's worst beating. The state's toll comes to two dead, one missing, some 14,000 persons affected and damage totaling $18.7 milion.

3,000 Leave Homes

Civil Defense authorities estimated that some 3,000 Illinois residents had left their homes from the northwest tip to the middle of the state's western border. The great danger area, they said, was just north of the Quad Cities—Rock Island, Moline, East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

No flood deaths have occured in Illinois. Damage estimates would be impossible, Civil Defense authorities said.

A two-mile earthen levee in the Quad-Cities is developing boils — blisters from which floodwaters ooze — at a rapid rate, a Civil Defense spokesman said.

Could Spread 10 Miles

If the dike ruptures, he said, "it could reach as far as the town of Erie (10 miles inland)."

Clouds Darkening On Steel, Talks To Resume Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Governing bodies of the United Steelworkers Union meet today under darkening strike clouds.

The wage policy committee was expected to sanction a May 1 strike against the basic steel industry. A walkout would idle 425,000 workers.

A meeting of the union's executive board was scheduled earlier.

Negotiators for both sides said Wednesday that after weeks of bargaining they have gotten nowhere in attempts to write a new national steel pact. They rejected each other's proposals.

Steelmakers are bracing for a strike. Preliminary shutdown instructions have gone out to mill superintendents.

Negotiators are separated by a 13-cent-an-hour gap. The 11 major producers offered five cents. The union demanded 18 cents.

The hard-and-fast positions have plunged steel labor relations to the lowest point since 1959's 116-day strike. The intervening years were peaceful, if not cordial.

A shutdown of the nation's vital steelmaking facilities could cripple the booming economy — either in fact or psychologically.

In the past, especially in strike years, the union used the wage policy committee's "strike" mandates as weapons in continuing negotiations. For that reason, a "strike" vote doesn't necessarily mean there will be a strike. The union's idea is to show the companies it isn't kidding.

Steelmakers say that all they would get for an 18-cent-an-hour

Burglaries Are Under Probe by Police Downtown

Downtown burglaries and the rifling of cars were under police probe today.

Some $50 was reported taken from a cash register and vending machines at Jessie's Tavern, 61 East Strand. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

Reported entered and ransacked were: Buck's junk yard, East Strand and the warehouse of the West End Brewing Co., (Utica Club) 12 Chambers Street. Nothing was reported missing from either place.

Social Scientist Offers Answer for Family Slayings

NEW YORK (AP) — A prominent social scientist offered a possible explanation today for the outbreak of recent family slayings: Something snaps inside frustrated people in the spring.

"Spring always is a bad time for these things," Dr. Alfred McClung Lee said in an interview.

"All life is reawakening in the spring, the roads are open and these people can't use them," he said. "Life is frustrating. It is a time of inadequacy for them.

"They have to lash out at someone and often they do it against those to whom they are most devoted."

Lee, 58, a professor of sociology and anthropology at Brooklyn College and author of many sociology textbooks, quoted a line from Thoreau on the subject: "Most men lead lives of quiet desperation."

But the sociologist stressed that his theory is only a general one and not meant to provide any answer for the slayings of entire families in recent days.

"Of course, it is difficult to understand the tensions that build up in some people in spring," Lee said. We do know that something snaps inside. It often is resolved by either violence, desertion or divorce."

These slayings without apparent motive have occurred:

— In New London, N.H., John Sargent, 32, a Korean War Marine veteran who now is unemployed, has been charged with first-degree murder for the slaying of his wife, Janet, 30. The couple's four children, ranging in age from 3 to 9, also

GothamFirm To Plan for UR Housing

Planning for housing in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project is due to start soon, Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, reported today.

Approved at a Wednesday night meeting of the agency to prepare plans was the firm of Pomerance & Breines, of 630 Third Avenue, New York, which has done planning for the Kingston Housing Authority.

Planning for housing to be built on a nine-acre tract in the downtown UR area, is due to start, Hemphill said, soon after a contract between the agency and the New York firm is officially executed.

The agency, he said, hopes to have all required details completed so that it may turn over the housing project site to the housing authority next fall. Acquisition of property in the area involved is in progress.

Separate Job

Planning for housing in the Broadway East area will be separate from that done by the local firm of Brinnier & Larios in advancing downtown urban renewal.

Wednesday night's meeting agenda, after four and a half hours, remained unfinished, and a special meeting is to be held Monday.

Involvement with other business, it was noted, did not permit time for recent inquiries made by Alderman John J. Naccarato, (R) Third Ward, chairman of the Common Council's urban renewal committee, but it is expected that the agency will forward a reply after its next meeting.

Naccarato, in a letter to George E. Yerry Jr., acting chairman of the UR Agency, dated April 13, in effect claimed the council committee had not been informed as to detail of a federal report when conditional approval was given the uptown project.

Answers to Be Official

Hemphill said the agency had not been asked for full details of the report and Yerry felt that the lack of action cited by Naccarato was undoubtedly unintentional. Yerry indicated today that the agency is expected to give a full, official reply at the Monday meeting.

Nothing Is Definite About Liuzzo Slaying

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A grand jury which investigated the ambush slaying of a white civil rights worker returned indictments today, but whether any of the charges dealt with the killing was not immediately made known.

The Lowndes County grand jury, composed of 18 white men, also investigated other cases since it convened Monday. Under Alabama law the names of defendants cannot be made public until they are in custody.

The report to Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard did not say whether any of the indictments grew out of the night-rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit. She was a civil rights worker shot to death near Lowndesboro, Ala., March 25.

In its brief report, the grand jury mentioned that it had investigated the Liuzzo slaying—without identifying it by name.

Criticize President

In reference to the civil rights campaign, the jury deplored "the actions and statements of the President and others in high government places in connection with this event."

"We feel," the jury said, "that these actions and statements have been unjust and unfair and have created undue and unusual problems in this matter."

It was President Johnson who announced the arrest of four white men several hours after the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo. He described them as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The jury also criticized the news media and expressed feel-

U.S. Navy Kept Busy in Pacific By Viet, Soviet

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam and expanding Soviet sea power are keeping much of the U.S. Navy on Pacific Ocean Duty.

Today, there are more than 220 combat ships in the Pacific Fleet—three 76,000-ton carriers 3 Polaris submarines, 8 cruisers, about 150 destroyer-type ships and approximately 150 attack-antisubmarine submarines.

The Navy this week added a carrier — at least temporarily — by retaining one scheduled to go to the Atlantic Fleet and sending out another.

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, outlined in a speech Monday some of the Soviet navy's strength without mentioning its Pacific force specifically. He reported the Russians have 19 cruisers and more than 40 submarines, with some of the cruisers armed with missiles.

However, at least two and

Reveal New Intra-GOP Power Struggle In Saugerties; Meeting Set Tonight

The intra-party struggle for control of the Saugerties Republican Party will come out in the open 8 o'clock tonight at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street, at a special meeting "called by a group of town committeemen."

The release from the group announced that the "regular Republican Party Organization of the Town of Saugerties will hold a meeting open to all Republicans.

"The meeting is being called by town committeemen for the purpose of discussing problems, plans and program for the Republican Party of Saugerties."

The statement which did not name the committeemen involved continued:

"Some months ago the 22 committeemen from the Town of Saugerties met in the Town Building in an effort to elect a party chairman for the town. The vote ended in a 11 to 11 tie between Peter Williams and Austin Simmons. As a result the regular Republican Party has been without an official chairman though it is inferred that the supervisor is titular head of the party.

"With an apparent result that little has been done to strengthen the party, several committeemen have been approached to cal lthis meeting open to all Republicans for the expressed purpose of giving direction to the Party. It is especially hoped that all who are members of the recently formed Republican Club will attend to join with the Regular Republican Party Organization in making the Republican Party the leader in the interest of the people in the Town of Saugerties."

In a release from the Town of Saugerties Republican Club, George A. Turner, vice president, said the club "is aware of the existence of a group of dissident Republicans who have been holding private meetings in the former Simmons Dairy Building, Partition Street, Saugerties."

In contrast, Turner said that all of the regular Republican Club meetings have been open to enrolled Republicans, members of the club or otherwise, but that the club membership has never been invited to attend the private meetings on Partition Street.

He said that, "the fizzled attempt to oust Peter Williams as chairman of the Republican Town Committee and replace him with local developer Austin T. Simmons, was a direct result of the meetings held at the for-

Top Klansmen Want FBI To Check More on Reds

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Top Ku Klux Klansmen say they are not surprised by FBI claims the hooded orders have been infiltrated but they say government agents should spend more time seeking Communists.

Calvin Craig, Georgia grand dragon of the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said the case of Garry Thomas Rowe Jr. of Birmingham was nothing new.

'He's one of the men who have been playing a duel role all along,' said Craig, 36, Wednesday night.

"I was talking to Shelton about that over the weekend," he said. "Shelton told me he has known it for several years."

Craig referred to Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of the United Klans of America and, as such, over-all head of several state groups. Shelton could not be reached for comment.

Rowe was reported to be the tipster who provided the FBI with information which resulted in prompt arrests in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo, the Detroit mother of five killed March 25 after the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

Both federal and Alabama authorities have declined comment on the Rowe report.

"Actually," said Craig "we feel that some of the crimes charged to the KKK have been done by FBI informers to create a state of hatred against the organization when true klansmen were not involved."

He suggested the House Un-American Activities Committee investigate what he called the Communistic element involved in the Selma-to-Montgomery march rather than starting a probe of the KKK.

Zimbalist Glad Of His Return To Home Screens

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From private eye to the FBI with only a season between: the story of Efrem Zimbalist Jr.

A season ago, the actor finished a long run as star of "77 Sunset Strip." He deslared himself weary of the television grind and anxious to test his wings in feature films.

Formidable Series

Recently he was announced to head one of next season's formidable entries, "The FBI Story,' for which the government agency promised aid and support. What happened to Zimbalist during the interim?

"I became disillusioned with the rat race that working in features entails," he said sorrowfully. "To get roles in features you have to play the social bit — cozy up to these oldtime producers who think the movie business is just what it used to be.

"Well, if that's what working in pictures entails, I say to hell with it. I would much rather be working in television, where you don't have to put up with that nonsense.

"Sure, you work hard. But that never bothered me, as long as the material was good. I was bugged by the tripe we had to do on '77 Sunset Strip.' But I think it will be different this time."

The reason for his faith is the creator of the series, Quinn Martin, mastermind of such vehicles as "Fugitive" and "12 O'Clock High."

Will Be Sole Lead

Zimbalist was performing in the Electronovision "Harlow" before going to work on the series. His only other feature during the lull between television shows was "The Reward."

Zimbalist will have his work cut out for him in "The FBI Story." He will be the sole lead, although there will be other continuing characters to spell him now and then. The format appears to be the same as the movie "The FBI Story," based on Don Whitehead's best-selling book. Zimbalist will play a role similar to that of James Stewart, a mythical G-man who manages to get assigned to a number of famous cases.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide variety of beef roasts may turn up with bargain prices this weekend at food markets in much of the nation.

And with the end of Lent and the Easter holidays there are more eggs available, which nearly always means lower prices. Egg prices may continue at bargain rates for another weekend or two.

And the end of the meatless meals during Lent has given a pickup to the demand for pork, so wholesale prices already high —were moving a bit higher.

One national supermarket chain has plenty of beef roast bargains for its New York City area outlets this weekend. A variety of boneless roasts is going for 85 cents a pound. Chuck roasts are at 59 and boneless chuck at 69. Sirloin steak is down 10 cents a pound at 89.

Eggs also dropped 2 to 4 cents a dozen, but there were no bargains in pork.

The West Coast was the only area reporting slightly higher wholesale prices for some beef cuts. Fresh pork items showed a downward trend there at the wholesale level.

Strawberries are moving into many sections of the nation this week from Louisiana, Texas and California.

Rhubarb, watermelons and cantaloup melons are also starting to market.

Among the better vegetable buys are cabbage, carrots, corn, onions, peppers and squash.

To Picket Prisons

Token demonstrations by employes of Council 50, Federation of Municipal Employes at 13 state prisons, including two in Ulster County, were scheduled in support of a movement for higher salaries. The council plans a mass demonstration at Sing Sing prison. Plans for the demonstrations were formulated at a meeting of officers held in the Thruway Motel, Albany. The council has asked for a meeting with Governor Rockefeller.

NEW YORK (AP) — For a director of television drama, the serial form, usually referred to as "soap opera," is ideal.

"If you don't get the character right in a one-hour dramatic show, you've blown it forever," explained Tom Donovan. "The big plus in working with actors in a serial is that you get another chance to make things right."

Donovan, a producer-director with a string of more than 250 television and stage credits (which include the "Playhouse 90" shows, an Emmy and a Peabody award) is currently deep in preparations to spin off a twice-weekly evening serial from CBS' daytime "As the World Turns." This 10-year-old series remains the most popular daytime show in TV with an audience larger than those of some night programs.

The new soap opera, called "Our Private World," will debut on CBS May 5, a Wednesday, with a second show the next Friday. Some of the problems involve launching one of the established characters of the old show on a new life. It is being accomplished by having Lisa, played by Eileen Fulton, leave the "As the World Turns" locale, Oakdale, to start a new life with new friends in Chicago.

"All the others will stay in the daytime show," Donovan said, "but there may be cross-overs, with visits back and forth within the plot lines of the two shows."

Obviously, author Irna Phillips who created both serials, will keep a light burning in Oakdale for Lisa, who may be returning after a few months — because CBS does not have "Our Private World" on its fall schedule.

Recommended tonight: "The Defenders," CBS, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — "Turning Point," a drama about a miscarriage of justice, with Alfred Ryder, Nancy Wickwire and Ossie Davis.

38 States Must Approve

Congress Expected to Act Shortly on Filling Gaps

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States often has dragged its feet and, when it did try to catch up, there were protests that this was unwise, untimely, unneeded or unwelcome.

Three examples are now dangling in Congress but seem sure to go through. One is health care for the aged, another is on presidential disability and the third is intended to protect Negroes' voting rights.

Ever since George Washington became the first president in 1789 there has been a big gap in the Constitution on what happens when a president is unable to carry out his duties.

There has been a similar gap on how to fill the vice presidency if the vice president dies or becomes president. Several presidents had been desperately ill and four had been shot before Congress decided to act.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy finally got the action. And Congress shortly is expected to approve a proposed amendment to the Constitution to fill the gaps. But then at least 38 states must also approve.

For more than 20 years repeated attempts have been made in Congress to put through a program of health insurance, at least for older people. Now the House has finally approved and the Senate is expected to follow suit.

All this shows is that it took the United States quite a while to come abreast of the times.

Britain has had national health insurance since 1911 but went in for it on a huge scale in the 1940s. France has such a program. And Bismarck in 1884 set up national insurance against injury in Germany.

The 15th Amendment, ratified 95 years ago, simply said the rights of citizens of the United States "should not be denied by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

But for most of the time since, Southern states, by one device or another, have kept Negroes from voting.

It wasn't until eight years ago that Congress sought to back up what the Constitution guaranteed by passing the Civil Rights Act of 1957. It took more steps to protect Negroes voting rights in the Civil Rights Acts of 1960 and 1964. All were slow and rather feeble.

Then this year the frustrated Negroes, against a background of violence, protested so thoroughly at Selma, Ala., that they made the injustice against them a national issue and forced it into the national consciousness.

President Johnson went to the people, demanding equal voting rights for Negroes, almost a century after the 15th Amendment to the Constitution said they were entitled to those rights as citizens.

Now Congress is expected to pass the strongest voting bill in history.

The examples of American delay, compared with other parts of the Western world, could be multiplied times over.

One example is the income tax. England had a form of income tax as early as 1692 and a more stringent one in 1799. It really began to spread the tax in the early part of this century.

But the American experience in this was almost ludicrous.

Congress passed this country's first income tax in 1862, during the Civil War, complete with a graduated tax and even withholding from the pay of government employes. The Supreme Court ruled it constitutional in 1881.

But by then the tax had ended and another wasn't passed until 1894. This, too, went to the Supreme Court, with a lawyer for millionaires arguing that if it was upheld it would open the door to communism.

The court in 1895 undid the court of 1881 by declaring the tax unconstitutional.

For years the country had to do without the revenue an income tax might have provided until finally in 1913 the 16th Amendment was added to the Constitution, saying an income tax was all right.

It was not the only difficulty this particular court inflicted on the country.

In 1896 it ruled segregation of Negroes was constitutional. During the next 58 years of endless trouble and litigation Negroes fought the 1896 ruling.

And in 1954 the court undid the court of 1896 and said segregation was unconstitutional.

This country was late even with unemployment insurance, not approving that until 1935, although Britain, for one, had it for 24 years.

Trooper Injured

Trooper Francis Petraglia, 22, of Brooklyn, stationed at the Rhinebeck substation, sustained minor injuries at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday, when the troop car he was driving in pursuit of a speeder, hit a guard rail and overturned off Route 9G, Staatsburg. Petraglia, troopers said, pulled out to pass another vehicle and oncoming traffic forced him back in line. The troop car hit a guard rail and overturned. Petraglia sustained a cut of the hand and minor injuries of a knee.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide variety of beef roasts may turn up with bargain prices this weekend at food markets in much of the nation.

And with the end of Lent and the Easter holidays there are more eggs available, which nearly always means lower prices. Egg prices may continue at bargain rates for another weekend or two.

And the end of the meatless meals during Lent has given a pickup to the demand for pork, so wholesale prices already high —were moving a bit higher.

One national supermarket chain has plenty of beef roast bargains for its New York City area outlets this weekend. A variety of boneless roasts is going for 85 cents a pound. Chuck roasts are at 59 and boneless chuck at 69. Sirloin steak is down 10 cents a pound at 89.

Eggs also dropped 2 to 4 cents a dozen, but there were no bargains in pork.

The West Coast was the only area reporting slightly higher wholesale prices for some beef cuts. Fresh pork items showed a downward trend there at the wholesale level.

Strawberries are moving into many sections of the nation this week from Louisiana, Texas and California.

Rhubarb, watermelons and cantaloup melons are also starting to market.

Among the better vegetable buys are cabbage, carrots, corn, onions, peppers and squash.

To Picket Prisons

Token demonstrations by employes of Council 50, Federation of Municipal Employes at 13 state prisons, including two in Ulster County, were scheduled in support of a movement for higher salaries. The council plans a mass demonstration at Sing Sing prison. Plans for the demonstrations were formulated at a meeting of officers held in the Thruway Motel, Albany. The council has asked for a meeting with Governor Rockefeller.

TV Reviews and Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For a director of television drama, the serial form, usually referred to as "soap opera," is ideal.

"If you don't get the character right in a one-hour dramatic show, you've blown it forever," explained Tom Donovan. "The big plus in working with actors in a serial is that you get another chance to make things right."

Donovan, a producer-director with a string of more than 250 television and stage credits (which include the "Playhouse 90" shows, an Emmy and a Peabody award) is currently deep in preparations to spin off a twice-weekly evening serial from CBS' daytime "As the World Turns." This 10-year-old series remains the most popular daytime show in TV with an audience larger than those of some night programs.

The new soap opera, called "Our Private World," will debut on CBS May 5, a Wednesday, with a second show the next Friday. Some of the problems involve launching one of the established characters of the old show on a new life. It is being accomplished by having Lisa, played by Eileen Fulton, leave the "As the World Turns" locale, Oakdale, to start a new life with new friends in Chicago.

"All the others will stay in the daytime show," Donovan said, "but there may be cross-overs, with visits back and forth within the plot lines of the two shows."

Obviously, author Irna Phillips who created both serials, will keep a light burning in Oakdale for Lisa, who may be returning after a few months — because CBS does not have "Our Private World" on its fall schedule.

Recommended tonight: "The Defenders," CBS, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — "Turning Point," a drama about a miscarriage of justice, with Alfred Ryder, Nancy Wickwire and Ossie Davis.

38 States Must Approve

Congress Expected to Act Shortly on Filling Gaps

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States often has dragged its feet and, when it did try to catch up, there were protests that this was unwise, untimely, unneeded or unwelcome.

Three examples are now dangling in Congress but seem sure to go through. One is health care for the aged, another is on presidential disability and the third is intended to protect Negroes' voting rights.

Ever since George Washington became the first president in 1789 there has been a big gap in the Constitution on what happens when a president is unable to carry out his duties.

There has been a similar gap on how to fill the vice presidency if the vice president dies or becomes president. Several presidents had been desperately ill and four had been shot before Congress decided to act.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy finally got the action. And Congress shortly is expected to approve a proposed amendment to the Constitution to fill the gaps. But then at least 38 states must also approve.

For more than 20 years repeated attempts have been made in Congress to put through a program of health insurance, at least for older people. Now the House has finally approved and the Senate is expected to follow suit.

All this shows is that it took the United States quite a while to come abreast of the times.

Britain has had national health insurance since 1911 but went in for it on a huge scale in the 1940s. France has such a program. And Bismarck in 1884 set up national insurance against injury in Germany.

The 15th Amendment, ratified 95 years ago, simply said the rights of citizens of the United States "should not be denied by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude."

But for most of the time since, Southern states, by one device or another, have kept Negroes from voting.

It wasn't until eight years ago that Congress sought to back up what the Constitution guaranteed by passing the Civil Rights Act of 1957. It took more steps to protect Negroes voting rights in the Civil Rights Acts of 1960 and 1964. All were slow and rather feeble.

Then this year the frustrated Negroes, against a background of violence, protested so thoroughly at Selma, Ala., that they made the injustice against them a national issue and forced it into the national consciousness.

President Johnson went to the people, demanding equal voting rights for Negroes, almost a century after the 15th Amendment to the Constitution said they were entitled to those rights as citizens.

Now Congress is expected to pass the strongest voting bill in history.

The examples of American delay, compared with other parts of the Western world, could be multiplied times over.

One example is the income tax. England had a form of income tax as early as 1692 and a more stringent one in 1799. It really began to spread the tax in the early part of this century.

But the American experience in this was almost ludicrous.

Congress passed this country's first income tax in 1862, during the Civil War, complete with a graduated tax and even withholding from the pay of government employes. The Supreme Court ruled it constitutional in 1881.

But by then the tax had ended and another wasn't passed until 1894. This, too, went to the Supreme Court, with a lawyer for millionaires arguing that if it was upheld it would open the door to communism.

The court in 1895 undid the court of 1881 by declaring the tax unconstitutional.

For years the country had to do without the revenue an income tax might have provided until finally in 1913 the 16th Amendment was added to the Constitution, saying an income tax was all right.

It was not the only difficulty this particular court inflicted on the country.

In 1896 it ruled segregation of Negroes was constitutional. During the next 58 years of endless trouble and litigation Negroes fought the 1896 ruling.

And in 1954 the court undid the court of 1896 and said segregation was unconstitutional.

This country was late even with unemployment insurance, not approving that until 1935, although Britain, for one, had it for 24 years.

KINGSTON NEW YORK, APRIL 22, 1965

AIR ACADEMY ATHLETES

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of New York has properly questioned the activities of the Falcon Foundation in a letter to Secretary of Defense McNamara. The points he raises warrant an investigation by the Department of Defense.

Stratton asserts that the Falcon Foundation, described as apparently being made up of alumni and friends of the Air Academy, sends high school athletes to "cram schools" which make it possible for them to pass Academy entrance examinations they might otherwise flunk. He alleges that in at least one instance a senior officer used his influence to solicit funds among service personnel of lower grades.

The officer in question, a major general, reportedly wrote to an officer of lesser rank asking him to give his support to base fund drives for the Foundation. In the letter he said that the group "provides preparatory scholarships to young men who exhibit outstanding leadership qualities, but who need further academic preparation to meet the Air Academy's high entrance standards." This seemingly worthy enterprise takes on a different coloration in the light of Stratton's disclosures.

Is "outstanding leadership qualities" a euphemism for "athletic ability?" There appear to be sound reasons for thinking so. And this in turn raises the question whether the public interest is served by trying to squeeze men through the entrance barrier for the sake of what they might contribute to the Academy's athletic glory.

Congressman Stratton has asked whether a senior officer's solicitation of funds among those of lower rank violates Defense Department regulations. Whether or not it does, the practice is deplorable and should be stopped. So should interference with the selection system to give athletic prowess undue emphasis. Cadets should be chosen solely on the basis of their potential as Air Force officers.

African students complain that a Soviet university they were attending was "more of an indoctrination camp." They learned an easy leasson the hard way.

The Houston Astrodome is the first enclosed baseball park—and also the first one where games may have to be called on account of sunshine.

GAS-POWERED BOOM

A new economic and industrial boom may be in the offing for Europe, fueled—literally and figuratively—by natural gas.

In 1959, one of the world's largest gas fields was discovered off the coast of Holland. With good reason to hope that this is only a part of the riches that may lie beneath the North Sea, some 50 companies under license from six nations bordering the sea, are searching for oil, as well as more gas.

Their efforts have now been given a new impetus under international law. A "Convention on the Continental Shelf," drawn up in 1958, has gone into effect with the ratification of the required number of signatory countries.

It gives to each coastal state exclusive rights to the seabed off its shore out to a depth of 200 meters (about 573 feet). No other nation can prospect within that limit. Beyond, the sea floor is open to anyone with ability to stake a claim and exploit it.

The convention applies only to the land under the sea, not to fishing rights within the water, navigation rights on the water or in the air above the water.

The undersea limit is not to be confused with the territorial limit, which is still a subject of confusion and controversy. Some countries claim their jurisdiction extends out to sea four miles, some six, others as far as nine or 12.

The United States observes a three-mile limit which, when it was adopted in 1793, was the range of shore-based cannon.

Gas and oil from the North Sea could have an impact on European politics almost as great as on its economy. A "Big Inch" from the coast of Holland to, say, the boot-top of Italy would cross many boundaries and hasten the political unification of the continent.

There could be other changes. With cheap and abundant gas, sweater-wrapped Britishers could come to know the blessings of American central heating. That in itself would be a revolution.

Americans saved more money than ever in 1964, and also spent more. They also griped more about the high cost of living, a good trick under the circumstances.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

STEALING THE CONSERVATIVES' CLOTHES

A curious thing is happening on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean: two leaders of governments that represent the Left are busy stealing the clothes of the conservative opposition, and are busy making everyone — or almost everyone — like it. This is a switch on what used to happen in the earlier days of the century, when the Tories in England were hard at work swiping planks from Lloyd George's liberal platforms and the Republicans in the United States were enacting the proposals of William Jennings Bryan and the western Populists into national law.

The most obvious case of current theft is that of Harold Wilson, Britain's Labor Party Prime Minister, who has decided to use methods of defending the British pound that would surely have outraged that departed Laborite firebrand, Aneurin Bevan. Swallowing their pride, the members of Mr. Wilson's party have accepted a drastically restrictive budget and have raised the tax rates on the poor as well as on the rich (who are now relatively poor, anyway). And it is not only the pound that Mr. Wilson is defending in a classic way; he has also taken a turn in foreign policy that, however much it insults the pacifist memory of old George Lansbury, must be highly pleasing to the shades of such staunchly conservative Britons as Disraeli, Rudyard Kipling, and Sir Winston Churchill.

All of this has come about in London not because Harold Wilson is a secret Rightist, but because, as Ralph Waldo Emerson once put it, when "things are in the saddle, they ride mankind." If Mr. Wilson had let Indonesia's Sukarno take over the neighboring state of Malaysia, which had been promised protection by Britain, he would have been ridden out of office on a rail. And if he had let the pound collapse, the ensuing devaluation would have blown his party to bits.

"Things," on the U.S. side of the Atlantic Ocean, have also been riding Lyndon Johnson, who has been compelled to take a strong line in South Vietnam. Much as he might like to do it, Johnson can't pull the U.S. out of Southeast Asia. Decampment would let Thailand and Burma go down the drain and put an unbearable strain on India, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Taiwan, and Japan — to say nothing, of course, of the Malaysia that has forced Harold Wilson to steal an act from Winston Churchill.

Lyndon Johnson's show of strength in Asia does not indicate that he is a secret Goldwaterite. It merely indicates that the logic of the conservatives, in this dangerous latter half of the Twentieth Century, cannot be evaded by pragmatic leaders any more than the logic of the liberals could be dodged by practical politicians in the depression-ridden Nineteen Thirties. Johnson and Wilson are both caught up in something that is bigger than ideology, for if they were to follow orthodox Leftist theory they would simply be handing over the entire world outside of Western Europe and North America to Castro-type demagogues who would soon snuff out all vestiges of personal liberty.

Having been pushed into the same corner, Lyndon Johnson and Harold Wilson have naturally turned to each other for both solace and strength. To help protect Malaysia, Mr. Wilson has had to defy the last-ditch Labor Party pacifists and give his word to Johnson that Britain stands by the U.S. policy in South Vietnam. And, out of gratitude for this help, Lyndon Johnson has had to promise Britain that something will be done to give the western world an international monetary system that will not result periodically in debilitating balance of payments crises.

With Britain and the U.S. forced to make common stands, we should be hearing less about this alleged "world opinion" that supposedly frowns on any show of vitality in U.S. foreign policy. For much of what has passed for "world opinion" has been manufactured in and disseminated from London by the ideologues who have presided over the liquidation of the old British Empire. If Wilson and Johnson keep their nerve, new voices will be heard. And the unification of western Christendom may once again become a possible political reality as well as an ecumenical hope.

Follow Several Rules To Avoid Varicose Veins

A 14-year-old girl, who has undoubtedly seen some older friend or relative with varicose veins, writes to ask me if there is anything she can do now to prevent having this affliction. I have always been more interested in prevention than in cure and I am glad that at least some young people are thinking along these constructive lines.

To understand the prevention of any disease we must first understand the cause. To the extent that a tendency to varicosities is partly hereditary there is little to be done because we cannot choose our grandparents. It is true that one of every two women (and one of every four men) will have varicose veins after they reach 40 but the situation is not hopeless.

In the first place the vast majority of these persons will have so mild a form of this disease as to constitute merely a minor nuisance for which the only treatment required will be elastic stockings or some similar support.

If possible you should choose an occupation in which you will not have to stand on your feet for hours on end but, even in such an occupation, you can do much to prevent developing varicose veins by vigorously wiggling your toes every few minutes. It is even advisable, if you must stand a lot, to wear elastic stockings before the valves in your veins break down.

It is also important to avoid wearing tight girdles, circular garters, and elastic waistbands because these interfere with the normal return of the blood in your legs to your heart. When you are on a long trip by bus, train or plane get up and walk in the aisle every half hour or oftener. If a rest is provided use it to elevate your legs. And at a ball game be sure to take advantage of that seventh inning stretch.

Let's hope that in your case this ounce of prevention will eliminate the need for even a half a pound of cure.

Q—I have been taking reserpine for high blood pressure for three years. Will prolonged use of this drug prove harmful? Is there something better I could take?

A—If taken in the prescribed dosage there should be no harmful effects from the prolonged use of this drug. Since high blood pressure is usually a chronic condition, you will probably have to take something for it indefinitely. Many drugs are now used to reduce the blood pressure and most doctors prefer to give a combination of these and to vary the treatment from time to time.

"The Campaign to End Poverty Has Turned Into a Giant Fiesta of Political Patronage!"

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Negro's aspirations for a better, freer life evidently are warmly supported today with a deep spirit of good will by many white Americans whose consciences have been stirred by the dramatic protests of recent years.

At the same time, a good proportion of these people are earnestly troubled at what they believe to be signs of excess in the Negro's vigorous protest movement.

There are the chief conclusions to be drawn from the substantial mail response this reporter received in the wake of recent columns which stressed these points:

1. In the Negro stirrings, as in all major upheavals, there is indeed danger of excess.

2. The devices of protest, highly useful up to a point, are no substitute for the slow, complex, unremitting labors essential to accomplish the vast "make-over" required in society to assure Negroes the better schooling, housing and jobs they need.

TO MANY WHO WROTE IN, though far from all, this kind of comment had a very fair ring. Often it was described as "common sense," "sane," or "down to earth." Typical in this category was this letter from an Alabaman:

"I am trusting that since you aren't a southerner or a segregationist, this article (of yours) will carry weight and help bring some sanity into this very explosive situation."

The blend of warm support for Negro aims and concern over extremes of protest shows in many letters.

Writes a woman from Pensacola, Fla.:

"I have known for many years that the colored people needed a better chance. They needed someone to help them. Their cause had to be PUSHED. Otherwise it would die.

"But—and I said it over and over—if pushed too hard and too fast, look out! You're in for it. And it's happened worse than I anticipated."

Another woman, from Alabama, writes:

"You can do us all a great service by just printing the truth for all of us to live by, not just one class or color. . .

"Thank you for speaking out and listing some problems for both sides to consider to get along in this world."

A doctor in New York City speaks in much the same vein:

"You have served not only the Negro but those who feel, too, that there must be moderation in all progress, if such progress is to prove viable and permanent."

THE THEMES RUNNING THROUGH THESE and other letters, then, are the need for balance, for some sense of order and regard for law even in times of stress and change, for recognition that a nation whose patterns—good and bad—have been decades or longer in the making will not be made over while the echoes of "freedom now" are still reverberating.

Some Negroes who wrote in were understandably impatient of these themes. In their minds, to raise the specter of excess, or to suggest that in important fields society may move like a stubborn glacier rather than a gushing stream, is to define oneself as the enemy.

But the letter writers who bespoke these themes are clearly not the Negroes' enemies. They—and the countless others who most certainly share their views but remain silent—represent a reservoir of great good will that the Negroes need to call upon at every stage of their hard struggle for betterment.

In Answer to Discontent: Cars for Russian People

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lots of items of international news are given prominence because they are dramatic or spectacular. Sometimes however, a significant piece of news bops up in the midst of a ponderous speech by a high official of a foreign government and it is given relatively brief mention, though it may shed a ray of light on the life of a nation.

For buried in a lengthy address by Premier Kosykin of the Soviet Union, for instance, was the announcement that the Russian people generally are going to be allowed now to have automobiles. This move is an effort to ease transportation bottlenecks and give consumers, as well as officials, a chance to get a private car. Many executives, including leading officials in Moscow, have been at a loss as to how to get around in a hurry. Some have been forced to use trucks illegally.

At last, the Kremlin has recognized that the people of the Soviet Union cannot any longer be denied the opportunity to ride in automobiles of their own. The prevailing rule heretofore has been that automobiles belonged to the government and that only the capilalistic countries permit individuals to have private cars, the pressure, however, has become so great that something had to be done to relieve the demand for better transportation.

Soviet Premier, Kosygin, moreover, has finally told the State Planning Commission that the Khrushchev theory requiring everyone to travel by bus is no longer acceptable. Premier Kosygin directed the commission to get busy on a five-year plan which will permit privately owned automobiles. Former Premier Khrushchev was in favor of public transportation and motor pools—a device whereby private cars could occassionally be hired at a low fee. But ownership was supposed to be out of the question for individuals except for a chosen few.

The entire production of automobiles in Russia is now approximately 175,000 cars a year, while American auto production is in excess of 7 million a year. But something is happening inside Russia. The press is calling for more automobiles. The service stations are too few, and keeping a car in good repair has been a constant worry. To prevent demand from rising too rapidly, prices are fixed at high levels. It costs approximately $4,400 in Moscow to buy a five-passenger sedan, and the average wage for a worker is about $110 a month.

It is evident that there is discontent inside Russia about the standard of living. Premier Kosygin also called for better housing, higher wages and more help for the nation's farmers. It is clear that word is leaking through into Russia about the better living conditions on the other side of the Iron Curtain, and especially what a lot of enjoyment for the family comes when an auto ride into the country or to visit friends and relatives is made possible.

The latest announcement of industrial growth shows that Russia isn't making much progress in improving the life of its citizens, though it is significant that the output of TV sets, washing machines and refrigerators is rising.

Despite the talk of a possible war between the East and the West, there is one factor which is working toward a peaceful solution of the world's troubles. It is the demand by oppressed peoples for improvement in living conditions. Autocratic governments cannot stay in power if the discontent grows beyond control. Rulers in the past have realized that only by holding down the protests and complaints about the inconveniences of life can any semblance of order be maintained and revolution avoided.

Oddly enough, the Western countries have not realized that their most powerful weapon today involves communication—to penetrate the countries which have totalitarian governments and to make the people realize how much better their lives would be if they had some of the conveniences and advantages enjoyed by the people in the free countris.

Millions of dollars are spent annually by Western countries to broadcast news of political speeches of highbrow arguments about ideological questions, but the simple facts of life are not hammered home to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. The contrast between the life of the average citizen in Britain or France or West Germany or the United States and the life of the people in the Soviet Union has not been thoroughly publicized to points behind the Iron Curtain.

It has long been contended that complete control of the life of the individual by the Communist system must sooner or later disintegrate because the people will not tolorate privation. While much has been done to provide food for the citizens of the Communist countries and to make available the necessities of life, there is still a craving for conveniences in housing and transportation.

It is this problem which needs greater discussion. In the long run, such a campaign could contribute more to the peace of the world than all the money spent for space research and other "luxuries" of modern times.

An interesting item loaned to me is a paper covered brochure called: "An Old Kinderhook Mansion, by Henry C. Van Schaack, reprinted from the Magazine of American History, Sept. 1878." There is a fine engraving of the Van Schaack House - Kinderhook. The large porch on each floor, with the gingerbread trim, old trees with a seat built around one. In the book I read: "Kinderhook is one of the oldest and most charming villages in the State of New York . . . the village was settled by emigrants from Holland more than 200 years ago. (book printed in 1878). Among the oldest of the first settlers, still represented there by their descendants, are the Van Schaacks . . . many of the old houses have high pointed gable ends and steep roofs, having been most substantially built in the ancient Dutch style, and in some instances with well - burnt brick brought from Holland. Chronological evidence of their erection has been perpetuated in some cases by large iron figures placed in their gables."

These old Holland Dutch structures in Kinderhook, are further described: "The timbers put into these old buildings are in great number and immense in size. Strange as it may appear, it is not incredible as well a well - authenticated fact, that at an early period of the Dutch occupancy, heavy timber was brought over from Holland for the erection of church edifices on the well-wooded banks of the Hudson." The old Van Schaack mansion was the residence of Col. Cornelius Van Schaack Sr., father of Henry, David, Cornelius Jr., and Peter, and father-in-law of Judge Peter Silvester. The other daughters were related to the Wynkoops and the Van Alens.

This famous Van Schaack Mansion was referred to by John Jay in a letter written by him to his friend, Peter Van Schaack, in 1778, as "the hospitable house on the hill." Kinderhook being in the direct line of land travel from New York City to Albany, many other celebrities, were entertained here, like the Van Rensselaers, Livingstons, Ganseyoort and Schuylers. During its occupancy by Judge Silvester, Aaron Burr, in the height of his fame, was also one of its visitors. After the duel with Hamilton, Burr in passing through Kinderhook stopped at the village hotel; and he would send word for Judge Silvester's son, Francis, who had studied law with him, to meet him at the public house.

Henry C. Van Schaack in 1878 also writes about another structure on the land built by David Schaack, one of the four sons in 1774, for his own use. It was substantially built of brick, with a strong stone foundation, two stories high, with broad halls running through the center, on two floors, with high ceilings, and with great timbers "rendered a great curiosity by their immense size." According to the old Dutch style of buildings, there were broad seats in each window, the depth of which sufficiently indicated the strength of the outer walls. The doors were massive, with immense silver knocker on the front one. The roof was ornamented by ballustrades, built before the Revolution. The walls of the lower hall were originally covered with landscape papering brought from England, representing a hunting scene. The ballustrade was of solid mahogany. The large fireplaces, and quaint Dutch Bible story tiles, some five inch square, some 54 of them decorated the room.

KINGSTON NEW YORK, APRIL 22, 1965

AIR ACADEMY ATHLETES

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of New York has properly questioned the activities of the Falcon Foundation in a letter to Secretary of Defense McNamara. The points he raises warrant an investigation by the Department of Defense.

Stratton asserts that the Falcon Foundation, described as apparently being made up of alumni and friends of the Air Academy, sends high school athletes to "cram schools" which make it possible for them to pass Academy entrance examinations they might otherwise flunk. He alleges that in at least one instance a senior officer used his influence to solicit funds among service personnel of lower grades.

The officer in question, a major general, reportedly wrote to an officer of lesser rank asking him to give his support to base fund drives for the Foundation. In the letter he said that the group "provides preparatory scholarships to young men who exhibit outstanding leadership qualities, but who need further academic preparation to meet the Air Academy's high entrance standards." This seemingly worthy enterprise takes on a different coloration in the light of Stratton's disclosures.

Is "outstanding leadership qualities" a euphemism for "athletic ability?" There appear to be sound reasons for thinking so. And this in turn raises the question whether the public interest is served by trying to squeeze men through the entrance barrier for the sake of what they might contribute to the Academy's athletic glory.

Congressman Stratton has asked whether a senior officer's solicitation of funds among those of lower rank violates Defense Department regulations. Whether or not it does, the practice is deplorable and should be stopped. So should interference with the selection system to give athletic prowess undue emphasis. Cadets should be chosen solely on the basis of their potential as Air Force officers.

GAS-POWERED BOOM

A new economic and industrial boom may be in the offing for Europe, fueled—literally and figuratively—by natural gas.

In 1959, one of the world's largest gas fields was discovered off the coast of Holland. With good reason to hope that this is only a part of the riches that may lie beneath the North Sea, some 50 companies under license from six nations bordering the sea, are searching for oil, as well as more gas.

Their efforts have now been given a new impetus under international law. A "Convention on the Continental Shelf," drawn up in 1958, has gone into effect with the ratification of the required number of signatory countries.

It gives to each coastal state exclusive rights to the seabed off its shore out to a depth of 200 meters (about 573 feet). No other nation can prospect within that limit. Beyond, the sea floor is open to anyone with ability to stake a claim and exploit it.

The convention applies only to the land under the sea, not to fishing rights within the water, navigation rights on the water or in the air above the water.

The undersea limit is not to be confused with the territorial limit, which is still a subject of confusion and controversy. Some countries claim their jurisdiction extends out to sea four miles, some six, others as far as nine or 12.

The United States observes a three-mile limit which, when it was adopted in 1793, was the range of shore-based cannon.

Gas and oil from the North Sea could have an impact on European politics almost as great as on its economy. A "Big Inch" from the coast of Holland to, say, the boot-top of Italy would cross many boundaries and hasten the political unification of the continent.

There could be other changes. With cheap and abundant gas, sweater-wrapped Britishers could come to know the blessings of American central heating. That in itself would be a revolution.

Americans saved more money than ever in 1964, and also spent more. They also griped more about the high cost of living, a good trick under the circumstances.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

STEALING THE CONSERVATIVES' CLOTHES

A curious thing is happening on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean: two leaders of governments that represent the Left are busy stealing the clothes of the conservative opposition, and are busy making everyone — or almost everyone — like it. This is a switch on what used to happen in the earlier days of the century, when the Tories in England were hard at work swiping planks from Lloyd George's liberal platforms and the Republicans in the United States were enacting the proposals of William Jennings Bryan and the western Populists into national law.

The most obvious case of current theft is that of Harold Wilson, Britain's Labor Party Prime Minister, who has decided to use methods of defending the British pound that would surely have outraged that departed Laborite firebrand, Aneurin Bevan. Swallowing their pride, the members of Mr. Wilson's party have accepted a drastically restrictive budget and have raised the tax rates on the poor as well as on the rich (who are now relatively poor, anyway). And it is not only the pound that Mr. Wilson is defending in a classic way; he has also taken a turn in foreign policy that, however much it insults the pacifist memory of old George Lansbury, must be highly pleasing to the shades of such staunchly conservative Britons as Disraeli, Rudyard Kipling, and Sir Winston Churchill.

All of this has come about in London not because Harold Wilson is a secret Rightist, but because, as Ralph Waldo Emerson once put it, when "things are in the saddle, they ride mankind." If Mr. Wilson had let Indonesia's Sukarno take over the neighboring state of Malaysia, which had been promised protection by Britain, he would have been ridden out of office on a rail. And if he had let the pound collapse, the ensuing devaluation would have blown his party to bits.

"Things," on the U.S. side of the Atlantic Ocean, have also been riding Lyndon Johnson, who has been compelled to take a strong line in South Vietnam. Much as he might like to do it, Johnson can't pull the U.S. out of Southeast Asia. Decampment would let Thailand and Burma go down the drain and put an unbearable strain on India, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Taiwan, and Japan — to say nothing, of course, of the Malaysia that has forced Harold Wilson to steal an act from Winston Churchill.

Lyndon Johnson's show of strength in Asia does not indicate that he is a secret Goldwaterite. It merely indicates that the logic of the conservatives, in this dangerous latter half of the Twentieth Century, cannot be evaded by pragmatic leaders any more than the logic of the liberals could be dodged by practical politicians in the depression-ridden Nineteen Thirties. Johnson and Wilson are both caught up in something that is bigger than ideology, for if they were to follow orthodox Leftist theory they would simply be handing over the entire world outside of Western Europe and North America to Castro-type demagogues who would soon snuff out all vestiges of personal liberty.

Having been pushed into the same corner, Lyndon Johnson and Harold Wilson have naturally turned to each other for both solace and strength. To help protect Malaysia, Mr. Wilson has had to defy the last-ditch Labor Party pacifists and give his word to Johnson that Britain stands by the U.S. policy in South Vietnam. And, out of gratitude for this help, Lyndon Johnson has had to promise Britain that something will be done to give the western world an international monetary system that will not result periodically in debilitating balance of payments crises.

With Britain and the U.S. forced to make common stands, we should be hearing less about this alleged "world opinion" that supposedly frowns on any show of vitality in U.S. foreign policy. For much of what has passed for "world opinion" has been manufactured in and disseminated from London by the ideologues who have presided over the liquidation of the old British Empire. If Wilson and Johnson keep their nerve, new voices will be heard. And the unification of western Christendom may once again become a possible political reality as well as an ecumenical hope.

Follow Several Rules To Avoid Varicose Veins

A 14-year-old girl, who has undoubtedly seen some older friend or relative with varicose veins, writes to ask me if there is anything she can do now to prevent having this affliction. I have always been more interested in prevention than in cure and I am glad that at least some young people are thinking along these constructive lines.

To understand the prevention of any disease we must first understand the cause. To the extent that a tendency to varicosities is partly hereditary there is little to be done because we cannot choose our grandparents. It is true that one of every two women (and one of every four men) will have varicose veins after they reach 40 but the situation is not hopeless.

In the first place the vast majority of these persons will have so mild a form of this disease as to constitute merely a minor nuisance for which the only treatment required will be elastic stockings or some similar support.

If possible you should choose an occupation in which you will not have to stand on your feet for hours on end but, even in such an occupation, you can do much to prevent developing varicose veins by vigorously wiggling your toes every few minutes. It is even advisable, if you must stand a lot, to wear elastic stockings before the valves in your veins break down.

It is also important to avoid wearing tight girdles, circular garters, and elastic waistbands because these interfere with the normal return of the blood in your legs to your heart. When you are on a long trip by bus, train or plane get up and walk in the aisle every half hour or oftener. If a rest is provided use it to elevate your legs. And at a ball game be sure to take advantage of that seventh inning stretch.

Let's hope that in your case this ounce of prevention will eliminate the need for even a half a pound of cure.

Q—I have been taking reserpine for high blood pressure for three years. Will prolonged use of this drug prove harmful? Is there something better I could take?

A—If taken in the prescribed dosage there should be no harmful effects from the prolonged use of this drug. Since high blood pressure is usually a chronic condition, you will probably have to take something for it indefinitely. Many drugs are now used to reduce the blood pressure and most doctors prefer to give a combination of these and to vary the treatment from time to time.

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Negro's aspirations for a better, freer life evidently are warmly supported today with a deep spirit of good will by many white Americans whose consciences have been stirred by the dramatic protests of recent years.

At the same time, a good proportion of these people are earnestly troubled at what they believe to be signs of excess in the Negro's vigorous protest movement.

There are the chief enclusions to be drawn from the substantial mail response this reporter received in the wake of recent columns which stressed these points:

1. In the Negro stirrings, as in all major upheavals, there is indeed danger of excess.

2. The devices of protest, highly useful up to a point, are no substitute for the slow, complex, unremitting labors essential to accomplish the vast "make-over" required in society to assure Negroes the better schooling, housing and jobs they need.

TO MANY WHO WROTE IN, though far from all, this kind of comment had a very fair ring. Often it was described as "common sense," "sane," or "down to earth." Typical in this category was this letter from an Alabaman:

"I am trusting that since you aren't a southerner or a segregationist, this article (of yours) will carry weight and help bring some sanity into this very explosive situation."

The blend of warm support for Negro aims and concern over extremes of protest shows in many letters.

Writes a woman from Pensacola, Fla.:

"I have known for many years that the colored people needed a better chance. They needed someone to help them. Their cause had to be PUSHED. Otherwise it would die.

"But—and I said it over and over—if pushed too hard and too fast, look out! You're in for it. And it's happened worse than I anticipated."

Another woman, from Alabama, writes:

"You can do us all a great service by just printing the truth for all of us to live by, not just one class or color. . .

"Thank you for speaking out and listing some problems for both sides to consider to get along in this world."

A doctor in New York City speaks in much the same vein:

"You have served not only the Negro but those who feel, too, that there must be moderation in all progress, if such progress is to prove viable and permanent."

THE THEMES RUNNING THROUGH THESE and other letters, then, are the need for balance, for some sense of order and regard for law even in times of stress and change, for recognition that a nation whose patterns—good and bad—have been decades or longer in the making will not be made over while the echoes of "freedom now" are still reverberating.

Some Negroes who wrote in were understandably impatient of these themes. In their minds, to raise the specter of excess, or to suggest that in important fields society may move like a stubborn glacier rather than a gushing stream, is to define oneself as the enemy.

But the letter writers who bespoke these themes are clearly not the Negroes' enemies. They—and the countless others who most certainly share their views but remain silent—represent a reservoir of great good will that the Negroes need to call upon at every stage of their hard struggle for betterment.

In Answer to Discontent: Cars for Russian People

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lots of items of international news are given prominence because they are dramatic or spectacular. Sometimes however, a significant piece of news bops up in the midst of a ponderous speech by a high official of a foreign government and it is given relatively brief mention, though it may shed a ray of light on the life of a nation.

For buried in a lengthy address by Premier Kosykin of the Soviet Union, for instance, was the announcement that the Russian people generally are going to be allowed now to have automobiles. This move is an effort to ease transportation bottlenecks and give consumers, as well as officials, a chance to get a private car. Many executives, including leading officials in Moscow, have been at a loss as to how to get around in a hurry. Some have been forced to use trucks illegally.

At last, the Kremlin has recognized that the people of the Soviet Union cannot any longer be denied the opportunity to ride in automobiles of their own. The prevailing rule heretofore has been that automobiles belonged to the government and that only the capilalistic countries permit individuals to have private cars, the pressure, however, has become so great that something had to be done to relieve the demand for better transportation.

Soviet Premier, Kosygin, moreover, has finally told the State Planning Commission that the Khrushchev theory requiring everyone to travel by bus is no longer acceptable. Premier Kosygin directed the commission to get busy on a five-year plan which will permit privately owned automobiles. Former Premier Khrushchev was in favor of public transportation and motor pools—a device whereby private cars could occassionally be hired at a low fee. But ownership was supposed to be out of the question for individuals except for a chosen few.

The entire production of automobiles in Russia is now approximately 175,000 cars a year, while American auto production is in excess of 7 million a year. But something is happening inside Russia. The press is calling for more automobiles. The service stations are too few, and keeping a car in good repair has been a constant worry. To prevent demand from rising too rapidly, prices are fixed at high levels. It costs approximately $4,400 in Moscow to buy a five-passenger sedan, and the average wage for a worker is about $110 a month.

It is evident that there is discontent inside Russia about the standard of living. Premier Kosygin also called for better housing, higher wages and more help for the nation's farmers. It is clear that word is leaking through into Russia about the better living conditions on the other side of the Iron Curtain, and especially what a lot of enjoyment for the family comes when an auto ride into the country or to visit friends and relatives is made possible.

The latest announcement of industrial growth shows that Russia isn't making much progress in improving the life of its citizens, though it is significant that the output of TV sets, washing machines and refrigerators is rising.

Despite the talk of a possible war between the East and the West, there is one factor which is working toward a peaceful solution of the world's troubles. It is the demand by oppressed peoples for improvement in living conditions. Autocratic governments cannot stay in power if the discontent grows beyond control. Rulers in the past have realized that only by holding down the protests and complaints about the inconveniences of life can any semblance of order be maintained and revolution avoided.

Oddly enough, the Western countries have not realized that their most powerful weapon today involves communication—to penetrate the countries which have totalitarian governments and to make the people realize how much better their lives would be if they had some of the conveniences and advantages enjoyed by the people in the free countris.

Washington, Saigon Pressed Over Forming Command

An AP News Analysis
By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The deepending involvement of the United States in the Vietnamese war is daily bringing Washington and Saigon closer to a decision both have been trying to avoid — whether to create a joint command.

In practical terms such a joint command probably would have little effect on current relations between the allies. Maj. Gen. Tran Van Minh, the Vietnamese armed forces commander, said Wednesday: "Creation of a joint command would not be very surprising. As it is, we are working very closely and in consultation with the Americans."

But creation of a joint command would be a major diplomatic development that could spark powerful international reaction.

So far Americans have served in Viet Nam only as advisers or in supporting roles. They do not command Vietnamese troops at any level. The only commands Americans hold are over other Americans.

A joint command could change this, particularly if composite units went into the field.

Most Vietnamese civilian and military leaders have been found noncommittal on the question of whether American ground forces should be used as combat units in Viet Nam.

"We welcome all support the United States can give us, particularly in improving our mobility and firepower," a ranking official said this week. But he declined to go further when asked about American combat units.

Top Vietnamese officials say privately they think the use of American combat units could pose some major difficulties.

"The Vietnamese people would have to be conditioned to accept such a situation," a ranking Saigon officer said.

"During the Indochina War, French units carried the brunt of the war, and the Vietnamese people considered it a French war, with the Vietnamese on one side and the foreigners on the other. There might be some danger of that kind of thinking again if American units assume too much of a role."

Underlying the diplomatic touchiness is the constant claim by Communist North Viet Nam and its allies that the South Vietnamese government is "the lackey of the imperialist Americans." This charge has proven drawing power in highly nationalistic Viet Nam, and neither Washington nor Saigon wants to lend substance to it.

At the same time, both Vietnamese and American leaders recognize the need for closer coordination as the military establishment grows.

It will take some tricky footwork to balance these needs.

Questioned were Donat Gautheir, 28, and Mario Boucher, 25. They were arraigned in a Plattsburgh court Tuesday on charges of fraud in connection with the passing of $1,000 worth of travellers' checks. Police said the checks were part of the loot.

The latest estimate of the loot, with reports from three fourths of the depositors, comes to "a little over $1 million," a senior police official said.

Washington, Saigon Pressed Over Forming Command

An AP News Analysis
By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The deepending involvement of the United States in the Vietnamese war is daily bringing Washington and Saigon closer to a decision both have been trying to avoid — whether to create a joint command.

In practical terms such a joint command probably would have little effect on current relations between the allies. Maj. Gen. Tran Van Minh, the Vietnamese armed forces commander, said Wednesday: "Creation of a joint command would not be very surprising. As it is, we are working very closely and in consultation with the Americans."

But creation of a joint command would be a major diplomatic development that could spark powerful international reaction.

So far Americans have served in Viet Nam only as advisers or in supporting roles. They do not command Vietnamese troops at any level. The only commands Americans hold are over other Americans.

A joint command could change this, particularly if composite units went into the field.

Most Vietnamese civilian and military leaders have been found noncommittal on the question of whether American ground forces should be used as combat units in Viet Nam.

"We welcome all support the United States can give us, particularly in improving our mobility and firepower," a ranking official said this week. But he declined to go further when asked about American combat units.

Top Vietnamese officials say privately they think the use of American combat units could pose some major difficulties.

"The Vietnamese people would have to be conditioned to accept such a situation," a ranking Saigon officer said.

"During the Indochina War, French units carried the brunt of the war, and the Vietnamese people considered it a French war, with the Vietnamese on one side and the foreigners on the other. There might be some danger of that kind of thinking again if American units assume too much of a role."

Underlying the diplomatic touchiness is the constant claim by Communist North Viet Nam and its allies that the South Vietnamese government is "the lackey of the imperialist Americans." This charge has proven drawing power in highly nationalistic Viet Nam, and neither Washington nor Saigon wants to lend substance to it.

At the same time, both Vietnamese and American leaders recognize the need for closer coordination as the military establishment grows.

It will take some tricky footwork to balance these needs.

Crushed to Death

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Carl G. Blackwood, 42, of Ballston Spa, was crushed to death Wednesday while working on a dump truck, the coroner's office reported.

Blackwood, a mechanic for the Tarrant Manufacturing Co., had raised the bed of the truck, officials said, before starting work. He was working alone when the bed came down on him, Coroner Harold Hall said.

Blackwood had five children.

2 Are Quizzed About Looting Depositories

MONTREAL (AP)—Two Montreal detectives returned from Plattsburgh, N.Y., Wednesday night after questioning two Montrealers about the looting of safety deposit boxes in a Montreal branch of the Royal Bank of Canada April 10th and 11th.

Questioned were Donat Gautheir, 28, and Mario Boucher, 25. They were arraigned in a Plattsburgh court Tuesday on charges of fraud in connection with the passing of $1,000 worth of travellers' checks. Police said the checks were part of the loot.

The latest estimate of the loot, with reports from three fourths of the depositors, comes to "a little over $1 million," a senior police official said.

Bruhn Decision Upholds Trooper In Exam Fight

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice upholds a former trooper's contention that there was no "practical necessity" for the type of State Police promotional examination given Oct. 21, 1963.

On the basis of the test, 200 men were promoted to sergeant.

The decision by Justice Louis G. Bruhn went further than an Appellate Division finding last December that the exam was of "questionable validity" in the absence of proof of "practical necessity."

Former Trooper John H. Donohue of Peekskill brought the action and now will seek a judgment voiding the promotions.

Bruhn said the state had failed to demonstrate a "practical necessity or imperative need for such a drastic dilution of the competitive elements" in the examination.

The appellate court had found that the competitive elements were diluted by combining an oral examination with a service-record rating system. The combination gave considerable weight to "judgments largely subjective," the court said.

Bruhn, of Kingston, issued his decision here Monday. A spokesman in the state attorney general's office said no decision had been made about a further appeal.

After Donohue brought his initial court action, he was dismissed from the force for insubordination.

Success Shouldn't Be Criticized

A letter from New York reads: "I ruffed the opening club lead in dummy, led a trump to my hand, ruffed my other low club and cashed all but one of my trumps and my ace of clubs. This forced me to make three discards from dummy but they were no problem. I let three hearts go.

"This brought everyone down to six cards and East dropped a low heart. I played ace, king and another diamond. The queen failed to drop but it didn't hurt me since it turned out that East's heart discard had made all my hearts good.

"Usually nothing succeeds like success, but this time my partner criticized my seven bid and my opponents' my play. Were they correct?"

There might be some justification for criticism of his seven bid on the ground that no one should go to a grand slam when he isn't practically sure of success but his play.

If he had just used a simple diamond finesse in an effort to make his thirteenth trick he would have had only even money chance for success. The play he actually adopted was far better. It was sure to bring home the bacon if the queen of diamonds were in the short diamond hand. Then if the queen of diamonds were guarded three or four times as was the case there would be a squeeze if the same player held the long hearts. Note that if East had hung on to his three hearts South would have ruffed out the queen of diamonds and made his thirteenth trick with dummy's jack.

Says VA Savings Would Be Used For Other Things

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A national officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars says that a VFW "truth squad" had been unable to justify the Veterans Adminitration's plan to close 17 VA facilities, including five in New York State.

Norman Jones, director of the VFW national rehabilitation service told the Associated Press that "had the selections been made on the reasons given by the VA they would have been justified, but "the motivation was just to save a bunch of money."

Jones and several other VFW officials stopped at the Albany VA office as part of a survey of affected facilities in New York State.

The party, including State VFW Commander Arthur J. Vater of Buffalo, toured the VA hospital and soldiers' home in Bath Monday and the Sunmount VA hospital near Saranac Lake Tuesday. The group planned to visit the Castle Point Hospital near Beacon and the Syracuse regional office late Thursday or Friday.

The VA decision to close the hospitals and the regional VA offices in Albany and Syracuse has been opposed by the VFW and other veterans' groups.

Jones said his group would prepare a report to be presented to a panel appointed by President Johnson to study the closings.

Jones said the decision to close the facilities was made "merely to save money to advance other administration programs."

VA buildings and facilities at Bath and Sunmount are structurally sound and well - maintained, he said, and there appeared no reason to close them. The facilities evidently have no staffing problems and, although "they don't have quite all of the essential services," neither do the largest hospitals, he said.

He said the Sunmount facility was "beautifully maintained, well staffed, and serves a need there that certainly should be continued.

He said the basis of the decision to close the Albany and Syracuse offices was "arbitrary to limit each state to two offices." He noted that offices in Buffalo and New York City would be maintained.

Perfumes Premises

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — The business in air fresheners picked up noticeably the morning after a run-in with a skunk in downtown Roswell. An apparently wild skunk was chased by a group of youngsters into a small hole underneath the ledge of a shoe store's display window. The animal became lodged in the small opening. City employes shot the skunk, thinking that it would fall onto the sidewalk. However, it fell into the opening under the floor of the window and proceeded to perfume those premises, a department store, a sewing center and a jewelers.

Lives Like a Cow

STREATOR, Ill. (AP)—Buster, a four-legged critter, looks like a dog but lives like a cow. "It sounds like he's suffering from depersonalization," said a psychiarist. Buster sleeps with cows, eats the same food the cows do (including hay and grass) and resembles the Hereford cows in the coloring of his short-haired coat. He also rides atop the back of a cow and sleeps there. Other than that he makes his home with the George Wargos on Gold Road.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 22, the 112th day of 1965. There are 253 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1793, President George Washington proclaimed U.S. neutrality in the war between Britain and France. The proclamation was to serve as a guide to American diplomacy up to the present century.

On this date

In 1864, Congress passed a law authorizing the use of the motto, "In God We Trust," on coins issued by the U.S. government.

In 1870, the leader of the Russian Revolution, Nikolai Lenin, was born.

In 1889, Oklahoma Territory was opened to the public. At least 20,000 persons — on horseback, wagons and foot —surged across the border when a gun was fired at noon.

In 1930, the treaty limiting the size of navies was signed in London by the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

In 1944, American invasion forces landed at Hollandia, New Guinea.

Ten years ago— France and Tunisia agreed in Paris on terms under which France would grant internal autonomy to Tunisia.

One year ago—The New York World's Fair opened: an attempt to snarl traffic by civil rights groups failed.

Library Reports Books Covering World Travelers

For the majority of the people in the Kingston area, who do not have the good fortune to take their Spring vacation in a warmer climate, the Kingston City Library recommends a few new books to tide them through.

3 on a Toothbrush, by Jack Paar, features some of the television personality's zany encounters and experiences on his trips around the world with his wife, Miriam and daughter, Randy. Ranging from the Berlin Wall to being run over by a rickshaw in Zanzibar, readers should get a new perspective on world travel.

The Island of the Angels, by Leonard Wibberley, is a short novel about Francisco the fisherman, who lived alone on the Island of the Angels off the coast of Baja, California. His simple life suddenly changed when one day he finds a small boy lost on the beach.

. . . and Then I Told the President, but noted humorist Art Buchwald, reveals how he straightened out most of the pressing problems in the U. S. Thanks to his work the country is now in its most prosperous perod and almost all overseas crises have disappeared. Lyndon Johnson has nothing to do now but open a dam or a new airport.

Death in the Castle, by Pearl Buck, is a novel set in an ancient and brooding English castle. On the surface it is a spell binding tale of the determination of a wealthy young American who wants to buy a haunted castle, dismantle it, and reconstruct it in Connecticut, but . . .

A Pillar of Iron, by Taylor Caldwell, takes readers back to Rome in its greatest period — the time of Caesar and Pompey. She unfolds a majestic and poignant story of Roman democracy facing its own inexorable decay with a cast featuring Cicero, Sulla and Scaevola.

The Ambassador, by Morris West, is a novel of crisis — the bitter and bloody military crisis of South Vietnam; the crisis of western diplomacy in the Far East; the personal crisis of a U. S. ambassador who in a condition of moral confusion and self-doubt is made arbiter of a nation's destiny.

In pursuit of World Order, by Richard Gardner, concerns U. S. foreign policy and international organizations. The author assesses the major international problems that thwart progress to peace and welfare and how the U. S. has tried to deal with them in concert of nations. This new book was recently presented to the library by the Rev. Richard Guice.

Ferment in Eastern Europe, ed. by Irwin Isenberg, is a survey of current changes in Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia. Articles deal with historical backgrounds, political and economic trends and past and present U.S. policy toward Eastern Europe.

Civil Rights, ed. by Grant McClellan, surveys the Negroes' demands for advances in recognition of their civil rights in American society. It also considers the recent advances made in the protection of traditional civil rights.

These and many more new books are now available at the library. Library hours are 10:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p. m. Saturdays.

Third Session Is Set Saturday for Sparky's Dept.

Sparky's Fire Department, sponsored by the Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 will hold its third meeting of the spring session at the Hurley Fire Hall, Saturday at 10 a. m.

Originally established as a world-wide fire safety and fire prevention program by the National Fire Protection Association, Sparky's Department is in its third year of sponsorship by Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1. It is open for membership to all children in grades 1 to 4 who reside in Hurley Fire District No. 1. An enthusiastic response by children and parents has given Hurley firemen an added incentive to continue the program.

Saturday's meeting will include audience participation talks, with emphasis on summer fire dangers and their prevention. Chairman Howard Noyes reminds all children that posters for the Sparky Poster Contest should be handed in at this meeting. Posters will be judged by a committee of Fire Company line officers. The winners will be appointed Sparky Fire Department officers for the 1965-66 season. The meeting will conclude with a demonstration of fire extinguishing methods of Hurley firemen.

Any Sparky Fire Department member who did not receive poster contest instructions is requested to contact either Howard Noyes or Richard P. Ruth Jr.

An interesting and informative program is in store for all Sparky members. Hurley firemen will be in attendance to assure the safety of the children and an invitation is extended to all interested parents.

Three Are Killed When Light Plane Crashes in Field

SCHUYLER, N.Y. (AP) — Three men returning to Ithaca from a flight to Boston were killed Wednesday night when their light aircraft crashed in a pasture, apparently while attempting an emergency landing.

Dead are:

The pilot, William Genter, 42, and Alfonse Keltz Jr., 26, both of Ithaca, and Michael Herriott, 22, of Towson, Md.

State Police said the plane had circled over the area, about 10 miles northwest of Cooperstown, before flying over the farmland very low.

The plane was owned by the East Hill Flying Club of Ithaca and was kept at the Tompkins County airport there.

A spokesman at the airport said that a man identified as William Genter of Ithaca had checked out the airplane Wednesday and filed a flight plan for a trip to Boston.

State Troopers said the plane crashed at about 9:45 p.m. near the Harold Higgins home west of here and about 80 miles west of Ithaca.

Police confirmed that the plane was enroute to Ithaca from Boston.

Higgins said he and his wife were playing cards when they heard a noise like a plane and then a thud. They thought the thud was a door slamming, he said, until a neighbor came to their door and told them a plane had crashed.

Federal Aviation Authority officials are investigating.

Steam Into Music

Joshua C. Stoddard conceived the idea of converting steam into music while living in Worcester, Mass., then a center of piano and organ manufacturing. Artisans from an organ factory helped him make his first "steam organ."

CIA CHIEF — William F. Raborn Jr., 59, a retired admiral, has been chosen by the President to head the Central Intelligence Agency. He succeeds John A. McCone in the post.

Third Session Is Set Saturday for Sparky's Dept.

Sparky's Fire Department, sponsored by the Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1 will hold its third meeting of the spring session at the Hurley Fire Hall, Saturday at 10 a. m.

Originally established as a world-wide fire safety and fire prevention program by the National Fire Protection Association, Sparky's Department is in its third year of sponsorship by Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1. It is open for membership to all children in grades 1 to 4 who reside in Hurley Fire District No. 1. An enthusiastic response by children and parents has given Hurley firemen an added incentive to continue the program.

Saturday's meeting will include audience participation talks, with emphasis on summer fire dangers and their prevention. Chairman Howard Noyes reminds all children that posters for the Sparky Poster Contest should be handed in at this meeting. Posters will be judged by a committee of Fire Company line officers. The winners will be appointed Sparky Fire Department officers for the 1965-66 season. The meeting will conclude with a demonstration of fire extinguishing methods of Hurley firemen.

Any Sparky Fire Department member who did not receive poster contest instructions is requested to contact either Howard Noyes or Richard P. Ruth Jr.

An interesting and informative program is in store for all Sparky members. Hurley firemen will be in attendance to assure the safety of the children and an invitation is extended to all interested parents.

Three Are Killed When Light Plane Crashes in Field

SCHUYLER, N.Y. (AP) — Three men returning to Ithaca from a flight to Boston were killed Wednesday night when their light aircraft crashed in a pasture, apparently while attempting an emergency landing.

Dead are:

The pilot, William Genter, 42, and Alfonse Keltz Jr., 26, both of Ithaca, and Michael Herriott, 22, of Towson, Md.

State Police said the plane had circled over the area, about 10 miles northwest of Cooperstown, before flying over the farmland very low.

The plane was owned by the East Hill Flying Club of Ithaca and was kept at the Tompkins County airport there.

A spokesman at the airport said that a man identified as William Genter of Ithaca had checked out the airplane Wednesday and filed a flight plan for a trip to Boston.

State Troopers said the plane crashed at about 9:45 p.m. near the Harold Higgins home west of here and about 80 miles west of Ithaca.

Police confirmed that the plane was enroute to Ithaca from Boston.

Higgins said he and his wife were playing cards when they heard a noise like a plane and then a thud. They thought the thud was a door slamming, he said, until a neighbor came to their door and told them a plane had crashed.

Federal Aviation Authority officials are investigating.

Steam Into Music

Squadrons Airborne Since 1958

April 30 Will Mark Finish Of Midway-Aleutian Patrol

By MALCOLM BARR

MIDWAY ISLAND (AP) — Since 1958, a U.S. Navy squadrons of Super Constellations has remained airborne 24 hours a day, seven days a week, patrolling the 1,500 miles between Midway Island and Alaska.

On April 30, the last of these patrols will be launched from this lonely North Pacific island, 1,100 miles northwest of Honolulu. Then, the Distant Early Warning — DEW — line extension will be ended.

No Word on Replacement

The planes will, for the most part, be mothballed, and their aircrews dispersed to other jobs. Many of them already have left.

The Department of Defense decreed an end to the patrol because of the "declining nature of a manned bomber threat." There has been no announcement as to what, if anything, will replace the patrol.

The mission of the aviators has been something less than dramatic. It has been described as the most grueling of cold war jobs.

In 1958, the decision was made to close the gap through which the U.S. West Coast was vulnerable to possible attack by manned, supersonic enemy bombers with nuclear payloads.

The DEW line stretching across the Canadian land mass from the Atlantic to the Pacific, blocking the polar route, was lengthened.

Ships Also Withdrawn

Radar picket ships patrolled the stormy North Pacific. Their job was much the same as the aircraft. These, too are being withdrawn.

The planes and ships all were part of the airborne warning barrier, the nerve center of which was Barber's Point Naval Air Station near Honolulu.

It was from Midway Island, however, that the planes flew. The barrier squadron was the largest in the Navy with 26 aircraft manned and maintained by 340 officers and 1,700 enlisted men.

Each plane, with its six tons of electronic equipment carried a crew of about 20, half of these being "scope watchers." These men peered at four radar screens watching for "blips." The "blips" could mean enemy attackers.

Much of the expanse from Midway Island to the Aleutians is shrouded in fog.

No Serious Accidents

The weather tested pilots' and navigators' abilities, prevented boredom in the flight to nowhere and back. The planes never landed except where they started, and never had a serious accident.

Lt. (j.g.) Dave Fore, a navigator from Corpus Christi, Tex., said there wasn't much drama aloft. "Blips" on the radar scopes would be spotted, radioed to operation control on the ground for evaluation, and the flight would go on. It was someone else's job to stop an attack. An average flight lasted 17 hours.

Fore said they got "the best chow in the service" and the galley in one of the Constellations would almost make a Honolulu housewife envious.

Beds — called "racks" — were plentiful and comfortable. Mostly, men worked for four hours and slept three.

"It's okay once you get used to the sleeping arrangements," said chief pilot Lt. Bob Palmquist of Columbia, Mo. "And if you like to fly — which I do — there's plenty of that."

Crisis, Pressures Await State Solons on Tuesday

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Another crisis and renewed pressures await vacationing state legislators, who will return to the Capitol Tuesday to wrestle with reapportionment problems.

The lawmakers will have to substitute precision, drive and and agreement for the lackadaisical proceedings of recent weeks, if they are to meet a May 5 deadline for enacting a new plan for redrawing legislative district lines.

No End to Dissension

There is little reason, however, to expect an end to the party and inter-party dissension that delayed approval of the $3.43-billion state budget and the two per cent sales tax until two weeks after the beginning of the new fiscal year.

No one seems to know exactly what would happen if the Legislature failed to meet a federal-court deadline for fixing new Senate and Assembly districts. The three-judge court already has granted one delay, from April 1 to May 5, for submission of a "one-man, one-vote" reapportionment.

This delay was authorized to allow time for preparations for a special legislative election this fall. The election, ordered by the court last July, would be for one-year terms instead of the usual two.

The court will hold a hearing May 7 in New York City to hear further arguments and study what has been done on apportionment.

Failure by the Legislature to come up with a plan could result in:

Possibilities Listed

— Appointment by the court of a special master who would be authorized to develop a plan for redistributing the legislative seats.

— A court order directing all legislators to run for election on a statewide basis, instead of within their existing districts.

— Postponement of the deadline. A lengthy postponement is unlikely, however, because election boards must begin in June to prepare for a November election.

— Cancellation of the special election.

The election was ordered after the U.S. Supreme Court voided the state's 70-year-old reapportionment formula and ordered redistricting.

Some legal experts say it is unlikely the special court would cancel its order for the election unless the Legislature could present convincing reasons for failure to produce a plan.

Democrats struggling to come up with a plan have another problem. They must appoint a commission to begin preparations for a constitutional convention on reapportionment.

Assemblyman Louis F. DeSalvio, chairman of the Legislature's reapportionment committee, has promised to have a redistricting plan ready when the lawmakers return from their Easter vacation.

The convention issue was raised last week when the Court of Appeals voided as unconstitutional the basic reapportionment plan enacted by a lame-duck, Republican - controlled Legislature at a special session last year.

The court said the Legislature should draft a new plan to put into effect immediately but then seek a constitutional convention "as soon as possible" to re-establish a reapportionment plan as part of the constitution.

The Sahara, the world's largest desert, is about 3,500,000 square miles in area and occupies between a quarter and a third of the African continent. Rainfall averages less than 15 inches a year in some places and less than 5 in another. In some areas it has not rained in ten years. The temperature of the desert exceeds an average of 80 degrees and recordings in excess of 137 degrees have been made. The ground temperature goes as high as 170 degrees. The nights are cool and refreshing, since there is often a 60-degree drop from midday.

Comics Wow Queen

Party for Liz Turns Into Vaudeville Act

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's birthday party turned into a hilarious vaudeville act Wednesday night before a wildly cheering audience in a London theater.

The queen obviously loved every minute of it.

Wednesday was the queen's 39th birthday, and Prince Philip took her and a small party to see Irish comedian Spike Milligan in a play based on the Russian novel "Oblomov."

Sellers Joins In

Among the royal guests were actor Peter Sellers and his Swedish wife, Britt Ekland. Milligan and Sellers are old buddies and soon turned the play into a double act, with Milligan gagging from the stage and Sellers from the royalty row in the stalls.

Milligan stopped the show just after the opening curtain as an embarrassed foursome arrived late and took seats just in front of the queen.

"Turn up the house lights," cried Spike. "Start everything again.

"That's cost you your knighthood," he told the blushing latecomers.

Then he cried: "Is there a Sellers in the house?"

Sellers, sitting between Prince Charles and Princess Margaret, yelled, "Yes."

"Why," demanded Milligan, "Does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces (suspenders)?"

Sellers quickly swung into the old vaudeville routine with "I don't know. Why does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces?"

Invited to Supper

The classic reply to that ancient chestnut is "to keep his pants up" but whatever Milligan said was lost in the audience's laughter.

Milligan also threw in an imitation of Queen Victoria, kicked a slipper into the audience, narrowly missing Prince Philip's head, and appeared for his final curtain call with a sword with which he invited the queen to knight him.

Her majesty declined, and instead Milligan and others in the cast were invited back to the birthday supper at Princess Margeret's home in Kensington Palace.

Dr. Becket Lang Dies

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Dr. H. Becket Lang, a psychiatrist at Albany Medical Center Hospital, died Wednesday in the hospital, where he had been a patient for a month. He was 69.

Lang was a native of Ottawa, Can., and a graduate of the University of Toronto.

He served as an assistant commissioner of the New York State Mental Hygiene Department from 1941 to 1952. He also held positions at Marcy State Hospital, Pilgrim State Hospital, the Vanderbilt Clinic and Buffalo State Hospital.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — K.A. Randall, a Republican from Utah, is the new chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

President Johnson approved his selection Wednesday to replace Joseph W. Barr, nominated to be undersecretary of the Treasury.

Barr and James J. Saxon, comptroller of the currency and third member of the FDIC board, had informed Johnson they intended to elect Randall. By tradition, the President passes upon the board's election.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced Wednesday that more than 3,250 Navy enlisted men have volunteered for duty in South Viet Nam as a result of a special request for volunteers made April 9 by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear test of low yield, the eighth weapons-related test to be announced this year, was detonated underground Wednesday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site. Low-yield means the device's blast power was less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

matter of Fact

The famous comment, "What this country needs is a really good five-cent cigar," was made by Thomas Riley Marshall, the 28th vice president of the United States, one day while presiding over the Senate during a particularly tedious debate on the floor. Marshall was elected to the vice presidency along with President Woodrow Wilson in 1913. When he was re-elected during the next term he became the first vice president to succeed himself in office in almost a century.

Kremlin Appears To Have Dropped W. Berlin Ouster

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union strongly indicated today it has abandoned former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's long-range goal of ousting the Western Allies from West Berlin.

Despite recent tensions in the divided city, the Rusians dropped their insistence that the Western sector be "transformed into a free, demilitarized city."

A list of slogans was published here in advance of the May Day holiday. The list contained no reference to West Berlin.

Krushchev set the stage for the East-West test of nerves over Berlin in November 1958 when he set a six-month deadline for the evacuation of Western troops from the city.

The deadline passed with the Allies standing firm Khrushchev finally anulled it in talks with President Dwight D. Eisenhower during his visit to the United States in 1959.

Nazi Editor . . .

the start. He said he "vigorously objected" to such appearance and felt that his role as adviser to the club could be "construed" to mean that he favored it; thus decided it was necessary for him to resign."

Dr. Von De Heide gave a brief talk on the affect of Nazism on two generations. He also appealed to the audience for "no violence" during or after the speaker's talk.

Ready for Trouble

There were no incidences during the lecture although some of the questions from the audience equalled the obvious acidity of the speaker in his various references to individuals and groups.

The protests and subsequent picketing came as no surprise as law enforcement officials girded for any possible trouble.

However, the pickets staged what was described as an "orderly demonstration" in front of the auditorium. Everette Hodge, president of the Ulster Chapter of NAACP, whose letter protesting Rockwell's scheduled appearance on the campus precipated scores of other protests, said the "picket was for brotherhood and against the propaganda of the Nazi speaker, John Patler."

Hodge said the pickets sang "Freedom songs," chanted and listened to "pep" talks from leaders of NAACP and CORE, and other organizations such as the Jewish War Veterans who circulated a pamphlet entitled, "Barring Hatemongers as Campus Speakers." Among the pickets was a man garbed in ceremonial robes and carrying a sign written in Hebrew.

Hodge, however, stressed that the picket was a demonstrator against the college policy of accepting an ANP representative. He stressed Dr. Von Der Heide's protest resignation and said the ex-club adviser "had the foresight to advise the club against inviting Rockwell to speak at the college."

Hodge said, that "If a college's administration does not possess the good judgment to be selective in whom they invite to their academic forums, then the community has not only the right but the obligation to attack this abuse of academic freedom. To maintain its self-respect, as much as for its preservation, the community should protest strenuously when the college opens its doors to avowed fascists, communists or hatemongers."

Other protests were lodged by Kingston Post 150, American Legion and by Morton L. London, chairman of the Joint New York-New Jersey Action Committee of the JWV of the U.S.A.

Patler, in his talk, produced documents which he said proved that the public was being denied facts and information. He said the three major television and radio net works were "controlled by Jews," thus preventing anything unfavorable to Jews from being shown or heard over the air.

Negroes, he said, comprising a small percentage of the population, commit the majority of the crimes.

The speaker said that Jews were at one time oppressed but "have captured Russia."

Referring back to the networks, he said that an ANP member was shot three times by a woman in Colorado, but the news "never got out of Denver." He said, "But what if it had been a Negro or a Civil Rights worker?"

Praises Hitler

Patler said that Adolph Hitler was "one of the most lied about men in history" and that one day "statutes will be built for him." However, he said, Hitler was "too soft," and a "narrow nationalist." He also referred to Rockwell as the "20th Century version of St. Paul," who will one day rise to greatness.

"You laugh now," he said, "but they laughted at Christopher Columbus—and Columbus wasn't a Jew."

The speaker said that "No greater propaganda has been fed the American people than that garbage" identifying six million Jews who died or were killed during the Nazi regime. He cited books he said proved that there were never more than 500,000 Jews in concentration camps in World War II.

He told the audience, "You people are out of touch with reality, you are conceited while being lied to." He called integration "immoral" and said that the billions of dollars being used to support countries who hate us should be used to ship all colored people to Africa where they may live "in their own stink and squalor." He said the Nazi Party believed in "Total geographic separation of the races."

All accomplishments, Patler said, were by white people and the Negro has contributed nothing to advance mankind. An unidentified man shouted from the audience, "How about peanut butter?"

Patler said Senator Goldwater was "working for the enemy." He said that "Goldfink is going to be the next president in 1969," and "he's really going to slip it to you." This remark caused overwhelming laughter and guffaws. He said that the ANP "made it on the ballot" in Virginia and was going to make it nationally," legally — through the ballot."

He said that "we are not subersive" and have already "invited the House Un-American Investigation Committee to investigate us." He said he was aware that "Resnick was against this committee, but because he's a jew he might have to go over to them." His reference was to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) who voted against federal appropriation of moneys for the HUAAC.

The college reversed an earlier policy of banning the press and radio just prior to the lecture. College officials said policy change was affected because the college "wanted to cooperate with the press and radio" in their efforts to report the event in its entirety. A similar state-institution situation involving the press and public arose in Buffalo.

Klan Eyes Britain

LONDON (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan in Britain? Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., says it's a posibility.

During a television interview taped in the United States, Shelton said the Klan is getting many British letters of support.

"In fact," he added, "we have so much support that we are anticipating very shortly having a subsidiary movement in Britain."

See Big Rush To U.S. Campuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second wave of the long-heralded college crush will hit the campus next fall. There is plenty of proof today that it's going to be a whopper.

Applications for freshman admission to 67 state universities and land-grant colleges are running 34 per cent ahead of last year, the Office of Institutional Research reported.

And last year was bad enough, with a 32 per cent jump over the previous year.

"This year's crop of high school gradutes is going to have the hardest time yet getting into college," Alan Ostar, director, said in an interview. "The squeeze is really on."

The agency figures cover a representative sample of the nation's public colleges and universities, which enroll about two of every three college students.

Although fewer students are involved, the prestige private colleges and universities also are reporting an increase in applications this year.

There's no mystery to the college crush. Primarily it's a result of the post-World War II baby boom.

Nothing Is . . .

ing that they "by their actions and attitudes have also contributed additional problems."

By contrast, the jurors commended the people of Lowndes County "for the fine manner in which they have conducted themselves during these trying days.'

Among those questioned by the jury was Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham, who was arested by federal authorities after the Liuzzo slaying but later released.

Rowe was one of four Ku Klux Klansmen arrested on federal civil rights charges March 26, the day after Mrs. Liuzzo was shot to death in her car near Lowndesboro. A federal grand jury meting in Montgomery earlier this month indicted the other three men on charges of conspiring to injure persons in the exercise of their constitutional rights.

Those indicted were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employe of U.S. Steel at Bessemer; Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, a self-employed mechanic; and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer, a retired steel worker.

Rowe was not indicted and the charge against him subsequently was dismissed. The New York Times said Rowe had been working as an undercover agent for the FBI. Federal authorities, including the FBI, and state officials refused to comment on the report.

Also testifying before the jury was LeRoy Morton, 19, a Selma Negro, who was riding with the Detroit housewife and mother of five when she was slain. Mrs. Liuzzo, wife of a Teamster Union official, had come to take part in the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

She had driven a load of marchers back to Selma and was returning for another load when she was killed by gunshots fired from a passing car.

Polls and petitions fanned out through the Negro community in Bogalusa, La., seeking to pin down who represents the city's 9,000 Negroes in biracial talks, negotiations and demands for civil rights.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer said the league and members of the Congress of Racial Equality 'are a small group of self-styled leaders who do not represent the Negro community.' He said they 'do not want to negotiate. They want to demonstrate.'

Doctor's Ambulance was summoned at 5:25 a. m. Attendants administered oxygen on the way to the hospital where Dr. Mandell died about an hour later.

A native of New York City, Dr. Mandell had been in Kingston for the past 30 years. He was a member of Temple Emanuel, B'nai B'rith and Kingston Lodge No. 550, BPOE. He was a past president of B'nai B'rith and past Exalted Ruler of Elks.

Prepare for Trouble

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—State police ordered 300 state troopers into this tense, racially troubled paper mill town today for the expected appearance tonight of Negro comedian Dick Gregory.

Ben Ragusa, assistant state police superintendent, termed the move a preparedness step.

Civil rights leaders, meanwhile, said there was some doubt as to whether Gregory could get out of a nightclub committment in time to appear here tonight.

Vow to Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steelworkers union vowed today to strike the basic industry May 1 to back up its 18 cents an-hour contract demands.

At the conclusion of executive board meeting, director Paul Gilbert said: "No contract, no work."

The union's wage policy committee was scheduled to meet later in the day to give final strike authorization.

A walkout would idle 425,000 workers.

Easter Date Variation

Variation of the Easter date between the Eastern Orthodox Churches and the churches of the Western world results from the fact that the Orthodox churches follow the old Julian calendar instead of the Gregorian calendar.

Party for Liz Turns Into Vaudeville Act

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's birthday party turned into a hilarious vaudeville act Wednesday night before a wildly cheering audience in a London theater.

The queen obviously loved every minute of it.

Wednesday was the queen's 39th birthday, and Prince Philip took her and a small party to see Irish comedian Spike Milligan in a play based on the Russian novel "Oblomov."

Sellers Joins In

Among the royal guests were actor Peter Sellers and his Swedish wife, Britt Ekland. Milligan and Sellers are old buddies and soon turned the play into a double act, with Milligan gagging from the stage and Sellers from the royalty row in the stalls.

Milligan stopped the show just after the opening curtain as an embarrassed foursome arrived late and took seats just in front of the queen.

"Turn up the house lights," cried Spike. "Start everything again.

"That's cost you your knighthood," he told the blushing latecomers.

Then he cried: "Is there a Sellers in the house?"

Sellers, sitting between Prince Charles and Princess Margaret, yelled, "Yes."

"Why," demanded Milligan, "Does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces (suspenders)?"

Sellers quickly swung into the old vaudeville routine with "I don't know. Why does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces?"

Invited to Supper

The classic reply to that ancient chestnut is "to keep his pants up" but whatever Milligan said was lost in the audience's laughter.

Milligan also threw in an imitation of Queen Victoria, kicked a slipper into the audience, narrowly missing Prince Philip's head, and appeared for his final curtain call with a sword with which he invited the queen to knight him.

Her majesty declined, and instead Milligan and others in the cast were invited back to the birthday supper at Princess Margeret's home in Kensington Palace.

Dr. Becket Lang Dies

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Dr. H. Becket Lang, a psychiatrist at Albany Medical Center Hospital, died Wednesday in the hospital, where he had been a patient for a month. He was 69.

Lang was a native of Ottawa, Can., and a graduate of the University of Toronto.

He served as an assistant commissioner of the New York State Mental Hygiene Department from 1941 to 1952. He also held positions at Marcy State Hospital, Pilgrim State Hospital, the Vanderbilt Clinic and Buffalo State Hospital.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — K.A. Randall, a Republican from Utah, is the new chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

President Johnson approved his selection Wednesday to replace Joseph W. Barr, nominated to be undersecretary of the Treasury.

Barr and James J. Saxon, comptroller of the currency and third member of the FDIC board, had informed Johnson they intended to elect Randall. By tradition, the President passes upon the board's election.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced Wednesday that more than 3,250 Navy enlisted men have volunteered for duty in South Viet Nam as a result of a special request for volunteers made April 9 by Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear test of low yield, the eighth weapons-related test to be announced this year, was detonated underground Wednesday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site. Low-yield means the device's blast power was less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

matter of fact

The famous comment, "What this country needs is a really good five-cent cigar," was made by Thomas Riley Marshall, the 28th vice president of the United States, one day while presiding over the Senate during a particularly tedious debate on the floor. Marshall was elected to the vice presidency along with President Woodrow Wilson in 1913. When he was re-elected during the next term he became the first vice president to succeed himself in office in almost a century.

Kremlin Appears To Have Dropped W. Berlin Ouster

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union strongly indicated today it has abandoned former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's long-range goal of ousting the Western Allies from West Berlin.

Despite recent tensions in the divided city, the Rusians dropped their insistence that the Western sector be "transformed into a free, demilitarized city."

A list of slogans was published here in advance of the May Day holiday. The list contained no reference to West Berlin.

Krushchev set the stage for the East-West test of nerves over Berlin in November 1958 when he set a six-month deadline for the evacuation of Western troops from the city.

The deadline passed with the Allies standing firm. Khrushchev finally anulled it in talks with President Dwight D. Eisenhower during his visit to the United States in 1959.

Nazi Editor . . .

the start. He said he "vigorously objected" to such appearance and felt that his role as adviser to the club could be "construed" to mean that he favored it; thus decided it was necessary for him to resign."

Dr. Von De Heide gave a brief talk on the affect of Nazism on two generations. He also appealed to the audience for "no violence" during or after the speaker's talk.

Ready for Trouble

There were no incidences during the lecture although some of the questions from the audience equalled the obvious acidity of the speaker in his various references to individuals and groups.

The protests and subsequent picketing came as no surprise as law enforcement officials girded for any possible trouble.

However, the pickets staged what was described as an "orderly demonstration" in front of the auditorium. Everette Hodge, president of the Ulster Chapter of NAACP, whose letter protesting Rockwell's scheduled appearance on the campus precipated scores of other protests, said the "picket was for brotherhood and against the propaganda of the Nazi speaker, John Patler."

Hodge said the pickets sang "Freedom songs," chanted and listened to "pep" talks from leaders of NAACP and CORE, and other organizations such as the Jewish War Veterans who circulated a pamphlet entitled, "Barring Hatemongers as Campus Speakers." Among the pickets was a man garbed in ceremonial robes and carrying a sign written in Hebrew.

Hodge, however, stressed that the picket was a demonstrator against the college policy of accepting an ANP representative. He stressed Dr. Von Der Heide's protest resignation and said the ex-club adviser "had the foresight to advise the club against inviting Rockwell to speak at the college."

Hodge said, that "If a college's administration does not possess the good judgment to be selective in whom they invite to their academic forums, then the community has not only the right but the obligation to attack this abuse of academic freedom. To maintain its self-respect, as much as for its preservation, the community should protest strenuously when the college opens its doors to avowed fascists, communists or hatemongers."

Other protests were lodged by Kingston Post 150, American Legion and by Morton L. London, chairman of the Joint New York-New Jersey Action Committee of the JWV of the U.S.A.

Patler, in his talk, produced documents which he said proved that the public was being denied facts and information. He said the three major television and radio net works were "controlled by Jews," thus preventing anything unfavorable to Jews from being shown or heard over the air.

Negroes, he said, comprising a small percentage of the population, commit the majority of the crimes.

The speaker said that Jews were at one time oppressed but "have captured Russia."

Referring back to the networks, he said that an ANP member was shot three times by a woman in Colorado, but the news "never got out of Denver." He said, "But what if it had been a Negro or a Civil Rights worker?"

Praises Hitler

Patler said that Adolph Hitler was "one of the most lied about men in history" and that one day "statutes will be built for him." However, he said, Hitler was "too soft," and a "narrow nationalist." He also referred to Rockwell as the "20th Century version of St. Paul," who will one day rise to greatness.

"You laugh now," he said, "but they laughted at Christopher Columbus—and Columbus wasn't a Jew."

The speaker said that "No greater propaganda has been fed the American people than that garbage" identifying six million Jews who died or were killed during the Nazi regime. He cited books he said proved that there were never more than 500,000 Jews in concentration camps in World War II.

He told the audience, "You people are out of touch with reality, you are conceited while being lied to." He called integration "immoral" and said that the billions of dollars being used to support countries who hate us should be used to ship all colored people to Africa where they may live "in their own stink and squalor." He said the Nazi Party believed in "Total geographic separation of the races."

All accomplishments, Patler said, were by white people and the Negro has contributed nothing to advance mankind. An unidentified man shouted from the audience, "How about peanut butter?"

Patler said Senator Goldwater was "working for the enemy." He said that "Goldfink is going to be the next president in 1969," and "he's really going to slip it to you." This remark caused overwhelming laughter and guffaws. He said that the ANP "made it on the ballot" in Virginia and was going to make it nationally," legally — through the ballot."

He said that "we are not subversive" and have already "invited the House Un-American Investigation Committee to investigate us." He said he was aware that "Resnick was against this committee, but because he's a jew he might have to go over to them." His reference was to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) who voted against federal appropriation of moneys for the HUAAC.

The college reversed an earlier policy of banning the press and radio just prior to the lecture. College officials said policy change was affected because the college "wanted to cooperate with the press and radio" in their efforts to report the event in its entirety. A similar state-institution situation involving the press and public arose in Buffalo.

Klan Eyes Britain

LONDON (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan in Britain? Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., says it's a posibility.

During a television interview taped in the United States, Shelton said the Klan is getting many British letters of support. "In fact," he added, "we have so much support that we are anticipating very shortly having a subsidiary movement in Britain."

See Big Rush To U.S. Campuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second wave of the long-heralded college crush will hit the campus next fall. There is plenty of proof today that it's going to be a whopper.

Applications for freshman admission to 67 state universities and land-grant colleges are running 34 per cent ahead of last year, the Office of Institutional Research reported.

And last year was bad enough, with a 32 per cent jump over the previous year.

"This year's crop of high school gradutes is going to have the hardest time yet getting into college," Alan Ostar, director, said in an interview. "The squeeze is really on."

The agency figures cover a representative sample of the nation's public colleges and universities, which enroll about two of every three college students.

Although fewer students are involved, the prestige private colleges and universities also are reporting an increase in applications this year.

There's no mystery to the college crush. Primarily it's a result of the post-World War II baby boom.

Nothing Is . . .

ing that they "by their actions and attitudes have also contributed additional problems."

By contrast, the jurors commended the people of Lowndes County "for the fine manner in which they have conducted themselves during these trying days."

Among those questioned by the jury was Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham, who was arested by federal authorities after the Liuzzo slaying but later released.

Rowe was one of four Ku Klux Klansmen arrested on federal civil rights charges March 26, the day after Mrs. Liuzzo was shot to death in her car near Lowndesboro. A federal grand jury meting in Montgomery earlier this month indicted the other three men on charges of conspiring to injure persons in the exercise of their constitutional rights.

Those indicted were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employe of U.S. Steel at Bessemer; Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, a self-employed mechanic; and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer, a retired steel worker.

Rowe was not indicted and the charge against him subsequently was dismissed. The New York Times said Rowe had been working as an undercover agent for the FBI. Federal authorities, including the FBI, and state officials refused to comment on the report.

Also testifying before the jury was LeRoy Morton, 19, a Selma Negro, who was riding with the Detroit housewife and mother of five when she was slain. Mrs. Liuzzo, wife of a Teamster Union official, had come to take part in the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery.

She had driven a load of marchers back to Selma and was returning for another load when she was killed by gunshots fired from a passing car.

Polls and petitions fanned out through the Negro community in Bogalusa, La., seeking to pin down who represents the city's 9,000 Negroes in biracial talks, negotiations and demands for civil rights.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer said the league and members of the Congress of Racial Equality 'are a small group of self-styled leaders who do not represent the Negro community.' He said they 'do not want to negotiate. They want to demonstrate.'

Prepare for Trouble

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—State police ordered 300 state troopers into this tense, racially troubled paper mill town today for the expected appearance tonight of Negro comedian Dick Gregory.

Ben Ragusa, assistant state police superintendent, termed the move a preparedness step.

Civil rights leaders, meanwhile, said there was some doubt as to whether Gregory could get out of a nightclub committment in time to appear here tonight.

Vow to Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steelworkers union vowed today to strike the basic industry May 1 to back up its 18 cents an hour contract demands.

At the conclusion of executive board meeting, director Paul Gilbert said: "No contract, no work."

The union's wage policy committee was scheduled to meet later in the day to give final strike authorization.

A walkout would idle 425,000 workers.

Going to Sill For Nine-Week Officer Course

LT. JAMES FIORE

The executive officer of Battery "B" of the Kingston National Guard Unit, Lt. James Fiore, left today to attend the nine-week basic officers course at Fort Sill, Okla.

Announcement was made by Lt. Col. Frank Fabbie, commanding officer of the First Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, who praised Lt. Fiore and others who "devote a great deal of time and energy maintaining their proficiency as military personnel."

"Much sacrifice is necessary in time and energy and is a tribute to the 'will to do' of these individuals," Lt. Col. Fabbie said.

Lt. Fiore will receive instruction in all phases of artillery while at Fort Sill, regarded as the Artillery Center of the world.

Lt. Fiore entered the National Guard as a private in February of 1953 and served as an enlisted man until his commission as a second lieutenant in July 1962. He is a graduate of the Empire State Military Academy, Camp Smith, where he earned his commission after an intensified training program as an officer candidate. He has served as an officer in the battalion in Kingston since his commission in 1962.

Lt. Fiore has always resided in Kingston, and presently lives at 16 Lindsley Avenue with his wife, Lorraine Rose and daughter Sheyla, age 4. He is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by the Hudson Cement Co.

The University of Alaska plans to establish a breeding herd of musk oxen to test the commercial potential of the animals.

Scranton Hails Word Paper Firm Plans Pa. Plant

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP)—Charmin Paper Co. of Cincinnati, wholly-owned subsidiary of Proctor & Gamble, announced Wednesday it will build a new plant in Wyoming County, eight miles northeast of Tunkhannock along the Susquehanna River.

Gov. William W. Scranton, in a statement from Harrisburg, said he was jubilant over the announcement and said "this means a great deal to the future of Wyoming County and all of northeastern Pensylvania and to the Commonwealth as a whole."

A spokesman for Charmin said the plant, expected to be completed early in 1967, will employ about 350 persons with an annual payroll of $2 million. Plans call for it to be expanded in the next three to five years, increasing the size of the work force to 600 persons. The plant will also provide a market for local pulp wood.

Will Study Sales Tax

The Poughkeepsie Common Council must reenact a city sales tax by August 1, if it wishes to continue such a local tax in addition to the state sales tax, slated to start on that date. Alderman Forrest L. Cousens, assistant mayor of Poughkeepsie, said that if a study undertaken by the council shows that no cut should be made in the current 2 per cent tax, a law will be proposed to keep the full tax. If, however, the study shows that a reduction to 1 per cent is possible, then a city law will be passed to that effect.

Candidates Nights Begin on Monday, Planned by P-TA

All registered voters in the Kingston Consolidated School District have been urged to attend the following meetings to hear the candidates for the Board of Education speak.

These "Meet the Candidates" evenings have been planned by the Kingston P-TA Council with the cooperation of the respective Parent Teacher units. All meetings will start at 8 p. m. Moderators will be appointed by each unit. Candidates who will speak are Morton Kame, Ellsworth Johnson, Donald Hastings and Arthur Withall.

Meetings are as follows:

Monday, April 27, Tillson School.

Tuesday, April 27, Brigham School, O'Neil Street.

Monday, May 3, Port Ewen School.

Suggests World Treaty To Guarantee Rights

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg says the United States should take the lead in implementing an international treaty to guarantee the fundamental rights of man.

"There is no sovereign right of any state, large or small, to deny the fundamental rights of "man" he said Wednesday night at the annual honors convocation at Syracuse University.

The treaty he proposed, he said, would implement a declaration drafted by the United Nations almost 20 years ago.

Without such a treaty, Goldberg declared, the UN document "amounts to only a manifesto, a statement of high and lofty ideals."

He rejected the contention that such a treaty would undermine the sovereignty and independence of participating nations.

The proposed international bill of rights, Goldberg said, would mirror the U.S. Bill of Rights.

Goldberg received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the convocation.

Scranton Hails Word Paper Firm Plans Pa. Plant

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP)—Charmin Paper Co. of Cincinnati, wholly-owned subsidiary of Proctor & Gamble, announced Wednesday it will build a new plant in Wyoming County, eight miles northeast of Tunkhannock along the Susquehanna River.

Gov. William W. Scranton, in a statement from Harrisburg, said he was jubilant over the announcement and said "this means a great deal to the future of Wyoming County and all of northeastern Pensylvania and to the Commonwealth as a whole."

A spokesman for Charmin said the plant, expected to be completed early in 1967, will employ about 350 persons with an annual payroll of $2 million. Plans call for it to be expanded in the next three to five years, increasing the size of the work force to 600 persons. The plant will also provide a market for local pulp wood.

Will Study Sales Tax

The Poughkeepsie Common Council must reenact a city sales tax by August 1, if it wishes to continue such a local tax in addition to the state sales tax, slated to start on that date. Alderman Forrest L. Cousens, assistant mayor of Poughkeepsie, said that if a study undertaken by the council shows that no cut should be made in the current 2 per cent tax, a law will be proposed to keep the full tax. If, however, the study shows that a reduction to 1 per cent is possible, then a city law will be passed to that effect.

Suggests World Treaty To Guarantee Rights

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg says the United States should take the lead in implementing an international treaty to guarantee the fundamental rights of man.

"There is no sovereign right of any state, large or small, to deny the fundamental rights of "man" he said Wednesday night at the annual honors convocation at Syracuse University.

The treaty he proposed, he said, would implement a declaration drafted by the United Nations almost 20 years ago.

Without such a treaty, Goldberg declared, the UN document "amounts to only a manifesto, a statement of high and lofty ideals."

He rejected the contention that such a treaty would undermine the sovereignty and independence of participating nations.

The proposed international bill of rights, Goldberg said, would mirror the U.S. Bill of Rights.

Goldberg received an honorary doctor of laws degree at the convocation.

PTA of Nation Pouring Books Into Appalachia

CHICAGO (AP) — Because Jennelle Moorhead felt that time doesn't wait for a child, a tide of books is pouring into Louisville, Ky.

The books are destined for the one- and two-room schoolhouses of Appalachia, "where the wind whistles through the cracks in the walls" and there are few libraries, Mrs. Moorhead said.

Mrs. Moorhead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said in an interview at PTA headquarters in Chicago that she hopes the total of books will reach a million by June 15.

The books include children's classics and reference works "that will really open the eyes of youngsters to the outside world," she said.

The national PTA has enlisted the cooperation of its 47,000 local units, the federal government, private enterprise and a group of 1,200 Kentucky college students who call themselves the Appalachian Volunteers.

Mrs. Moorhead, of Eugene, Ore., said Books for Appalachia had become a reality when "I went to Washington Dec. 12 to talk to R. Sargent Shriver — chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity — about the role the PTA might play in helping disadvantaged children."

"He talked to me about the need for boks in Appalachia," said Mrs. Moorhead, 61.

"While the aid to Appalachia bill will aid the economy, time dossn't wait for a child. If they don't have books and supplies for today, then the days are gone very rapidly," she said.

In February the National PTA mailed the local PTA's book lists, bright colored shipping labels and blueprints for the shiping crates that hold 10 books and later serve as bookcases.

Local PTA's begged, borrowed and bought books. PTA fathers hamered the boxes together. The Railway Express Agency, Inc., offered a special rate—$1.95 each to ship the 50-pound crates to Louisvile from anywhere in the United States.

The PTA's efforts have not gone unappreciated. When the first shipments arrived, said Mrs. Morhead, a University of Oregon health education professor, 'the children were overjoyed — and the teachers were, too.'

Police Seeking Motive in Murder Of Ringling Clown

NEW YORK (AP) — An Easter holiday crowd of thousands in Madison Square Garden roared with laughter at the slapstick antics of the circus clowns, unaware that the top clown was missing.

At the same time, the bludgeoned body of Paul Jung, 64, chief clown of the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, was found in his hotel room a half block away.

A circus official had gone to the hotel when Jung failed to appear for the morning show Wednesday. A bell captain found the body.

Clad in pajamas, it was under a bed spread. His hands were tied behind him, his head and face bashed in.

"I never knew Paul to have an enemy in the circus and he's been with us since 1917," said circus executive Henry Ringling North. "He was the guy everybody liked."

Police today still sought a motive. Thirty detectives were assigned. They questioned 15 other circus performers who lived at the same hotel. Hundreds more were questioned in the gaudy backstage of the cavernous Garden while the afternoon show went on.

There was no sign of a struggle in the hotel room and no weapon was found. There were eight full cans of beer in the room although Jung didn't drink.

Police were checking stores in the neighborhood, hoping to learn who had bought the beer.

The motive did not seem to be robbery, although Jung had made much money from the gag gadgets he designed for circuses all over the world.

In Tampa, Jung's wife of 2 years said she couldn't imagine why he was murdered.

Born in Dayton, Ohio, Jung had joined a circus at the age of 8, and had become an apprentice clown at 34.

Bardo and his brother operated the station.

Fishkill Man Is 10th Road Victim, 7 Others Hurt

BEACON, N.Y. (AP) — John V. Wierzbicki, 25, of Fishkill, was killed Wednesday night in a three-car crash on Route 9D near here. Seven others were injured.

His death was the 10th traffic fatality recorded in Dutchess County this year.

State Police said Wierzbicki's car was trying to pass on a curve a southbound car driven by Kenneth Hall, 19, of Fishkill, when it smashed into a northbound car driven by Margaret Elwell of Wappingers Falls.

His death was the 10th traffic fatality recorded in Dutchess County this year.

Dutchess School Windows Smashed

Approximately 300 windows in the Wappingers Junior High School were smashed by vandals early Wednesday causing damage estimated at $1,000. Fishkill state police are investigating.

Superintendent E. Joseph Kegan said the windows were broken with rocks and boards. The intruders also entered the first floor science room and set fire to two paper towels wrapped around a ruler.

The broken windows were found throughout the first floor area.

Two windows in the nearby home of Francis Weatherbee, 15 Maple Avenue, Wappingers Falls, an art teacher, were also broken.

Hurley Vols Open Training, Drill Schedule Monday

The 1965 Fire Training and Drill schedule for Hurley Volunteer Fire Company 1 was announced today by Chief Kenneth Cudney.

Providing a streamlined course in basic firemenship, the schedule is designed to improve and increase the effectiveness of fire protection in Hurley Fire District. Essentials of firemanship will be stressed, with the emphasis placed on the proper and safe operation of all equipment.

Drills will start at 6:30 p. m. and will end at 8:30 p. m. on the following schedule: April 26, Basic Orientation; May 10, Hose and Tanker; May 24, Hose and Scott-Pak; June 14, Ladder Drill; June 28, Hose and Drafting; July 12, Radio and Salvage; July 26, Simulated Response; August 9, Inter-Company Drill.

In addition to the individual drills above, an all-day drill will be held on Saturday, May 22, from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. and will include all subjects previously noted. Lunch will be provided by the Hurley Fire Auxiliary.

Chief Cudney stressed the continuing need for training noting that the increased growth of population in Hurley in the past few years has placed more responsibility than ever before on Hurley Volunteer Fire Company No. 1. This responsibility is best met by a well-trained, well-manned fire company.

Otisville Driver Held

James Bowman, Box 302, Otisville, was picked up by Ellenville state police Wednesday and charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was remanded to jail for a hearing before Town of Wawarsing Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel tonight. Troopers R. Dempsey and S. Kowalik of the Ellenville station reported Bowman was traveling south on Route 209 about a mile south of Ellenville when his car left the road and struck several guard posts. He was uninjured.

He Has to Be Tough

Director of Budget Is A Major Capital Post

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — In this administration the director of the Bureau of the Budget is one of the most influential and important men in Washington.

The professor picked by President Johnson to become budget director in June, Charles L. Schultze, 40, is a witty, gentle-spoken economist who helped develop some of the basic concepts of modern U.S. budget-making.

Is he also tough enough to knock bureaucrats' heads together when the public purse needs protecting? "I hope so," Schultze told an interviewer.

"I've had 2½ years of learning how to be tough. From now on I'll have to be tougher, I guess."

The 2½ years were spent as assistant budget director. Schultze left that post only two months ago to resume his academic career at the University of Maryland.

Even before that stint he had learned the bureaucratic ropes. Schultze spent most of the 1950s, except for one year at the University of Indiana, on the staff of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, under Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

By fellow aconomists he is widely esteemed as one of the group which evolved the concepts of "fiscal drag" and "full employment surplus." The theories were put to a massive test in the $11.6-billion tax cut last year.

It once was customary to measure how much the government stimulated or retarded the economy by the view on the government deficit or surplus, respectively. Schultze helped establish the idea that the true measure is how large the deficit or surplus would be if the economy were running at the ful employment level.

Asked to explain it as if he were teaching a freshman class, Schultze paused a moment, then began: "Imagine a situation in which the government had a very high tax rate compared with its expenditures. At full employment there theoretically would be a big federal surplus.

"But because you are trying to run such a large surplus, a drag sets in. You are taking too much out of the economy in revenues, so you never get to full employment, and you never get the big surplus."

So the Schultze idea of how to reach full employment is, in efect, to calculate what full employment would do to government outlays and tax collections, and then try to adjust fiscal policy to achieve the result desired.

When President Johnson asked him to succeed Budget ector Kermit Gordon, who is resigning to become vice president of the Brookings Institution, Schultze stipulated that he'd have to stay with his classes until June.

He is pleased at the new challenge, but: "It will be a grind, not so much physically as psychologicaly. Making the decisions is tougher than being on the staff.'

As one of six member agencies of the United Service Organizations (USO), the YWCA-USO at latest yearly count had an aggregate attendance of military personnel and dependents totaling 1,643,885.

Contrary to popular belief, bats are not entirely blind. But because their eyesight is poor these flying mammals depend entirely upon their supersensitive hearing which acts as a kind of radar system to guide them. Bats destroy billions of insects every night throughout the world. In some far eastern cultures, far from being feared, they are a symbol of good fortune and happiness and are often sketched on greeting cards sent to friends.

The 2½ years were spent as assistant budget director. Schultze left that post only two months ago to resume his academic career at the University of Maryland.

Even before that stint he had learned the bureaucratic ropes. Schultze spent most of the 1950s, except for one year at the University of Indiana, on the staff of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, under Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

By fellow aconomists he is widely esteemed as one of the group which evolved the concepts of "fiscal drag" and "full employment surplus." The theories were put to a massive test in the $11.6-billion tax cut last year.

It once was customary to measure how much the government stimulated or retarded the economy by the view on the government deficit or surplus, respectively. Schultze helped establish the idea that the true measure is how large the deficit or surplus would be if the economy were running at the full employment level.

Asked to explain it as if he were teaching a freshman class, Schultze paused a moment, then began: "Imagine a situation in which the government had a very high tax rate compared with its expenditures. At full employment there theoretically would be a big federal surplus.

"But because you are trying to run such a large surplus, a drag sets in. You are taking too much out of the economy in revenues, so you never get to full employment, and you never get the big surplus."

So the Schultze idea of how to reach full employment is, in efect, to calculate what full employment would do to government outlays and tax collections, and then try to adjust fiscal policy to achieve the result desired.

When President Johnson asked him to succeed Budget ector Kermit Gordon, who is resigning to become vice president of the Brookings Institution, Schultze stipulated that he'd have to stay with his classes until June.

He is pleased at the new challenge, but: "It will be a grind, not so much physically as psychologicaly. Making the decisions is tougher than being on the staff.'

As one of six member agencies of the United Service Organizations (USO), the YWCA-USO at latest yearly count had an aggregate attendance of military personnel and dependents totaling 1,643,885.

matter of fact

Contrary to popular belief, bats are not entirely blind. But because their eyesight is poor these flying mammals depend entirely upon their supersensitive hearing which acts as a kind of radar system to guide them. Bats destroy billions of insects every night throughout the world. In some far eastern cultures, far from being feared, they are a symbol of good fortune and happiness and are often sketched on greeting cards sent to friends.

Lewis R. Wilson, Lone Bidder, Gets Truck Contract

Woodstock Garage, the lone bidder, has been awarded the contract to furnish the Town of Woodstock with two Ford F-600 model trucks.

Lewis R. Wilson's combined bid of $8,350.00, as per specifications, was unanimously accepted by the four members of the board present at the April meeting. Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux was absent because of illness.

Town of Woodstock is standardized for Ford trucks and Walter snow plows and equipment.

In other action by the board: Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 was granted use of town hall for a county firemen's meeting on Tuesday, May 18. Since this is the town board's regular meeting night, the board will meet in the firemen's rooms.

League of Women Voters was granted use of town hall for an information meeting on Tuesday, April 27.

Request Hearings

A Chamber of Commerce letter to the board requested that the board hold more than one public hearing on zoning before the ordinance is accepted or rejected. The request was tabled for later action.

A letter from Doctor's Ambulance of Kingston commended the fire company, its auxiliary and other local officials for their cooperation in the recent plane crash incident in Woodstock.

Permission was granted the Manorska Dance Studios to use town hall for a dance recital on Sunday, June 13 and for rehearsals on June 5 and possibly June 12.

Delay in Zoning

Justice Baumgarten reported that the firm of Beck and Ewig had not filed an opinion with the board on the legality of the proposed ordinance. As soon as such opinion is received, Baumgarten said, the board will set a date for the formal hearing required by law.

The board received an application for appointment as constable from William E. Waterous, local taxi operator. It was accepted pending his approval by the Ulster County sheriff's department.

A trailer permit was granted George Washington to erect a trailer on Library Lane.

Census Salaries Amount to $699

Salaries for the special census enumerators fell just short of $700 — the final figure was $699.92, it was announced at the town board meeting.

Payments were made as follows:

Mrs. Jean Baumgarten, crew chief, $66.18; Natalie Sonnenberg $149.21; Genese Gavin, $97.57; Merrill Smith, $100.98; Mary Graham $125.90; Donna Oberkirch, $115.41; Charlotte Lander, $44.67.

Performing Arts Announce Plans For May 29 Ball

With the advent of the spring season, the Performing Arts of Woodstock announces its plans for a semi-formal ball to be held on Saturday, May 29.

"The Coming of Spring," which is expected to be a highlight of Woodstock's social calendar, is under the co-chairmanship of Bertha Kricker and Anne Williams. Aiding in the preparations are Martha France, assistant to the chairman; Gloria Criscimagna, decorations; Jo Chalmers, entertainment; and Bob Denning and Diane Rolleston, publicity.

The gala will be held at the Woodstock Estates at 9 p. m.

The affair will serve the twofold purpose of providing an evening of good food, dancing, and excellent dramatic entertainment for those who attend, plus establishing a foundation for P.A.W.'s much-needed building fund.

Persons interested in the ball should contact Mrs. James Williams, 44 Overlook Drive, Woodstock.

Name 7 Members Of Rec Committee

Named were Mrs. Jane Allen, Fred Strassberg and Mike Earnest.

Holdover members are Ted Goddard, Sara Mulligan, Robert Breitenstein and Kermit Schwarz.

No chairman was named because of the absence of Supervisor Molyneaux. Breitenstein was chairman of the 1964 committee, but resigned before his term expired.

Mrs. Marge Harder, town clerk, was named secretary-treasurer.

Baumgarten at Justice School

Justice of the Peace Rudi Baumgarten of the Town of Woodstock was one of more than 90 trainees, (including Justices of the Peace, police justices and other persons interested in justice court work), in attendance at a judicial training program. The program was the third annual Spring Justice Training Program sponsored by the Judicial Conference and held at Albany Law School.

Classes were held from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays for three weekends commencing March 26, 1965 and covered such topics as: criminal and civil procedure; treatment of youthful offenders; elements of common crimes; the rules of evidence; vehicle and traffic law violations and the procedure for their disposition.

In addition, advanced training in the field of evidence was offered to experienced justices. The trainees observed court room procedure demonstrations covering both criminal and civil trials. An actual radar demonstration was conducted to familiarize the trainees with the technical problems involved in radar cases. Cooperating state agencies counseled the trainees on the methods and procedures to be observed in filing reports of convictions and fines and fees collected by the justices.

The instructors and lecturers were selected by the Judicial Conference and included law school professors, practicing attorneys active in justice court work, and experienced justices.

Change in Dues Proposed by CC

A proposed change in the dues structure of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce received its first reading at the April meeting.

The new rates would be $25 for places of public entertainment and accommodation, and $20 general membership. Under the proposed setup the additional charge for the information center would be eliminated. The proposal must have two readings before it can be acted on by the membership.

Two new directors were elected —Mrs. Sara Springer and Louis Feinberg. Mrs. Kiki Godwin Miner-vini was re-elected. Other members of the board are: William VandenDooren, president; Harry Alpern, vice president; William West Sr., Gordon Anderson, treasurer; Richard O. Langham, secretary, and Irving Kalish.

The directors will meet prior to the May meeting to elect line officers for 1965-66.

Koesters Purchase Ice Cream Parlor

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koester of Van Wagner Road in Willow, have purchased Dot's Ice Cream Parlor and opened for business on April 15. At present they are serving breakfast and luncheon and later will add a delicatessen line.

Mrs. Koester is well known as Edna to the many customers of Houst's, where she has been employed for several years.

Overlook Play Highly Praised

We like to believe that Woodstock has its own uniquely artistic way of keeping the seasons. That belief was strengthened during last week's Easter observances by the presentation of "Christ in the Concrete City" Good Friday evening in the Overlook Methodist Church.

This offering of P. W. Turner's religious drama by the Senior High Methodist Youth Fellowship was a beautiful and impressive performance.

The production was admirable and the play very interesting; but we must in all sincerity say "Christ in the Concrete City" was disappointing as religious drama. In the Theatre, church drama has the greatest opportunity to exalt the spirit, to enlarge the understanding of life's spiritual struggles, and to create closer fellowship between man and his God. We feel British playwright Turner did not avail himself of this opportunity.

We judge the drama, of course, in the light of our personal beliefs and find the author's premise in "Christ in the Concrete City" unacceptable. Mr. Turner makes the mistake so many of our modern playwrights and writers make: he castigates everbody (in this case, all Christians) and strives to saddle every man with an unnecessary and unreasonable guilt. We wonder if Mr. Turner knows why Christ lived and died; he certainly forgets that Christ's Passion was foreordained. We could discuss Mr. Turner's theme at great length and others would disagree with us; all of which indicates that "Christ in the Concrete City" is really a controversial drama—and quite a modern one at that.

Yet the play is interesting and holds one's attention, for Mr. Turner is a skilled craftsman. He employs a cast of six which alternates as narrator-chorus and as the characters needed in the various scenes of Christ's Passion and of modern city life. He writes well; there is poetry in the choral passages and stirring drama in the scene depicting Christ's final days and death. Still, with all this and other nice points, the play ends without hope, abruptly leaving us at "the mercy of God" —a God whom Mr. Turner has certainly not portrayed as merciful in the drama.

Therefore, all our praise is for the splendid way in which the play was produced and performed. We enjoyed the sensitive direction of Mrs. John R. Lyons and the expressive speech and performances of the young actors, all members of MYF. We delighted in the beautiful groupings and the smooth way in which these pictures were created in the interplay of chorus and acting; we will remember the scene before Pilate and the Crucifixtion with its powerful dialogue hammering into mind and conscience the tragedy of that event.

Finally, we were surprised, most happily, to find in this local performance that rare quality, ensemble—the quality that gives the audience the play it came to see, not a display of individulals acting; and, in saying this, we believe we give the greatest compliment to Mrs. Lyons and her cast—Stephen Mercer, Jeffery Vredenburg, Harry Miller, Lewis Arlt, Nancy Ruff, and Gwen Miller. The compliment must, of course, be extended to include the production staff — Ronald Hutchinson as stage manager, John Secor for lighting and Ronald Lyon for sound. Our appreciation, also, to the ushers and to everyone else who assisted in this noteworthy performance.

We believe that Woodstock is truly appreciative of its talent and sincerely interested in cultivating the performing arts; therefore, we anticipate hearing that this first performance of church drama is not the last— EDA CRIST.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I were engaged last summer with plans to be married on June 6th. His mother passed away very suddenly two weeks ago and now we are wondering if we should go through with our original plans for the wedding. We planned to have it in our church with a large reception and wedding dance afterwards. His two sisters were going to be my bridesmaids, but now they don't think they should. His side of the family had relatives come in from both coasts for the funeral and now some of them say they can't come back again in June for our wedding. I am so upset. What do you think we ought to do? His father thinks if we want a big wedding with a lot of merrymaking, we should put it off a year. Or else have a very quiet ceremony in June as scheduled. What is proper.

PLANS DASHED

DEAR PLANS: Under the circumstances, there should be a minimum of merrymaking, if you marry, as scheduled in June. Let your clergyman help you revise your plans. He will know what is "proper."

DEAR ABBY: Can a single girl wreck a home, if it is not really a "home" in the true sense of the word, but merely a "peaceful co-existence?"

LIZETTE

DEAR LIZETTE: Let's not quibble about the choice of words. A single girl CAN wreck a "peaceful co-existence"—which amounts to the same thing.

DEAR ABBY: We have a five-year-old retarded son who is living at a school for the retarded. We tried very hard to make him happy with us yet keep him from completely dominating our home, but it was impossible since he was hyperactve. I came close to a nervous breakdown, as I have four normal children besides him to care for. I saw him for the first time Sunday, after a required three-week waiting period For the first time in his life he looked "beautiful." The strain of living with a normal family had kept a pinched, unhappy look on his face. The easy atmosphere of living with his equals had let his true personality come out and he appeared comfortable and relaxed. And happy! I had grieved needlessly for five years. (I knew something was wrong at birth.) I am so thankful there is such a wonderful place for my boy to live. If this helps other families to make the decision I finally made you have my permission to use my letter.

Arlington Girl Drowns in Pool

A 5-year-old Arlington girl, Tammi Christine Hines, daughter of Joseph and Madeline Hines of 95 North Grand Avenue, Town of Poughkeepsie, was drowned Wednesday afternoon when she fell into the family swimming pool.

Town of Poughkeepsie police reported the Arlington Fire Department had been called at 5:13 p. m. to the Hines home to give first aid. The little girl had apparently been riding her bicycle around the pool on a two and half foot wide cement path that bordered the pool when she fell in. The water at that point was seven feet deep. She was removed from the pool by her father and attempts made to revive her. Despite the efforts of firemen and police she was pronounced dead at 5:35 by Dr. Chester Golding, medical examiner. A preliminary verdict of death from drowning was given.

An ambulance from St. Francis Hospital was also at the scene with medical aid. Town of Poughkeepsie police conducted an investigation.

Lewis R. Wilson, Lone Bidder, Gets Truck Contract

Woodstock Garage, the lone bidder, has been awarded the contract to furnish the Town of Woodstock with two Ford F-600 model trucks.

Lewis R. Wilson's combined bid of $8,350.00, as per specifications, was unanimously accepted by the four members of the board present at the April meeting. Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux was absent because of illness.

Town of Woodstock is standardized for Ford trucks and Walter snow plows and equipment.

In other action by the board: Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 was granted use of town hall for a county firemen's meeting on Tuesday, May 18. Since this is the town board's regular meeting night, the board will meet in the firemen's rooms.

League of Women Voters was granted use of town hall for an information meeting on Tuesday, April 27.

Request Hearings

A Chamber of Commerce letter to the board requested that the board hold more than one public hearing on zoning before the ordinance is accepted or rejected. The request was tabled for later action.

A letter from Doctor's Ambulance of Kingston commended the fire company, its auxiliary and other local officials for their cooperation in the recent plane crash incident in Woodstock.

Permission was granted the Manorska Dance Studios to use town hall for a dance recital on Sunday, June 13 and for rehearsals on June 5 and possibly June 12.

Delay in Zoning

Justice Baumgarten reported that the firm of Beck and Ewig had not filed an opinion with the board on the legality of the proposed ordinance. As soon as such opinion is received, Baumgarten said, the board will set a date for the formal hearing required by law.

The board received an application for appointment as constable from William E. Waterous, local taxi operator. It was accepted pending his approval by the Ulster County sheriff's department.

A trailer permit was granted George Washington to erect a trailer on Library Lane.

Census Salaries Amount to $699

Salaries for the special census enumerators fell just short of $700 — the final figure was $699.92, it was announced at the town board meeting.

Payments were made as follows:

Mrs. Jean Baumgarten, crew chief, $66.18; Natalie Sonnenberg $149.21; Genese Gavin, $97.57; Merrill Smith, $100.98; Mary Graham $125.90; Donna Oberkirch, $115.41; Charlotte Lander, $44.67.

Performing Arts Announce Plans For May 29 Ball

With the advent of the spring season, the Performing Arts of Woodstock announces its plans for a semi-formal ball to be held on Saturday, May 29.

"The Coming of Spring," which is expected to be a highlight of Woodstock's social calendar, is under the co-chairmanship of Bertha Kricker and Anne Williams. Aiding in the preparations are Martha France, assistant to the chairman; Gloria Criscimagna, decorations; Jo Chalmers, entertainment; and Bob Denning and Diane Rolleston, publicity.

The gala will be held at the Woodstock Estates at 9 p. m.

The affair will serve the twofold purpose of providing an evening of good food, dancing, and excellent dramatic entertainment for those who attend, plus establishing a foundation for P.A.W.'s much-needed building fund.

Persons interested in the ball should contact Mrs. James Williams, 44 Overlook Drive, Woodstock.

Name 7 Members Of Rec Committee

Named were Mrs. Jane Allen, Fred Strassberg and Mike Earnest.

Holdover members are Ted Goddard, Sara Mulligan, Robert Breitenstein and Kermit Schwarz.

No chairman was named because of the absence of Supervisor Molyneaux. Breitenstein was chairman of the 1964 committee, but resigned before his term expired.

Mrs. Marge Harder, town clerk, was named secretary-treasurer.

Baumgarten at Justice School

Justice of the Peace Rudi Baumgarten of the Town of Woodstock was one of more than 90 trainees, (including Justices of the Peace, police justices and other persons interested in justice court work), in attendance at a judicial training program. The program was the third annual Spring Justice Training Program sponsored by the Judicial Conference and held at Albany Law School.

Classes were held from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays for three weekends commencing March 26, 1965 and covered such topics as: criminal and civil procedure; treatment of youthful offenders; elements of common crimes; the rules of evidence; vehicle and traffic law violations and the procedure for their disposition.

In addition, advanced training in the field of evidence was offered to experienced justices. The trainees observed court room procedure demonstrations covering both criminal and civil trials. An actual radar demonstration was conducted to familiarize the trainees with the technical problems involved in radar cases. Cooperating state agencies counseled the trainees on the methods and procedures to be observed in filing reports of convictions and fines and fees collected by the justices.

The instructors and lecturers were selected by the Judicial Conference and included law school professors, practicing attorneys active in justice court work, and experienced justices.

Change in Dues Proposed by CC

A proposed change in the dues structure of the Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce received its first reading at the April meeting.

The new rates would be $25 for places of public entertainment and accommodation, and $20 general membership. Under the proposed setup the additional charge for the information center would be eliminated. The proposal must have two readings before it can be acted on by the membership.

Two new directors were elected —Mrs. Sara Springer and Louis Feinberg. Mrs. Kiki Godwin Miner-vini was re-elected. Other members of the board are: William VandenDooren, president; Harry Alpern, vice president; William West Sr., Gordon Anderson, treasurer; Richard O. Langham, secretary, and Irving Kalish.

The directors will meet prior to the May meeting to elect line officers for 1965-66.

Koesters Purchase Ice Cream Parlor

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koester of Van Wagner Road in Willow, have purchased Dot's Ice Cream Parlor and opened for business on April 15. At present they are serving breakfast and luncheon and later will add a delicatessen line.

Mrs. Koester is well known as Edna to the many customers of Houst's, where she has been employed for several years.

Dear Abby . . .

Properly Concerned

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I were engaged last summer with plans to be married on June 6th. His mother passed away very suddenly two weeks ago and now we are wondering if we should go through with our original plans for the wedding. We planned to have it in our church with a large reception and wedding dance afterwards. His two sisters were going to be my bridesmaids, but now they don't think they should. His side of the family had relatives come in from both coasts for the funeral and now some of them say they can't come back again in June for our wedding. I am so upset. What do you think we ought to do? His father thinks if we want a big wedding with a lot of merrymaking, we should put it off a year. Or else have a very quiet ceremony in June as scheduled. What is proper.

PLANS DASHED

DEAR PLANS: Under the circumstances, there should be a minimum of merrymaking, if you marry, as scheduled in June. Let your clergyman help you revise your plans. He will know what is "proper."

DEAR ABBY: Can a single girl wreck a home, if it is not really a "home" in the true sense of the word, but merely a "peaceful co-existence?"

LIZETTE

DEAR LIZETTE: Let's not quibble about the choice of words. A single girl CAN wreck a "peaceful co-existence"—which amounts to the same thing.

DEAR ABBY: We have a five-year-old retarded son who is living at a school for the retarded. We tried very hard to make him happy with us yet keep him from completely dominating our home, but it was impossible since he was hyperactve. I came close to a nervous breakdown, as I have four normal children besides him to care for. I saw him for the first time Sunday, after a required three-week waiting period For the first time in his life he looked "beautiful." The strain of living with a normal family had kept a pinched, unhappy look on his face. The easy atmosphere of living with his equals had let his true personality come out and he appeared comfortable and relaxed. And happy! I had grieved needlessly for five years. (I knew something was wrong at birth.) I am so thankful there is such a wonderful place for my boy to live. If this helps other families to make the decision I finally made you have my permission to use my letter.

Arlington Girl Drowns in Pool

A 5-year-old Arlington girl, Tammi Christine Hines, daughter of Joseph and Madeline Hines of 95 North Grand Avenue, Town of Poughkeepsie, was drowned Wednesday afternoon when she fell into the family swimming pool.

Town of Poughkeepsie police reported the Arlington Fire Department had been called at 5:13 p. m. to the Hines home to give first aid. The little girl had apparently been riding her bicycle around the pool on a two and half foot wide cement path that bordered the pool when she fell in. The water at that point was seven feet deep. She was removed from the pool by her father and attempts made to revive her. Despite the efforts of firemen and police she was pronounced dead at 5:35 by Dr. Chester Golding, medical examiner. A preliminary verdict of death from drowning was given.

An ambulance from St. Francis Hospital was also at the scene with medical aid. Town of Poughkeepsie police conducted an investigation.

Don't Leave Arm Behind

Save Man First, But Pick Up Limb, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You're driving along and you pass the scene of an accident.

A man is lying beside the highway. Nearby is an arm.

What do you do?

"Save the man first — but don't go off without his arm," says Dr. J. Vernon Luck, medical director of Orthopaedic Hospital. "There's a good chance the arm can be restored to use.'

Dr. Luck told a news conference Wednesday that he believes the medical profession — because of advances in blood vessel and nerve surgery — now is "obligated at least to try to restore severed or crushed extremities.'

Robert Orona, 64, was run over by a spike-studded earth tamper Aug. 24, 1961. His arm was virtualy severed except for a thin strip of skin and two nerves.

Through bone, blood vessel and nerve grafting, the arm was restored to almost full use. Orona held a chair over his head, demonstrating the grasp in his left hand, and told newsmen he could feed and dress himself and even drive a car.

Dr. Luck said that in event of limb loss in an accident the first thing to do is stop the bleding.

"Then find the severed limb and try to get it on ice," he said. "Send the limb along to the hospital in the ambulance and there's a good chance it can be restored.

'Almost every city nowadays has men who can do this work if they have the chance."

alderman, felt that most of the statements or objections listed in the report of the Housing and Home Finance Agency on the uptown project, were minor and could be resolved, but one of major consequence dealt with solution of a flood problem in the Murphy Street area of the up town project. Action toward solving that, he noted, was in progress.

Naccarato also felt the aldermen should have been informed about salary raises granted UR personnel. Yerry explained that some were granted because of the combination of jobs, and said he knows of no law requiring that the council be informed of such raises. However, he said, if the aldermen asked for such information, he saw no reason why it should not be given.

Last night's heavy agenda also prevented the election of a permanent agency chairman to succeed Bernard A. Feeney Sr., who recently resigned.

The agency discussed, with Raymond & May Associates, local planning consultants, the model of the uptown project being prepared, and a new brochure, which is to be distributed soon.

were found shot to death Wednesday.

—In Vancouver, B.C., police Wednesday found the bodies of Leonard Hogue, a Vancouver policeman, his wife and their six children in their suburban home in Coquitlam, "We are assuming the man shot the other members of the family and then committed suicide," a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said. The children were between 3 and 13 years old.

— In Newark, N.J., the police director said Wednesday night an investigation was underway to determine whether Arthur Sherod, 37, had threatened to kill his family shortly before his car crashed into a truck, fatally injuring his wife and seven of their children Tuesday night.

Will Heat Up

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 14-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission got off to a harmonious start Wednesday, but fireworks are expected Monday when the United States and the Soviet Union lead off the debate.

The Soviet Union asked for the commission meeting — the first since 1960 — and is expected to use the session for an attack on American policy in Viet Nam.

Guerrillas . .

planned to keep pushing and maintain contact with the Reds as long as possible.

The Marines this week began moving out of their defense perimeter at the air base for the first time, looking for the enemy and distributing propaganda leaflets, candy and chewing gum in the surrounding villages.

This morning a reconnaissance patrol of 41 Marines was moving through Viet Cong-infested country, accompanied by 30 Vietnamese militiamen, six civil affairs officers and two Vietnamese interpreters.

Soon after dawn they arrived at Binh Thai hamlet and learned that anti-American Viet Cong leaflets were being distributed. The villagers confirmed that guerrillas were in the area.

Call Up Reserves

At 8:20 a.m. the beating of a drum in the distance sounded a Viet Cong alarm. At 10:15, heavy enemy machine-gun fire began coming in from all directions.

The Marines, who had been hoping to get into a fight, quickly replied to the fire and called for the reserve company. They arrived in 30 minutes.

With Viet Cong fire blazing over the landing area, the reconnaissance company commander, Capt. Pat Collins of Grosse Ile, Mich., ran out into the field alone to guide the helicopters in.

Radioman Hit

Just as the choppers arrived, a sniper bullet wounded a Marine radioman. He was evacuated for hospitalization but apparently was in good condition.

In the air war, U.S. planes kept up their attacks every few hours on travel routes in Communist North Viet Nam. Two teams of two U.S. Navy Skyraiders attacked two truck convoys Wednesday night and reported a total of two trucks destroyed and four damaged. The Navy said the four planes returned safely and the pilots encountered no antiaircraft fire or enemy aircraft.

New, Faster Vessels

Sources in Washington said as a result of the military strategy meeting in Honolulu this week, the United States is expected to give the South Vietnamese navy new and faster patrol vessels to reinforce its fleet of 550 armed junks that is trying to check the Communist infiltration of men and arms by sea from North Viet Nam.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced after the Honolulu conference that military aid for South Viet Nam will be increased from $207 million to $330 million in the current fiscal year.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returned to Saigon today from the Honolulu meeting.

Red China's leaders rejected the appeal from 17 nonaligned nations for unconditional talks to end the Viet Nam War. The official Peking People's Daily said the appeal "completely caters to the interests of U.S. imperialism and has become a shield in the hands of the Johnson administration to ward off worldwide condemnation of U.S. crimes of aggression."

North Viet Nam rejected the appeal earlier. The Chinese said they supported North Viet Nam's demand for "withdrawal of foreign military personnel" as one of four conditions for any settlement.

President Johnson's special envoy on South Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, called today on Philippine Foreign Secretary Mauro Mendez and leaders of the Philippine Congress. After meetings with other Philippine officials, Lodge leaves Manila Friday for Taipei.

After conferring with Lodge Wednesday night, Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal said in a statement that the fall of South Viet Nam to the Communists would be disastrous for Southeast Asia, including the Philippines.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied irregularly early this afternoon. Trading was active.

International oils, airlines, aerospace stocks as well as some drugs, chemicals and nonferrous metals joined in the recovery move from Wednesday's decline.

Steels were a little lower, affected by increasing doubt over the prospects of a steel strike.

Motors, rubbers, building materials and electronics were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 338.6 with industrials up 1.1, rails off .4 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.15 at 912.86.

Texaco and Royal Dutch rose well over a point and Jersey Standard tacked on about a point.

Sport Shop, Fair Street, was reported. Police found marks indicating an attempt had been made to pry open a door there.

A report Wednesday afternoon noted that the car of Joseph J. May, of 44 West Union Street, had been entered while it was parked in an uptown lot and tools valued at $250 were taken.

Police were notified at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday that fishing tackle valued at nearly $100 had been taken from the car of Edward J. Standt, of 2 Hewitt Place while it was parked on North Street.

A report this morning said nine dozen Spiesman Bakery rolls had been stolen from in front of three Broadway restaurants.

Debate Slated In Senate on Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debate opens in the Senate today on President Johnson's voting rights bill. Democratic and Republican leaders are talking of passage in two to four weeks and Southerners aren't talking about a filibuster.

"There will be a lot of talk to educate the people over the country," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. But Ellender, a spokesman for the Southerners, said nothing about a filibuster and Senate leaders think they have the votes to throttle one should it develop.

The Southerners planned to review their strategy at a meeting prior to the Senate session. Many of them are convinced that the steps the legislation would have Washington take to ensure Negroes' voting rights are unconstitutional. But they clearly are in a minority and may have to direct their fire at specific provisions rather than at the bill itself.

The legislation emerged from the Senate Judiciary Committee a lot tougher than the bill proposed originally by the President and fashioned by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

It is being managed on the floor by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a staunch supporter of civil rights legislation who shows no disposition to yield on the amendments added to the bill in committee to make it stronger.

The Johnson administration proposed a ban on voter tests in states where less than 50 per cent of the adult population registered or voted last November. The federal government could take over the registration of voters.

In the committee, civil rights forces added two significant amendments: A ban on poll tax payments as a requirement for voting in state and local elections; extension of the bill's coverage to any county, regardless of whether it has a literacy test, in which less than 25 per cent of voting age Negroes are registered.

Katzenbach advised the committee not to adopt the amendments and Dirksen wants both eliminated. He claims the poll tax provision is unconstitutional and that no accurate figures are available on Negro voter registration.

By a one vote margin, Dirksen got the committee to adopt his amendment to exempt states and counties from coverage if more than 60 per cent of their adults were registered and if they proved to a federal court in Washington they are not engaged in discriminatory denial of voting rights.

Mischief Charges

Two teenagers charged with removing traffic and caution signs from local streets were charged with malicious mischief early today. They are Marc Johnson, 17, of 11 West Chester Street, and Robert Fertel, 17, of 95 West Chestnut Street, who, police said, removed caution signs from an excavation, plus no-parking and stop signs from streets. Police had received calls concerning their alleged action and officers Lewis Keator and Booth Pendell with Detective Gurnsey Burger were dispatched to investigate. The arrest was by the latter after the two were located on Highland Avenue. City Court hearing today was put over to May 1. They were paroled in the custody of their parents.

White Paper Due

LONDON (AP) — The British Labor government is expected to issue a White Paper Monday outlining its plans for steel nationalization, the most controversial part of its program.

The postwar Labor government nationalized the steel industry in 1951 by setting up a corporation which bought steel stocks from the public. They were sold back to the public when the Conservatives took power later that year.

Q) "In 1951, I invested $5,000 in AT&T, Consolidated Edison and General Electric. Of course, I am delighted that my stocks are now worth $17,000. Some of my friends told me that at present favorable prices, they were selling all their stocks and putting the money in the savings bank at higher interest rates. Do you think I should do the same thing? I already have a savings account, get Social Security and veterans' pension."

A.Y.

A) You should certainly be commended for investing your money so shrewdly. In a sense, you have answered your own question. If you had put the $5,000 in a savings account in 1951, your capital would still be $5,000, instead of increasing in value 240 per cent as it has in your stocks. It is perfectly true that all stocks fluctuate and you could avoid that risk by putting your funds in the bank. If your savings account is inadequate for all possible contingencies, I would sell one-half of General Electric and build it up. Otherwise, I would sit tight.

Q) "As a young dentist getting my debts paid off, I am interested in learning something about investing money. Can you suggest some practical way to do this?"

A) Learning to invest money successfully is a tough pob. It involves developing a sense of values which some men never acquire even after years in the investment business. A focal point of the argument is the government's 3.2 per cent productivity figure. The government surveyed all U.S. industry and concluded, generally speaking, that annual 3.2 per cent wage hikes would not be inflationary.

The union says it received less than 3.2 per cent in the last two contracts. The companies agree on this point. The union says it has some "catch up" money coming.

The USW figures it should get 14 cents an hour — based on 3.2 per cent of steelworkers' current income of $4.40 an hour. It wants four cents an hour in "catch up" money.

The companies, on the other hand, argue that the productivity guideline might fit all industries in general, but not the steel industry in particular.

Don't Leave Arm Behind

Save Man First, But Pick Up Limb, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You're driving along and you pass the scene of an accident.

A man is lying beside the highway. Nearby is an arm.

What do you do?

"Save the man first — but don't go off without his arm," says Dr. J. Vernon Luck, medical director of Orthopaedic Hospital. "There's a good chance the arm can be restored to use.'

Dr. Luck told a news conference Wednesday that he believes the medical profession — because of advances in blood vessel and nerve surgery — now is "obligated at least to try to restore severed or crushed extremities.'

Robert Orona, 64, was run over by a spike-studded earth tamper Aug. 24, 1961. His arm was virtualy severed except for a thin strip of skin and two nerves.

Through bone, blood vessel and nerve grafting, the arm was restored to almost full use. Orona held a chair over his head, demonstrating the grasp in his left hand, and told newsmen he could feed and dress himself and even drive a car.

Dr. Luck said that in event of limb loss in an accident the first thing to do is stop the bleding.

"Then find the severed limb and try to get it on ice," he said. "Send the limb along to the hospital in the ambulance and there's a good chance it can be restored.

'Almost every city nowadays has men who can do this work if they have the chance."

alderman, felt that most of the statements or objections listed in the report of the Housing and Home Finance Agency on the uptown project, were minor and could be resolved, but one of major consequence dealt with solution of a flood problem in the Murphy Street area of the up town project. Action toward solving that, he noted, was in progress.

Naccarato also felt the aldermen should have been informed about salary raises granted UR personnel. Yerry explained that some were granted because of the combination of jobs, and said he knows of no law requiring that the council be informed of such raises. However, he said, if the aldermen asked for such information, he saw no reason why it should not be given.

Last night's heavy agenda also prevented the election of a permanent agency chairman to succeed Bernard A. Feeney Sr., who recently resigned.

The agency discussed, with Raymond & May Associates, local planning consultants, the model of the uptown project being prepared, and a new brochure, which is to be distributed soon.

The children were between 3 and 13 years old.

Will Heat Up

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 14-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission got off to a harmonious start Wednesday, but fireworks are expected Monday when the United States and the Soviet Union lead off the debate.

The Soviet Union asked for the commission meeting — the first since 1960 — and is expected to use the session for an attack on American policy in Viet Nam.

Guerrillas . .

planned to keep pushing and maintain contact with the Reds as long as possible.

The Marines this week began moving out of their defense perimeter at the air base for the first time, looking for the enemy and distributing propaganda leaflets, candy and chewing gum in the surrounding villages.

This morning a reconnaissance patrol of 41 Marines was moving through Viet Cong-infested country, accompanied by 30 Vietnamese militiamen, six civil affairs officers and two Vietnamese interpreters.

Soon after dawn they arrived at Binh Thai hamlet and learned that anti-American Viet Cong leaflets were being distributed. The villagers confirmed that guerrillas were in the area.

Call Up Reserves

At 8:20 a.m. the beating of a drum in the distance sounded a Viet Cong alarm. At 10:15, heavy enemy machine-gun fire began coming in from all directions.

The Marines, who had been hoping to get into a fight, quickly replied to the fire and called for the reserve company. They arrived in 30 minutes.

With Viet Cong fire blazing over the landing area, the reconnaissance company commander, Capt. Pat Collins of Grosse Ile, Mich., ran out into the field alone to guide the helicopters in.

Radioman Hit

Just as the choppers arrived, a sniper bullet wounded a Marine radioman. He was evacuated for hospitalization but apparently was in good condition.

In the air war, U.S. planes kept up their attacks every few hours on travel routes in Communist North Viet Nam. Two teams of two U.S. Navy Skyraiders attacked two truck convoys Wednesday night and reported a total of two trucks destroyed and four damaged. The Navy said the four planes returned safely and the pilots encountered no antiaircraft fire or enemy aircraft.

New, Faster Vessels

Sources in Washington said as a result of the military strategy meeting in Honolulu this week, the United States is expected to give the South Vietnamese navy new and faster patrol vessels to reinforce its fleet of 550 armed junks that is trying to check the Communist infiltration of men and arms by sea from North Viet Nam.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced after the Honolulu conference that military aid for South Viet Nam will be increased from $207 million to $330 million in the current fiscal year.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returned to Saigon today from the Honolulu meeting.

Red China's leaders rejected the appeal from 17 nonaligned nations for unconditional talks to end the Viet Nam War. The official Peking People's Daily said the appeal "completely caters to the interests of U.S. imperialism and has become a shield in the hands of the Johnson administration to ward off worldwide condemnation of U.S. crimes of aggression."

North Viet Nam rejected the appeal earlier. The Chinese said they supported North Viet Nam's demand for "withdrawal of foreign military personnel" as one of four conditions for any settlement.

President Johnson's special envoy on South Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, called today on Philippine Foreign Secretary Mauro Mendez and leaders of the Philippine Congress. After meetings with other Philippine officials, Lodge leaves Manila Friday for Taipei.

After conferring with Lodge Wednesday night, Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal said in a statement that the fall of South Viet Nam to the Communists would be disastrous for Southeast Asia, including the Philippines.

Sport Shop, Fair Street, was reported. Police found marks indicating an attempt had been made to pry open a door there.

A report Wednesday afternoon noted that the car of Joseph J. May, of 44 West Union Street, had been entered while it was parked in an uptown lot and tools valued at $250 were taken.

Police were notified at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday that fishing tackle valued at nearly $100 had been taken from the car of Edward J. Standt, of 2 Hewitt Place while it was parked on North Street.

A report this morning said nine dozen Spiesman Bakery rolls had been stolen from in front of three Broadway restaurants.

Debate Slated In Senate on Voting Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debate opens in the Senate today on President Johnson's voting rights bill. Democratic and Republican leaders are talking of passage in two to four weeks and Southerners aren't talking about a filibuster.

"There will be a lot of talk to educate the people over the country," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. But Ellender, a spokesman for the Southerners, said nothing about a filibuster and Senate leaders think they have the votes to throttle one should it develop.

The Southerners planned to review their strategy at a meeting prior to the Senate session. Many of them are convinced that the steps the legislation would have Washington take to ensure Negroes' voting rights are unconstitutional. But they clearly are in a minority and may have to direct their fire at specific provisions rather than at the bill itself.

The legislation emerged from the Senate Judiciary Committee a lot tougher than the bill proposed originally by the President and fashioned by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

It is being managed on the floor by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a staunch supporter of civil rights legislation who shows no disposition to yield on the amendments added to the bill in committee to make it stronger.

The Johnson administration proposed a ban on voter tests in states where less than 50 per cent of the adult population registered or voted last November. The federal government could take over the registration of voters.

In the committee, civil rights forces added two significant amendments: A ban on poll tax payments as a requirement for voting in state and local elections; extension of the bill's coverage to any county, regardless of whether it has a literacy test, in which less than 25 per cent of voting age Negroes are registered.

Katzenbach advised the committee not to adopt the amendments and Dirksen wants both eliminated. He claims the poll tax provision is unconstitutional and that no accurate figures are available on Negro voter registration.

By a one vote margin, Dirksen got the committee to adopt his amendment to exempt states and counties from coverage if more than 60 per cent of their adults were registered and if they proved to a federal court in Washington they are not engaged in discriminatory denial of voting rights.

Mischief Charges

Two teenagers charged with removing traffic and caution signs from local streets were charged with malicious mischief early today. They are Marc Johnson, 17, of 11 West Chester Street, and Robert Fertel, 17, of 95 West Chestnut Street, who, police said, removed caution signs from an excavation, plus no-parking and stop signs from streets. Police had received calls concerning their alleged action and officers Lewis Keator and Booth Pendell with Detective Gurnsey Burger were dispatched to investigate. The arrest was by the latter after the two were located on Highland Avenue. City Court hearing today was put over to May 1. They were paroled in the custody of their parents.

School Budget at $2,802,960 May Show $16 Hike Over '64

Saugerties Central Schools, plagued by lack of rooms for growing school enrollments which forced curtailed sessions and programs for ten years, will have all pupils on regular sessions beginning September, 1965, and the 1965-66 school budget $2,802,960.-26 will reflect the additional expense of staff, operation and maintenance, and instructional services.

The Board of Education this week approved a budget of 2,802,-960.26 after hours of work and numerous meetings to arrive at figures which would meet the needs of a growing school system and yet make every dollar count, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools said today.

The new preliminary budget figure is an increase of $401,324.-76 over last year's budget of $2,-401,635.50. Last year's basic school tax rate was $84.51 based on each $1,000 of assessed valuation in the central school district.

Although it is impossible to compute a school tax rate until the end of the fiscal year, June 30, when the actual cash balance, amount of state aid, and assessed valuation will be known. A rate of $98 is estimated. This would be an increase of approximately $16 over the 1964-65 rate which showed a reduction of about $2 in contrast to 1963-64. Actually, between 1963-64 and 1965-66, a net increase of about $14 is shown which is about the same as the increase between 1962-63 and 1963-64.

The annual meeting of Saugerties Central School District to approve the budget will be held Tuesday, May 4 at the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue Extension. Election of new school board members will be held the next day at Main Street School.

Local taxpayers have been assisted to a great extent since centralization by increases in state aid. In 1955-56 they were taxed for 48 per cent of education costs, in 1964-65 they paid 34.7 per cent. School authorities emphasized the importance of the legislation by the School Boards Association, the P-TA, the Citizens' Committee for the Public Schools, the State Teachers Association, the Association of School District Administration, the Association of Secondary School Administrators, the Association of Elementary School Administrators, and the Council of City and Village Superintendents, and signed into law by Governor Rockefeller last week.

A particular feature not incorporated in the bill passed is of great importance to Saugerties. School authorities urge taxpayers to instruct their legislators to pass the Educational Conference Board feature which will allow use of current budgeted expense figures in computing state aid. Presently, state aid is figured on the previous year's expenditures which delays the aid local taxpayers need.

Major increases in the budget for 1965-66 were $195,204.68 for instruction, $61,662.77 for operation and maintenance, $63,660.00 for debt service, and $27,745.84 for fixed charges such as retirement, social security, and insurance contributions.

Additional personnel necessary to staff the new facilities and meet added enrollments are: elementary principal, assistant junior high school principal, junior high school guidance counselor, 7 junior-senior high school teachers, elementary teacher, six custodians and cleaners, and two clerk-typists.

The teachers' salary schedule was increased by $200 and adjustments were made in the salary schedules for other personnel.

Decreases were shown in community services, transportation, and lunch fund subsidy.

Mrs. Gardner also stated that the next Blood Bank drawing will be in June. She had sent seven donors to the Kingston lab for use in a local case. DAR Chapter Here Issues Statement On Fluoridation

A statement on fluoridation was released this week by the Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution which cited several factors in the controversy.

"Present local interest in fluoridation of the Saugerties water supply again raises arguments for and against such procedure. General interest in the question of fluoridation has, in fact, become nationwide and world-wide.

"The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, at its Continental Congress held in Washington in April 1957 passed a resolution opposing fluoridation and the Saugerties Chapter DAR is and has been interested in the matter. At the last meeting of the Chapter on April 7 it received considerable attention.

"The concern of the National Society lies in the fact that fluoridation is mass medication by public health officials which ignores the individual's wishes as well as the diagnoses of certain private physicians and dentists. They believe it to be an expression of socialized medicine and a violation of our constitutional rights as citizens.

"Considering those for and against fluoridation: Expressing approval are the American Medical Association; American Dental Association; Public Health Service; Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Parent-Teacher Association; American Academy of Pediatrics; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Association of Public Health Dentists; Association of State and Territorial Dental Directors.

"A partial list of those expressing disapproval is as follows — Association of American Physicians and Surgeons; National Academy of Nutrition; Texas Medical Association; Medical-Dental Ad Hoc Committee on Evaluation of Fluoridation; Congressional Committee to Investigate the Use of Chemicals in Food and Cosmetics; 119 Dentists, all members of the American Dental Association, Massachusetts Dental Society; Cambridge Medical Center, Boston, Mass.; New Orleans, La., Committee of Physicians and Chemists; Medical Committee of the Department of Health, Detroit.

"And in Europe the following have also expressed disapproval: Royal Medical Board of Sweden; Pasteur Institute of France; French Dental Society; Dr. T. Gordonoff, Berne, Switzerland.

"The New York City Department of Water Supply which is considered an authority in this country on water problems, has done its own research on fluoridation; two reports issued in the past are opposed to it.

"The Journal of the American Dental Association, in 1936, described fluoride by comparing its toxicity in minute doses to that of arsenic and lead. In 1943, the Journal of the American Medical Association said: 'Fluorides are general protoplasmic poisons . . . sources of fluorine intoxication are drinking water containing one part per million or more of fluorine, fluorine compounds used as insecticidal sprays for fruits and vegetables . . . and the mining and conversion of phosphate rock . . .'

"However both associations are now listed, as above among those approving fluoridation.

"A statement in 1963 in the Highland Park News, Des Moines, Iowa, by Dr. Jonathan Forman, a well-known specialist in allergy, professor emeritus of Ohio State University, former editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal and editor of Clinical Physiology says in part: 'It is now known that such vital organs as the kidneys, thyroid, aorta (main heart artery), liver, lungs and others can be the sites of an unusually high fluoride build-up. No matter how small the amount of fluoride in the diet, a part of it tends to accumulate in the body. When water supply is fluoridated the intake of the individual is considerably increased and the accumulated in the body increases accordingly.'

"In considering chlorines and fluorines — proponents of fluoridation claim that adding fluorine to public water supplies is equivalent to adding chlorine. However, chlorinating water sets no legitimate precedent for fluoridating it; chlorine is added to purify water, to destroy harmful bacteria—it does not medicate it; fluorine medicates water.

"Also, there is the question of economics. What is the cost of fluoridation to the taxpayer? And another matter to be considered: since sodium fluoride is very corrosive, it causes damage to plumbing facilities and other equipment.

"It has been estimated that for every $10,000 spent to fluoridate water systems, only $25 is used for the purpose intended—that is to put sodium fluoride in the drinking water of children under 12. Most of it is poured on lawns, put in automobiles, used for bathing, laundering and for cleaning streets, driveways and sidewalks; also it is consumed in industrial and commercial operations and by people over 12 years old who cannot possibly benefit from it. If the purpose of fluoridation is to provide medication for children under 12, why force the total population to drink fluoridated water and use it wastefully for other purposes? There are other safe ways to administer fluoride in controlled doses to children.

"Further quoting a statement made concerning the question: 'Fluoridation is mass medication. It is taking away the rights of the individual and allowing government to decide what is best for him. This is not the American way; we should have freedom of choice. As fluorides definitely have no effect on the teeth after the age of 12, why should the entire citizenry be forced to drink fluoridated water?'"

matter of fact

The earliest reference to stamp collecting appeared in a London paper in 1841: "A young lady, being desirous of covering her dressing room with cancelled postage stamps, has been so far encouraged in her wish by private friends as to have succeeded in collecting 16,000. These, however, being insufficient, she will be greatly obliged if any good-natured person who may have these (otherwise useless) little articles at their disposal, would assist her in her whimsical project."

DAR Chapter Here Issues Statement On Fluoridation

A statement on fluoridation was released this week by the Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution which cited several factors in the controversy.

"Present local interest in fluoridation of the Saugerties water supply again raises arguments for and against such procedure. General interest in the question of fluoridation has, in fact, become nationwide and world-wide.

"The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, at its Continental Congress held in Washington in April 1957 passed a resolution opposing fluoridation and the Saugerties Chapter DAR is and has been interested in the matter. At the last meeting of the Chapter on April 7 it received considerable attention.

"The concern of the National Society lies in the fact that fluoridation is mass medication by public health officials which ignores the individual's wishes as well as the diagnoses of certain private physicians and dentists. They believe it to be an expression of socialized medicine and a violation of our constitutional rights as citizens.

"Considering those for and against fluoridation: Expressing approval are the American Medical Association; American Dental Association; Public Health Service; Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Parent-Teacher Association; American Academy of Pediatrics; American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Association of Public Health Dentists; Association of State and Territorial Dental Directors.

"A partial list of those expressing disapproval is as follows — Association of American Physicians and Surgeons; National Academy of Nutrition; Texas Medical Association; Medical-Dental Ad Hoc Committee on Evaluation of Fluoridation; Congressional Committee to Investigate the Use of Chemicals in Food and Cosmetics; 119 Dentists, all members of the American Dental Association, Massachusetts Dental Society; Cambridge Medical Center, Boston, Mass.; New Orleans, La., Committee of Physicians and Chemists; Medical Committee of the Department of Health, Detroit.

"And in Europe the following have also expressed disapproval: Royal Medical Board of Sweden; Pasteur Institute of France; French Dental Society; Dr. T. Gordonoff, Berne, Switzerland.

"The New York City Department of Water Supply which is considered an authority in this country on water problems, has done its own research on fluoridation; two reports issued in the past are opposed to it.

"The Journal of the American Dental Association, in 1936, described fluoride by comparing its toxicity in minute doses to that of arsenic and lead. In 1943, the Journal of the American Medical Association said: 'Fluorides are general protoplasmic poisons . . . sources of fluorine intoxication are drinking water containing one part per million or more of fluorine, fluorine compounds used as insecticidal sprays for fruits and vegetables . . . and the mining and conversion of phosphate rock . . .'

"However both associations are now listed, as above among those approving fluoridation.

"A statement in 1963 in the Highland Park News, Des Moines, Iowa, by Dr. Jonathan Forman, a well-known specialist in allergy, professor emeritus of Ohio State University, former editor of the Ohio State Medical Journal and editor of Clinical Physiology says in part: 'It is now known that such vital organs as the kidneys, thyroid, aorta (main heart artery), liver, lungs and others can be the sites of an unusually high fluoride build-up. No matter how small the amount of fluoride in the diet, a part of it tends to accumulate in the body. When water supply is fluoridated the intake of the individual is considerably increased and the accumulated in the body increases accordingly.'

"In considering chlorines and fluorines — proponents of fluoridation claim that adding fluorine to public water supplies is equivalent to adding chlorine. However, chlorinating water sets no legitimate precedent for fluoridating it; chlorine is added to purify water, to destroy harmful bacteria—it does not medicate it; fluorine medicates water.

"Also, there is the question of economics. What is the cost of fluoridation to the taxpayer? And another matter to be considered: since sodium fluoride is very corrosive, it causes damage to plumbing facilities and other equipment.

"It has been estimated that for every $10,000 spent to fluoridate water systems, only $25 is used for the purpose intended—that is to put sodium fluoride in the drinking water of children under 12. Most of it is poured on lawns, put in automobiles, used for bathing, laundering and for cleaning streets, driveways and sidewalks; also it is consumed in industrial and commercial operations and by people over 12 years old who cannot possibly benefit from it. If the purpose of fluoridation is to provide medication for children under 12, why force the total population to drink fluoridated water and use it wastefully for other purposes? There are other safe ways to administer fluoride in controlled doses to children.

"Further quoting a statement made concerning the question: 'Fluoridation is mass medication. It is taking away the rights of the individual and allowing government to decide what is best for him. This is not the American way; we should have freedom of choice. As fluorides definitely have no effect on the teeth after the age of 12, why should the entire citizenry be forced to drink fluoridated water?'"

matter of fact

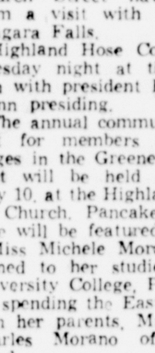

The earliest reference to stamp collecting appeared in a London paper in 1841: "A young lady, being desirous of covering her dressing room with cancelled postage stamps, has been so far encouraged in her wish by private friends as to have succeeded in collecting 16,000. These, however, being insufficient, she will be greatly obliged if any good-natured person who may have these (otherwise useless) little articles at their disposal, would assist her in her whimsical project."

Way Is Cleared for Vote To Abolish Death Penalty

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The way has been cleared for a vote this legislative session on virtually abolishing the death penalty in New York State.

Sen. Thomas Duffy, D-Queens, chairman of the Senate Codes Committee, says he will urge his committee to send abolition legislation to the floor of the Senate for a vote.

The Legislature returns to work Tuesday from an Easter-Passover, vacation. Bills to abolish capital punishment have been introduced previously, none has reached the floor for a vote.

Sen. Edward S. Lentol, a sponsor of the abolition bill and a member of the Codes Committee, said Tuesday that he had enough votes to send the bill to the floor and probably enough to guarantee approval in the Senate.

Assemblyman Joseph R. Corso, chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee and a co-sponsor of the legislation, said he believed that in his house there were "more votes for abolition than against it."

Corso said he would delay action in the Assembly on the death penalty measure until a decision was reached in the Senate. He said he would do so out of deference to Lentol, a backer of abolition bills for the past 17 years.

Corso and Lentol are Brooklyn Democrats.

Their measure would eliminate capital punishment — in effect in the state for three centuries — except in the slaying of a peace officer serving in the line of duty or in the killing of a prison guard or inmate by a convict serving a life sentence.

Asked if the Legislature would approve the legislation, Duffy answered:

"It's not possible to say. All the major law enforcement groups oppose it. This will come into consideration. Some...members of my committee who favored it initially are wavering."

Duffy, who at one time favored abolition, said he changed his mind after law-enforcement officials contended abolition would deter efforts to protect the public.

Assemblyman Richard J. Bartlett, R-Glens Falls, chairman of the Temporary State Commission on Revision of the Penal Law and Criminal Code, saw a "good chance" that capital punishment would be abolished this year.

His commission last month recommended abolition.

ROAD PLIGHT — Commuters on New York's Belt Parkway are part of nationwide squeeze on roads as thousands of new cars and new drivers join the rush every day.

Local Chapter Reveals Cancer Research Grants

Twenty-eight cancer research grants totaling $794,729 are in effect in the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society as of March 1, it was reported here today by George Svirsky, president of the Society's Ulster County Unit.

Largest Allocation

On March 1, the society was supporting 635 grants nationally totaling $19,576,716. This is the largest financial allocation in the society's 20-year history of cancer research support.

In New York State, grants are active at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo and Springville, the Albany Medical College of Union University in Albany, Mary Imogene Bassett Hospital in Cooperstown, the Medical Foundation of Buffalo, Inc., Cornell University in Ithaca, State University of New York in Syracuse, State University of New York in Buffalo, Clarkson College of Technology in Potsdam, and the University of Rochester.

Of the total expended in the state, $507,661 represents research commitments at Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

At Roswell Park, research is in progress on all aspects of the cancer problem, Svirsky explained: virus causation of cancer, growth and development of embryos, leukemia, hormones and breast cancer, blood cells of human cancer patients how to prevent the seeding of cancer cells into the wound during surgery, biochemical differences between cancer and normal cells, why some persons get breast cancer and leukemia and others do not, growth of melanoma cells in tissue culture, search for new effective anti-cancer compounds, immunology and cancer, chromosome abnormalities in cancer cells, role of female sex hormones in cancer, growth of cancer cells in synthetic media.

Lifetime Support

A research professorship, the highest award of the Society, is active at Roswell Park. The grant made to Dr. Morton Levin totals $127,000 and will support him for his scientific lifetime or until the cancer problem is solved. Dr. Levin is investigating the role of habits of diet, health, smoking, occupation, and other factors in the onset of cancer.

Institutional research grants to stimulate cancer research are active at the University of Rochester, Cornell University in Ithaca, and also at Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

At Clarkson College of Technology, research is active on finding new potentially effective anticancer agents.

Tumor viruses are being investigated at the Upstate Medical Center at the State University of New York in Syracuse.

Transplanting a lung from one individual to another is being attempted at the Mary Imogene Bassett Hospital in Cooperstown.

At Albany Medical College of Union University, the effectiveness of radiation is being tested in cells of differing susceptibilities.

The most frequently asked question of members of the Society's Research Department is: "Are we getting anywhere?"

In a recent review of progress in the cancer field, the department was heartened to note several bright and productive areas of progress. One was in the treatment of acute leukemia in children. A second was in efforts to track down a virus as a possible causative agent of human leukemia. A third was the improvement of radiation therapy, particularly in treating patients with Hodgkin's disease and those with head and neck cancer.

The highest optimism was noted in evaluating the research of the molecular biologists, particularly those working in the fast-moving area of nucleic acid biochemistry. Many biochemists believe that the key to the cancer story will come from understanding the cell's DNA and RNA.

DNA is the nucleic acid which controls whether a cell will be normal or abnormal, whether it will be a blood or a brain cell, whether it will be human or animal or plant. DNA is the keeper of heredity and also controls how hereditary information will be used to shape the individual.

In a normal cell, DNA sends its chemical code via RNA. But it is repressed from sending all of its genetic information at one time. Parts of DNA can be turned off or on by a repressor mechanism. When cancer begins, it is believed that something goes wrong with the cell's repressor system. DNA gets turned on fully, and uncontrolled growth follows.

Biochemists are making rapid strides in cracking DNA's code, in unraveling how DNA controls all cell activities, and how, in cancer, this control fails.

Report on Moon By Scientists: Surface Is Rough

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cornell University scientists say that young craters on the moon — those "a fraction of a billion years" old — offer a hard, rough surface that might support manned landings.

The researchers also reported Wednesday that new and unprecedented radar-mapping studies of the moon suggest that most of its surface is porous.

Thomas W. Thompson and Thomas Gold of Cornell reported their findings at the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union.

Approximately a half of the moon's visible surface was mapped during the last six months, they said, with radar beams from the world's largest radar-radio telescope.

The observatory, in the Puerto Rico Mountains near Arecibo, is operated by Cornell under a contract with the Defense Department.

The scientists asserted that the radar beams yielded information about the lunar surface down to a depth of three or four feet. This work, they said, provided a better guage of immediate subsurface conditions than photographs taken by Ranger spacecraft.

The young craters, they said, are those made by meteorites within "a fraction of a billion years ago"; old craters are those similarly created one to four billion years ago.

Until more knowledge of the lunar crust is obtained, perhaps by robot-instrument sampling, the young craters look like the best bet for landing areas, the scientists said.

The nature of the moons surface — for mapping purposes — is determined by the strength of the radar beam bounced back to earth from the moon. A strong radar echo, the researchers explained, indicates areas that are hard or rough or both. Loosely packed, porous areas give relatively weak echoes because they absorb much of the radar beam's strength.

Aquaba, desert port on the Gulf of Aqaba, is fast becoming the Acapulco of Jordan.

Boyle Heading For Viet Front

Hal Boyle, 54, Associated Press human interest columnist for 21 years, is en route to his third assignment to a major armed conflict — Viet Nam.

Pulitzer Winner

Boyle, whose daily column appears in approximately 500 afternoon newspapers, was war correspondent for The Associated Press in Africa and Europe in World War II where his front-line stories of GIs in action won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945.

In 1950 he volunteered for Associated Press duty in Korea, and reported on front-line activities during the heaviest fighting on that peninsula. There he won the Veterans of Foreign War's gold medal award for "outstanding contribution to national security." He also received the Overseas Press Club top award for best reporting in radio, television and newspapers.

Boyle's column was born under fire in Salerno, Italy, in 1943 and has been a continuous Associated Press feature since. Following the surrender of Japan he traveled around the world, writing stories from 65 countries.

Boyle's five-day-a-week column will be written from South Viet Nam during his assignment abroad.

Soldier's Friend

In 1951, in presenting the VFW gold medal, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, then chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of Boyle:

"I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who has been dubbed "The Poor Man's Philosopher" and the "Pavement Plato," is a native of Kansas City, Mo., where he started his AP career in 1928 as a copy boy at 17.

He was night city editor of the New York AP bureau in 1942 when he first went overseas.

Report on Moon By Scientists: Surface Is Rough

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cornell University scientists say that young craters on the moon — those "a fraction of a billion years" old — offer a hard, rough surface that might support manned landings.

The researchers also reported Wednesday that new and unprecedented radar-mapping studies of the moon suggest that most of its surface is porous.

Thomas W. Thompson and Thomas Gold of Cornell reported their findings at the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union.

Approximately a half of the moon's visible surface was mapped during the last six months, they said, with radar beams from the world's largest radar-radio telescope.

The observatory, in the Puerto Rico Mountains near Arecibo, is operated by Cornell under a contract with the Defense Department.

The scientists asserted that the radar beams yielded information about the lunar surface down to a depth of three or four feet. This work, they said, provided a better guage of immediate subsurface conditions than photographs taken by Ranger spacecraft.

The young craters, they said, are those made by meteorites within "a fraction of a billion years ago"; old craters are those similarly created one to four billion years ago.

Until more knowledge of the lunar crust is obtained, perhaps by robot-instrument sampling, the young craters look like the best bet for landing areas, the scientists said.

The nature of the moons surface — for mapping purposes — is determined by the strength of the radar beam bounced back to earth from the moon. A strong radar echo, the researchers explained, indicates areas that are hard or rough or both. Loosely packed, porous areas give 'relatively weak echoes because they absorb much of the radar beam's strength.

Boyle Heading For Viet Front

Hal Boyle, 54, Associated Press human interest columnist for 21 years, is en route to his third assignment to a major armed conflict — Viet Nam.

Pulitzer Winner

Boyle, whose daily column appears in approximately 500 afternoon newspapers, was war correspondent for The Associated Press in Africa and Europe in World War II where his front-line stories of GIs in action won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945.

In 1950 he volunteered for Associated Press duty in Korea, and reported on front-line activities during the heaviest fighting on that peninsula. There he won the Veterans of Foreign War's gold medal award for "outstanding contribution to national security." He also received the Overseas Press Club top award for best reporting in radio, television and newspapers.

Boyle's column was born under fire in Salerno, Italy, in 1943 and has been a continuous Associated Press feature since. Following the surrender of Japan he traveled around the world, writing stories from 65 countries.

Boyle's five-day-a-week column will be written from South Viet Nam during his assignment abroad.

Soldier's Friend

In 1951, in presenting the VFW gold medal, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, then chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of Boyle:

"I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

Boyle, who has been dubbed "The Poor Man's Philosopher" and the "Pavement Plato," is a native of Kansas City, Mo., where he started his AP career in 1928 as a copy boy at 17.

He was night city editor of the New York AP bureau in 1942 when he first went overseas.

PEOPLE SLAM DOORS ON CHARITY WORKER

Q: I recently volunteered to take up a house-to-house collection in my neighborhood for mentally retarded children, and it was an experience I shall never forget. I had doors slammed in my face with a very curt, "Not interested." I never thought people could be so rude. I can understand people not being able to contribute or being wary about letting strangers into their houses, but I do think they can at least be courteous. This is strictly volunteer work and I'm afraid if this rudeness is encountered too often there will be very few volunteers to do this work. Will you please comment on this?

A: To slam the door in anyone's face is inecusably rude and uncalled for behavior. To say simply and politely, "I'm sorry, but I can't contribute," or "I've already contributed," is all one need do and certainly those who volunteer their time and energy for charity should be accorded at least this much courtesy.

Sending Wedding Announcements

Q: I am having a very small wedding with just the immediate families attending. No invitations will be issued but I plan to send wedding announcements to out-of-town relatives and friends. I had not intended to send them to relatives and friends living here as they all know of my forthcoming marriage. My mother thinks announcements should be sent to everyone regardless of whether they know of my marriage or not. It seems silly to me. What is your opinion?

A: Your mother is right. Announcements are properly sent to all those not invited to the wedding.

A Typewritten Signature

Q: When typing a letter to a friend, may the signature also be typed, or must one sign the letter by hand?

A: Always sign letters by hand. A typed signature is very rude. The only occasion when it is permissible is when it is typed below a hard-to-reach signature, for information.

Mrs. Robert Haynes of 154 Lampman Avenue, Port Ewen, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of Rochelle lace over Nile green taffeta styled with a fitted bodice, abbreviated sleeves and a scooped neckline. The bell shaped skirt was floor length and featured floating back panels of matching taffeta. She wore a stylized headpiece with matching tulle flyaway veil.

Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Frank Roudis of Elmendorf Street, Mrs. John Guido of East Kingston, and the Misses Kathleen Terpening of Port Ewen, Martha Soper and Michele Bowra of Murphy Sturt, Kingston. Their gowns were identical in styling to the honor attendant's, in lilac, aqua, pink, blue and maize.

A reception for 140 guests was held at the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, immediately after the ceremony.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the bride chose a three piece navy blue knit suit with red accessories and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will live at 33 Derrenbacher Street.

A 1962 graduate of Kingston High School, Mrs. Celuch is employed in the office of the Barclay Knitwear, Port Ewen.

Mr. Celuch, also a 1962 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by Hudson Cement Company of Kingston.

Kingston Blanks Roosevelt, 10-0 on Heppners' 2-Hitter

Two Tainted Tallies

Sawyers Win 0-Hitter Over Catskill, 3 to 2

Catskill High went hitless but scored twice in a 3-2 baseball loss at Saugerties High Wednesday. The two battles could be charged to battery trouble.

Junior Bob Speirs held Caskill hitless and whiffed 12. But he forced in a run with a base on balls and his battery mate, Davis, added another with a wild throw on a pickoff attempt in the sixth inning.

Saugerties' final marker in the fifth had the ring of authority, as Bonack, Ward and Bond delivered singles.

Five Hitless Innings

Speirs had pitched five hitless innings and then it went something like this in the Catskill sixth:

Smith grounded to second base for the first out. Speirs walked Hamm and Kitchen and Freligh booted Palmer's ground ball to load the bases. Speirs wiffed Neal but lost his shutout by walking Dunn to force in a run. Davis then threw the ball into right field on a pickoff play and Kitchen scored the second run.

Woods' double for Saugerties was the only extra baser.

The Sawyers now 3-0 invade Dietz Stadium Friday at 10 a. m. to battle with Kingston High.

Boxing Program Planned by NSO

Under the expert instruction of Billy Costello, a former boxer, the young men of Neighborhood Services Organization (NSO) are being trained in the field of boxing.

Classes are being held at the Recreation Center on lower Broadway and are open to all youngsters in the Kingston area, Albert R. Brown Sr., NSO director has announced.

"We wish to emphasize that NSO activities are not confined exclusively to youngsters in the downtown section," Brown said. "We welcome youngsters from all over the Kingston area to participate in our program."

The schedule of boxing classes will be announced. The long range plan is to stage a Midget Golden Gloves tournament in the near future.

Wrestling classes are also contemplated, if enough young men show an interest, Brown said.

Dancing classes have already begun for the young ladies of NSO.

National League Meets Sunday

An important meeting of the National Little League will be held Sunday at 1:45 p. m. at the VFW Hall on Delaware Avenue.

Coaches and managers for the 1965 season will be selected at this meeting, league president Clayton Stalter said.

Tryout dates will also be set. He also noted that each member is to bring in a guest for membership at this time.

Saturday has been scheduled as a work day and all members are expected to be present.

Cousins Combine For Maroon's 3rd Win of Season

The Heppner cousins—Scotty and Dan—collaborated on a 2-hitter to pitch Kingston High to a 10-0 victory over Roosevelt High Wednesday at the Roosevelt diamond.

Scotty went six innings, yielding both hits, striking out six and walking three. Dan pitched a hitless seventh inning, gave up a walk and fanned one.

Coach Mike Rienzo managed to find place for 19 players in the seven-inning contest, as the Maroons scored their third win in four 1965 starts.

One Bid Inning

Scotty Heppner survived a shaky first inning then settled down to fire six superlative frames. Nine straight balls got him into a jam but a fine double play engineered by Lou Perry saved Heppner. Perry handled a hot shot to third base, stepped on the bag for a force and completed the DP at first base.

Schabot Triples

Joe Schabot knocked in two runs with a first inning single and long third inning triple. The single followed two walks. Ed Mills emerged from an early season slump with two run producing singles.

A two-run single by Brooks Jenkins climaxed a two-out rally by the Maroons in the sixth when the locals scored four runs. The locals collected eight hits off three Roosevelt pitchers, with starter Conte taking the loss.

Highland Routs Lourdes by 7-1, No Bases on Balls

Highland Central belted out a 7-1 victory over Lourdes in a varsity game yesterday at Hudson River State field, in which no runner was issued a base on balls.

The Highlanders jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Cappallino scored on an error. They added two more tallies in the fourth and another pair in the fifth.

Cappallino singled in the top of the fourth. Sindone bunted and both runners were safe on a play to second. Henderson's sacrifice was followed by a two-base error by Tom O'Reilly, Lourdes pitcher allowing Sindone to score. A suicide play by Sindone and Henderson fizzled, but Sindone scored when he combined with Dunham on a second suicide attempt.

Lourdes scored its lone run in the bottom of the fifth on three singles.

Doug Cifone, Henderson, Dunham and Steve Passante were credited with runs batted in.

Cal Halstead worked the first four innings for Highland and was credited with the win. Ercole (Coly) Vulpani pitched the last three frames. Each hurler gave up three hits. Tom O'Reilly fanned nine Highlanders in taking the loss while going the distance.

Coach Lem Atkins' Highlanders have won four games without a loss and stand 1-0 in the UCAL. They play host Friday to Rondout Central in a league contest.

Wallkill Trackmen Edge Onteora, 63-58

Onteora Central lost a close meet yesterday to their perennial rivals, Wallkill Central, by a 63-58 margin at the Indians' field.

The win reversed a close victory for OCS last year, when Wallkill went on to beat the OCS Indians for the county championship. It also marked OCS's first season defeat.

Wallkill showed the edge in the early running events, but Onteora came on strong in the field and relays to cop seven straight first place finishes.

Onteora, behind Coaches Bernie Stahl and Dick Becker, have a 3-1 season record, while Coach Brian Brent's Wallkill Indians, are 3-0 for the season.

OCS will host Cairo Monday.

Two Tainted Tallies

Sawyers Win 0-Hitter Over Catskill, 3 to 2

Catskill High went hitless but scored twice in a 3-2 baseball loss at Saugerties High Wednesday. The two battles could be charged to battery trouble.

Junior Bob Speirs held Caskill hitless and whiffed 12. But he forced in a run with a base on balls and his battery mate, Davis, added another with a wild throw on a pickoff attempt in the sixth inning.

Coach Pete Kramer's Sawyers picked up two runs in the first of Hitchcock. Davis opened with a walk and Owens doubled. Bonack's long fly to center scored Davis and Owens raced home on a fielders choice.

Saugerties' final marker in the fifth had the ring of authority, as Bonack, Ward and Bond delivered singles.

Five Hitless Innings

Speirs had pitched five hitless innings and then it went something like this in the Catskill sixth:

Smith grounded to second base for the first out. Speirs walked Hamm and Kitchen and Freligh booted Palmer's ground ball to load the bases. Speirs wiffed Neal but lost his shutout by walking Dunn to force in a run. Davis then threw the ball into right field on a pickoff play and Kitchen scored the second run.

Woods' double for Saugerties was the only extra baser.

The Sawyers now 3-0 invade Dietz Stadium Friday at 10 a. m. to battle with Kingston High.

Boxing Program Planned by NSO

Under the expert instruction of Billy Costello, a former boxer, the young men of Neighborhood Services Organization (NSO) are being trained in the field of boxing.

Classes are being held at the Recreation Center on lower Broadway and are open to all youngsters in the Kingston area, Albert R. Brown Sr., NSO director has announced.

"We wish to emphasize that NSO activities are not confined exclusively to youngsters in the downtown section," Brown said. "We welcome youngsters from all over the Kingston area to participate in our program."

The schedule of boxing classes will be announced. The long range plan is to stage a Midget Golden Gloves tournament in the near future.

Wrestling classes are also contemplated, if enough young men show an interest, Brown said.

Dancing classes have already begun for the young ladies of NSO.

National League Meets Sunday

An important meeting of the National Little League will be held Sunday at 1:45 p. m. at the VFW Hall on Delaware Avenue.

Coaches and managers for the 1965 season will be selected at this meeting, league president Clayton Stalter said.

Tryout dates will also be set. He also noted that each member is to bring in a guest for membership at this time.

Saturday has been scheduled as a work day and all members are expected to be present.

Cousins Combine For Maroon's 3rd Win of Season

The Heppner cousins—Scotty and Dan—collaborated on a 2-hitter to pitch Kingston High to a 10-0 victory over Roosevelt High Wednesday at the Roosevelt diamond.

Scotty went six innings, yielding both hits, striking out six and walking three. Dan pitched a hitless seventh inning, gave up a walk and fanned one.

Coach Mike Rienzo managed to find place for 19 players in the seven-inning contest, as the Maroons scored their third win in four 1965 starts.

One Bid Inning

Scotty Heppner survived a shaky first inning then settled down to fire six superlative frames. Nine straight balls got him into a jam but a fine double play engineered by Lou Perry saved Heppner. Perry handled a hot shot to third base, stepped on the bag for a force and completed the DP at first base.

Schabot Triples

Joe Schabot knocked in two runs with a first inning single and long third inning triple. The single followed two walks. Ed Mills emerged from an early season slump with two run producing singles.

A two-run single by Brooks Jenkins climaxed a two-out rally by the Maroons in the sixth when the locals scored four runs. The locals collected eight hits off three Roosevelt pitchers, with starter Conte taking the loss.

Highland Routs Lourdes by 7-1, No Bases on Balls

Highland Central belted out a 7-1 victory over Lourdes in a varsity game yesterday at Hudson River State field, in which no runner was issued a base on balls.

The Highlanders jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Cappallino scored on an error. They added two more tallies in the fourth and another pair in the fifth.

Cappallino singled in the top of the fourth. Sindone bunted and both runners were safe on a play to second. Henderson's sacrifice was followed by a two-base error by Tom O'Reilly, Lourdes pitcher allowing Sindone to score. A suicide play by Sindone and Henderson fizzled, but Sindone scored when he combined with Dunham on a second suicide attempt.

Lourdes scored its lone run in the bottom of the fifth on three singles.

Doug Cifone, Henderson, Dunham and Steve Passante were credited with runs batted in.

Cal Halstead worked the first four innings for Highland and was credited with the win. Ercole (Coly) Vulpani pitched the last three frames. Each hurler gave up three hits. Tom O'Reilly fanned nine Highlanders in taking the loss while going the distance.

Coach Lem Atkins' Highlanders have won four games without a loss and stand 1-0 in the UCAL. They play host Friday to Rondout Central in a league contest.

UCCC Drops 10-5 Contest to Staten Island for Second Loss

Home Run Blast Breaks Open 5-5 Tie in Eighth

Ulster County Community College had its "home" debut spoiled Wednesday at Cantine Field in Saugerties when a highly-touted Staten Island Community College nine broke open a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning to gain a 10-5 victory over the Senators.

A three-run homer broke open the game.

The loss was the second in a row for Coach Al DiBernardo's Ulsterites who dropped a close one 2-0 in last week's opener against Rockland.

It was another tough setback for Ulster moundsman Lonnie McAndrew who gave up only four hits and fanned 10 batters in the season opener. The big right hander gave up one unearned run and struck out three Staten Islanders when he had to leave the game in the third stanza due to arm trouble.

McAndrew was relieved by Rich Teller who hurled a third of the inning until he was relieved by Bob Glemming. A Staten Island resident, Glemming hurled five and two-third innings until Hussey came in from right field to finish the ninth. Glemming suffered the loss.

Staten Island drew first blood in the top of the first when first baseman Frank Gambuzza slammed a triple and scored when Druttman dropped a pop fly with two out.

Boots Buytkins, playing on alma mater soil, ripped a triple in the UCCC half of the second. Consecutive walks were issued Armstrong and Hussey. Larry Delanoy was thrown out on a tapper, with Buytkins scoring on the play.

Armstrong and Hussey, who had advanced on the play, scored on Jim McCardle's bingle to give Ulster a brief 3-1 lead over the visitors.

The SI Dolphins lashed back with four tallies in the top of the third and Ulster came up with a pair in the same inning to knot the score at 5-5.

Both clubs were held scoreless until the top of the eighth when the Dolphins' shortstop Julio Perera slammed a long drive to right which went for a homer with two runners scoring ahead of him. Staten Island added two more runs to give them the five-run lead and the game.

The Senators, whose opening-day problem was failure to hit with runners on base had a runner on first in the final stanza when they failed to connect.

The Dolphins' John Darden, who relieved their starting pitcher, Larsen, struck out 15 Senators after taking over in the third innnig and getting credit for the victory. Six of the winners' 10 runs were earned.

The Staten Islanders are a highly regarded team. They possess a 2-0 record and in their last outing ripped Pratt College—a four-year school—by 25-0.

The Senators return to Cantine Field Friday for a home game with Nassau College, and journey to New Paltz Saturday afternoon for a game with the N.P. Frosh.

MOSTAR, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mujo Crnalic, now 91, has almost never slept in a house since he was a child. As a young shepherd he became accustomed to sleeping out in the hills with his flock in summer and in the sheep pen in winter. He has been doing it ever since and attributes his good health to never sleeping in stuffy rooms.

Luci Shows LBJ Flair as Queen Of Azalea Fete

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — It became apparent quickly that Luci Baines Johnson would be very much herself in her regal role as queen of the Azalea Festival here.

The 17-year-old younger daughter of the President showed her father's flair for the unexpected shortly after she arived Wednesday to begin her five-day reign at the celebration.

She rerouted a motorcade and stopped it at a Negro elementary school. While gleeful children pressed around, she handed out ball point pens of the festival.

Then she warned them: 'Now, stop pushing or I can't give out any more pens."

Today, Luci was to welcome Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey to the festivities. They were scheduled to arrive in time for his speech at a noon luncheon and were to return to Washington shortly afterward.

Luci is to be crowned Saturday by her father while Mrs. Johnson and daughter Lynda look on.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

1st Day Crowd Triples '64 Date, 158,704 Attended

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging by the first day's events, the 1965 World's Fair has all the elements of a human comedy.

"Some day,' said the fair president, Robert Moses, 'I should like to write about the human comedy as manifested by the fair, but by then I shall be otherwise occupied, tired or gone."

The human comedy was displayed in many ways as the fair began its second year's run through Oct. 17, after six months in mothballs.

There were the celebrities:

— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey being serenaded at luncheon by a trio of roving musicians.

— Sarah Churchill, the late Sir Winston's daughter, walking alone amid the memorabilia of her father in the new Winston Churchill Center.

— Arizona's Vonda Kay Van Dyke — Miss America — brushing the sleep from her eyes as she awaited the signal that would start the fair's inaugural march, and explaining: "I just flew in last night from Japan."

And there were the little people, 158,704 of them paying first-day admision, more than triple the number on opening day last year.

Says GOP Must Be Creative

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits says his Republican party must offer creative programs for the nation and ignore "pessimistic punditry."

Javits, who spoke here Wednesday night at a GOP fund-raising dinner, said it is not true that President Johnson has blocked the political highway so that Republicans have little hope for the future. He said:

"I hope Republicans will not become hypnotized by such pessimistic punditry."

Javits said President Johnson has become obsessed with "consensus-type" government. "This means walking around instead of grappling with the critical problems . . . following public opinion rather than leading it."

Javits said his party should capitalize on the "increasing evidence of confused administration's anti-poverty program.

Wrestler Short-Changed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Police Chief Clyde Adair was watching a local wrestling match on television and saw a possible crime committed.

The show featured Mario Galento who had won his match when a spectator climbed into the ring. The newcomer was Billy Boy Hines, also a wrestler.

The chief said Galento swung at Hines, hitting him in the face. With the blow, pennies scattered over the ring. Adair ordered an investigation.

Galento was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge for having a roll of pennies in his fist when he hit Hines. He was released on $77 bond pending a trial in Recorder's Court today.

Outdoor Best?

MOSTAR, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mujo Crnalic, now 91, has almost never slept in a house since he was a child. As a young shepherd he became accustomed to sleeping out in the hills with his flock in summer and in the sheep pen in winter. He has been doing it ever since and attributes his good health to never sleeping in stuffy rooms.

Luci Shows LBJ Flair as Queen Of Azalea Fete

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — It became apparent quickly that Luci Baines Johnson would be very much herself in her regal role as queen of the Azalea Festival here.

The 17-year-old younger daughter of the President showed her father's flair for the unexpected shortly after she arived Wednesday to begin her five-day reign at the celebration.

She rerouted a motorcade and stopped it at a Negro elementary school. While gleeful children pressed around, she handed out ball point pens of the festival.

Then she warned them: 'Now, stop pushing or I can't give out any more pens."

Today, Luci was to welcome Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey to the festivities. They were scheduled to arrive in time for his speech at a noon luncheon and were to return to Washington shortly afterward.

Luci is to be crowned Saturday by her father while Mrs. Johnson and daughter Lynda look on.

1st Day Crowd Triples '64 Date, 158,704 Attended

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging by the first day's events, the 1965 World's Fair has all the elements of a human comedy.

"Some day,' said the fair president, Robert Moses, 'I should like to write about the human comedy as manifested by the fair, but by then I shall be otherwise occupied, tired or gone."

The human comedy was displayed in many ways as the fair began its second year's run through Oct. 17, after six months in mothballs.

There were the celebrities:

— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey being serenaded at luncheon by a trio of roving musicians.

— Sarah Churchill, the late Sir Winston's daughter, walking alone amid the memorabilia of her father in the new Winston Churchill Center.

— Arizona's Vonda Kay Van Dyke — Miss America — brushing the sleep from her eyes as she awaited the signal that would start the fair's inaugural march, and explaining: "I just flew in last night from Japan."

And there were the little people, 158,704 of them paying first-day admision, more than triple the number on opening day last year.

Says GOP Must Be Creative

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Sen. Jacob K. Javits says his Republican party must offer creative programs for the nation and ignore "pessimistic punditry."

Javits, who spoke here Wednesday night at a GOP fund-raising dinner, said it is not true that President Johnson has blocked the political highway so that Republicans have little hope for the future. He said:

"I hope Republicans will not become hypnotized by such pessimistic punditry."

Javits said President Johnson has become obsessed with "consensus-type" government. "This means walking around instead of grappling with the critical problems . . . following public opinion rather than leading it."

Javits said his party should capitalize on the "increasing evidence of confused administration's anti-poverty program.

Wrestler Short-Changed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Police Chief Clyde Adair was watching a local wrestling match on television and saw a possible crime committed.

The show featured Mario Galento who had won his match when a spectator climbed into the ring. The newcomer was Billy Boy Hines, also a wrestler.

The chief said Galento swung at Hines, hitting him in the face. With the blow, pennies scattered over the ring. Adair ordered an investigation.

Galento was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge for having a roll of pennies in his fist when he hit Hines. He was released on $77 bond pending a trial in Recorder's Court today.

March Looms for Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Negotiations have broken down in attempts to arrange talks between Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the school committee as the city prepares for a civil rights march of an anticipated 25,000 persons.

And end to slum housing and racial imbalance in schools are the goals of the march.

Dr. King arrives today and will be greeted at the State House by Gov. John A. Volpe.

Dr. King, a leader of the national civil rights movement and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, also planned a tour of housing and schools in the predominantly Negro Roxbury section and an address before the legislature.

Hubert Cautions Against Dropping Leadership Role

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the United States should not drop the torch if international leadership.

In an addres prepared for the International Azalea Festival, the vice president defended the Johnson administration's internationalism this way: "We hear many voices these days saying that America is overextended in the world — that other people's problems needn't be our problems — that we ought to close up shop overseas and enjoy our blessings here in the good old U.S.A.

'My friends, when that time comes, this nation is doomed. Who in the world will work for democracy if we do not? Who in the world can preserve the peace if we do not? Who in the world can set the example, can offer the needed hand, if we do not?"

An old British joke tells of the peer who dreamed he was delivering a speech in the House of Lords and woke to discover that indeed he was.

Turner also advised that as required by law the consents of Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, Ulster County Republican chairman, and Saugerties Town Chairman Peter Williams, were obtained before the incorporation of the club and that no other political club can now legally use the name Republican except, of course, the Town of Saugerties Republican Committee which is composed of election district Republican committeemen.

Lists Leaders

Turner states that the Incorporated Republican Club includes in its membership Town Supervisor Williams, a trustee, all four town councilmen, Superintendent of Highways William Brown and such longtime Republican stalwarts as Henry Lamouree, a club trustee, William Woestendiek, Andrew Vozdik, a club trustee, and many others including a majority of the Republican Committeemen.

He advises that the dissident group is composed of party control seekers who wish to topple the entire Peter Williams organization including such longtime Republican committeemen as Robert A. Snyder.

The rebel group have supposedly called a meeting (tonight) to be held at the VFW Hall, their first venture open to the public eye, billing themselves as regular Republicans against Republicans Inc. Turner suggests that if the local Republicans wish to see for themselves the leadership of the rebel Republicans they should attend that meeting if and when it is announced.

"I am convinced" he continues, "that after attending the meeting loyal Republicans will realize that the membership of this dissident group is composed of rebels not regular Republicans nor are they interested in Republican unity, but merely in a power grab to control the township including determination over the vital problem of who pays for new roads in subdivisions, the public or the developers."

Meeting May 20

The regular Town of Saugerties Republican Club, Inc., today announced plans for a May meeting to be held at Blue Stone Lodge, Quarryville at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 20. Turner advises that this is one of the regular meetings scheduled in each election district of the township, but that in addition in May the club will sponsor a spring dinner dance at the Flamingo Restaurant, Rt. 9W in Saugerties on Saturday evening May 8.

Turner also states that the primary purpose of the Republican Club is to bring the voters closer to their elected Republican officials, through monthly meetings and social events.

Hubert Cautions Against Dropping Leadership Role

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today the United States should not drop the torch if international leadership.

In an addres prepared for the International Azalea Festival, the vice president defended the Johnson administration's internationalism this way: "We hear many voices these days saying that America is overextended in the world — that other people's problems needn't be our problems — that we ought to close up shop overseas and enjoy our blessings here in the good old U.S.A.

'My friends, when that time comes, this nation is doomed. Who in the world will work for democracy if we do not? Who in the world can preserve the peace if we do not? Who in the world can set the example, can offer the needed hand, if we do not?"

An old British joke tells of the peer who dreamed he was delivering a speech in the House of Lords and woke to discover that indeed he was.
